DOWN THE CORRIDOR OF TIME

Some Interesting Observations of Old Time Auburndale by Mrs. H. R. Turner

About a month ago, as I was passing along Auburn street, near the railroad bridge, I noticed some old brush was being cleared up on a vacant lot next to the livery stable.

As I looked down into the lot I discovered the remains of an old road or lane. It was about twenty feet wide and walled up on both sides with a low bank wall. It showed the hand of man and it must have been built for some purpose, and I looked about to see what it could be.

One end of it was up against the high wall of the bridge, where the road begins to rise, and the other was walled up by the railroad masonry.

Upon looking at this stone work, I found that there was a space about the same width as the little road which was built in a different manner from the rest, and this convinced me that the road must have gone beyond this wall, at some time. Could this be a relic of the time when the railroad was not in Auburndale, when there was no Auburn street bridge, and when all the roads in the vicinity were upon the same grade as my little road?

Auburn street must have been as low as this little road at some time and this road branched off from it or may have been a part of it.

As it lies now it is at an angle of about 45 degrees from the main road, and must have led to some house on the other side of the track. Upon inquiry I find that there was here for many years, a large house which was called the Old Washburn House which was one of the original first houses. It was much injured by the railroad which almost touched its doors and was removed about thirty years ago. It is placed farther back from the railroad was built what is called the New Washburn House which is still standing and which must have been a very good house in its day, having the long French windows and generous building materials which are characteristic of several houses built in the same design and at about the same time, and which are still standing in Auburn.

If the railroad came through in 1845, the New Washburn House was probably built soon after, and the little road was made impassable.

With the lowering of the tracks and the building of the Auburn street bridge, this solid bank wall was put in, and so the road disappeared.

It is not more than 30 years since the railroad was on a level with the highways. When I came to live here the new Richardson station was just building and the old depot was still in use. It was located near the foot of Hancock street and it was the same building now standing in the triangle of Auburn and Ash streets.

There was no fence on the Auburn street side and we could and did pass freely across the tracks to the Post Office from the railroad station.

There was a platform along the railroad on the Auburn street side and if we wanted to take a train towards Riverside we had to be on that side of the track when the train came, and passengers from Boston usually left the cars on that side, although not always, and there was the danger.

When the fast express trains came, it was a dangerous thing to do. I remember an incident which gave me a lesson. I was waiting at Newton to take the train for Auburndale and was on the station side. I knew I ought to be on the platform side and saw what I supposed was my train coming down the road. I caught up my little girl and walked hurriedly across the tracks, but I had barely got over when the train rushed by and it was an express! Perhaps I should not have remembered it, but a lady came to me, and said what a dangerous thing I had done, and told me that that was the way Mrs.—, somebody she knew, was killed.

It was such accidents as this which finally obliged the B. & A. to raise their grades and protect their tracks. We thought it a great hardship when we had to go around over the bridge and many were the holes in the fence before the Village Improvement Society installed the tunnel.

I have been told that originally the grade was so steep that a freight car if started at Riverside would continue to roll to Faneuil.

When the road was first built the trains did not stop at Auburndale of course, and the nearest stop would be at Hulls Crossing, Newtonville, and Miss Ware tells me that when on one occasion her uncle came from New York and the train stopped in front of the Poor House here, everybody in town came out to see what was the matter.

This was the home of Mr. Henry Pigeon and had been taken by the town of Newton for a City Farm.

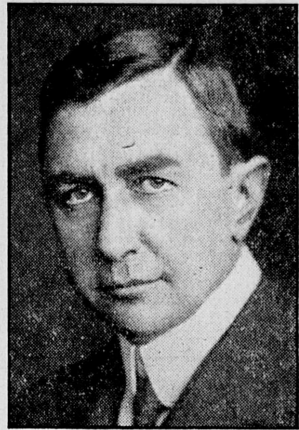

As the railroad had taken a cut thru this farm, Mr. Charles du Marisac Pigeon, son of Mr. Henry Pigeon, considered that it would be well to make this a stopping place for

CHRISTIAN FORUM

Mr. Ivy L. Lee will Speak Sunday Night on the Railroad Question

On next Sunday evening at 7.30 the Christian Forum of Newton will meet in the Eliot Church. The public will be fortunate at this meeting to hear Mr. Ivy L. Lee, one of the country's greatest specialists in Railroad policy and administration, who will speak on "What shall we do with our Railroads?" Mr. Lee's experience makes him a very dependable authority on railroad matters, he having been formerly Assistant General Manager of the Penn. Railroad. The speaker was later General European Manager for Harris Winthrop & Co., brokers, and is at the present time of the Personal Advisory Staff for John D. Rockefeller, and the Bethlehem Steel Co. He is also author of "Human Nature and Railroads," "Memories of Uncle Remus," etc. The purpose of the Forum is to bring to bear the best thinking of the community on the vital issues of the day. The address furnishes the basis of the discussion, and by questions and answers, afterward, the meeting is open to the ideas of everybody present. It should appeal to the good citizenship of our city to loyally support an open Forum of this free and independent nature, through which our opinions on current and important public problems could be set forth. A democracy is only really and ideally such when all the people manifest interest in public affairs. The great importance of the consideration on Sunday evening should appeal to our public spirit.

DAYS IN SPAIN BY ELMENDORF

As the second topic in his new series of intimate travel talks, Dwight Elmendorf will present "Spain and the Moors" at Symphony Hall next Friday evening, with a repetition on Saturday afternoon. Among the places to be visited by Mr. Elmendorf will be San Sebastian, the seaside summer capital; Burgos, with its world-famed Gothic cathedral; Avila, with its eighty-six defensive towers and bastions and its twelve well-guarded gates; Segovia, a mediaeval city of a hundred levels; Madrid, Paris-like, and repository of priceless art treasures; Cordova, almost depopulated, but still alive with Moorish architectural memories; Toledo, the picturesque ghost of Spain's former capital; and Seville, so closely associated with some of the imperishable names of history.

YOUNG MUSICIANS CLUB

The Young Musicians Club opened its season on Saturday afternoon with a meeting at the home of Miss Helen Douglas, 84 Bowers street, Newtonville.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Miss Gertrude Barry, president; Miss Veda Leonard and Miss Marion Maxim, vice-presidents; Miss Elsa G. Haase, secretary; and Herbert Stevens, treasurer.

A well rendered program was given by the following members: Katherine Sheldon, Esther Stiles, Marion Sumner, Dorothy L. Filene, Gertrude Davis, Marion Burgess, Eleanor Tracy, Jennette Martin, Eleanor Martin, Elsa G. Haase, and Miss Hazel Cunningham.

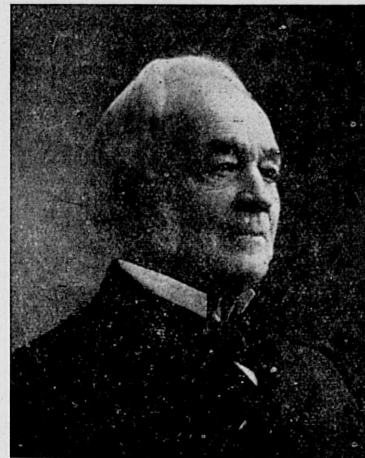

The music was greatly enjoyed by the members and friends present, and was followed by a social hour in charge of Eleanor Richmond, Marion Maxim and Veda Leonard.

100 YEARS OLD

Captain C. E. Ranlett Will Pass Century Mark on Nov. 9

Captain Charles Everett Ranlett, a resident of Auburndale for the past fifty years and one of the most respected residents of the city, will observe his 100th birthday next Thursday. While Captain Ranlett is confined to his room by physical infirmities, his mental faculties are unimpaired and he takes a deep interest in everyday affairs.

He was born November 9, 1816 at Montville, Maine, and went to sea at an early age, being employed in the coasting trade. At about the age of twenty-five, he took command of the bark "Alabama" and in her and his next command, the fine clipper ship "Kentucky," was engaged in trade between New York, New Orleans, and European ports. In 1847 he became captain of the bark "Miltades," in which, during the Irish famine, he made voyages to Limerick, Odessa, and Antwerp. In 1850 in the ship "Ionian," he made the voyage to San Francisco, and was there at the time of the great fire of 1851. In this ship and in the ship "Oracle," he made several voyages to India, China, and Australia. In 1860, in a schooner "Nautilus," he made a scientific expedition to Labrador and Greenland, and in 1864 and 1865 in the bark "Sunbeam" made a voyage to Australia, Peru, Ireland, and Spain, taking with him his whole family. His last command was the bark "Asterias."

Between these voyages he was a resident of Thomaston, Maine, and in 1863 was representative from that town in the Maine Legislature. He removed to Auburndale in 1866. In the years 1871-1872 he was one of the selectmen of Newton, and was one of the City's representatives in the General Court in the years 1877-1878-1879. He is a member of the Auburndale Congregational Church and of the New England Historical and Genealogical Society.

Captain Ranlett was twice married, his first wife being Elizabeth Bond Stearns and the second, Ann M. Jordan.

A ROYAL WELCOME

Company C. Dined and Praised by Hundreds of Newton Citizens

The officers and men of Company C, Fifth Massachusetts Infantry, National Guard received a welcome last Tuesday night which should warm the cockles of their several hearts, for there was a turnout of hundreds of our best citizens, who showed by their presence that Newton was glad to honor the men who had shown their willingness, if need be, to do their full duty to their country.

The state armory at West Newton where the banquet was held was elaborately and most beautifully decorated fronds. He said in part that Newton was always ready to honor her soldiers, living or dead. That its citizens were proud of Co. C and tendered their gratitude and greeting at this celebration of their victories of patriotism and sacrifice. None of us are fond of war, few would ever advocate war, and yet what it meant war. Our soldiers gave us the comforts of peace for the rigors and privations of military life. It meant sacrifice and you deserve just as much credit as if you had met the enemy on the field of battle. You should be congratulated on your splendid service and your conduct under canvas and in the field, as your record for discipline and deportment in strange places is all that could be desired.

You have come back more than soldiers, you are men. The best way our citizens can repay you is by standing strongly by Co. C with that loyal support which has been sadly lacking but which you have demonstrated you are well deserve.

Congressman Carter spoke strongly of the necessity of proper equipment for the army, saying that it was absolutely necessary that the men should be well shod, well clothed and well fed. He said that the army should be given the same pay as the men could earn at home so that a man would not sacrifice two-thirds of his income in order to be a soldier.

Adj. General Pearson said that the number of men who are willing to offer their lives for their country is small, but he was proud of the Massachusetts National Guard, and said that the Fifth Regiment and Co. C had maintained the best traditions of the Commonwealth at home and abroad. He believed the regular army too small for effective work and it is absurd to ask men to serve in the army for $15 per month, and that it would be impossible to raise an army of 250,000 at the present rate of pay which was 4 cents an hour for a 12-hour day. There were three alternatives, either give up the army, give adequate pay and have compulsory service.

Col. Stover was received with three cheers and said that the spirit which animated the boys of '61, those of '98 and of '16 was the same and he was proud of the fact that Massachusetts was the first state in 1916 as it was in '61 and '98 to send competent troops to the front as it was a tribute to the

SAMUEL W. McCALL

EDITORIAL

Residents of this city will require but little urging to vote for Mr. Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate for President. There is a very prevalent opinion here that the vacillating attitude of President Wilson, together with his lack of business knowledge, are a menace to the prosperity and dignity of the United States. Newton voters will be glad to register their condemnation of the administration of our national government during the past four years.

There is also no question of the feeling of this community towards the re-election of Governor McCall and the entire Republican state ticket. Mr. McCall has served the Commonwealth with fidelity and ability and will undoubtedly receive a substantial majority next Tuesday.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, will, however, receive the largest vote on the entire ticket. He has the hearty respect of every citizen of the Commonwealth and it is universally recognized that he is one of the ablest men in public life in the country. Newton will give him a flattering vote—and a vote that he richly deserves.

If the usual custom is followed next Tuesday there will be fully half of our voters who will refuse or neglect to indicate their opinion on the various questions which are submitted to the people for action. Every citizen owes a duty to the Commonwealth to study the questions to be decided and to make up his mind one way or the other. If, however, any voter is unable to come to a definite decision, he owes it to the state as well as to himself to vote "No" on every such matter. The man who fails to mark his ballot on the questions is neglecting his duty as a citizen for it is his duty to keep conditions as they are, if he is not convinced that a change is desirable. Vote "No" as a matter of principle, unless you have good reasons for voting "YES".

We have at various times discussed the five questions which will be on the state ballot next Tuesday, and as a final word suggest that the following action should be taken:

Vote NO on the constitutional convention.
Vote NO on New Year's Day.
Vote YES on party enrollment.
Vote NO on agricultural schools.
Vote YES on preferential voting.

The welcome given the officers and men of Company C at the state army Tuesday night was genuine and enthusiastic. Let us hope that the lesson of "Preparedness" which is apparent in the history of the Company for the past few months will not be lost on the community.

Beware of any eleven hour statements made for political effect.

GOOD GOVERNMENT CLUB

At a meeting of the Good Government Club of Auburndale, held November 2, 1916, after discussion, an expression of opinion on the matters to come before the voters on referendum resulted as follows:

Holding a Constitutional Convention—majority opposed.
Making New Year's Day a legal holiday—unanimously opposed.

Requiring party enrollment for voting in primaries—bare majority favored.

Authorizing schools of agriculture, etc.—small majority favored.
Authorizing preferential voting in Newton—unanimously favored.

CHARLES W. BLOOD, Secretary,
31 Woodbine St., Auburndale.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic: It is to be hoped that every voter will mark "X" against "No" on Tuesday's ballot for a constitutional convention.

Who is behind the movement? The initiative and referendum people are the only organized force supporting it. But they are whipped already, because, as one of their own men says, they were asleep at the switch when the bill for a convention was put through. They are cat's paw for somebody.

Is it a secret drive for an elective judiciary, with recall? The state does not want it.

Is it a cover for the anti-sectarian amendment, whose chief spokesman has said that they would get it by a constitutional convention if not by the legislature?

Is it a scheme of the interests and the politicians to rob the people of political power by biennial state elections, which the people in 1896 rejected by 50,000 majority?

No constitutional convention can be a deliberative body, devoted solely to the public welfare. It will be a clash of fighting forces where the weaker and the least organized will be trodden down.

Who wants it? The Republicans carefully omitted endorsement. The Democrats declared for submission of separate amendments only, which the supreme court holds to be unconstitutional, but submission must be of the constitution as a whole. New York's vote shows the probability that any constitution submitted as a whole will be snowed under. We have today the best possible method of amendment to get careful consideration. Why risk what we have and put a heavy load on the taxpayers?

R. L. BRIDGMAN,
Auburndale, Nov. 2.

THE ALLIES RELIEF

During the month of October the Newton South Allies Relief Association has sent twelve cases of goods to the British soldiers. These cases contain 184 Christmas bags, besides 35 pairs of socks, 18 pairs of hospital socks, 18 sweaters, 98 comfort pillows. To the hospitals in France have been sent 9580 surgical dressings and 29,000 yards of bandages.

On Thursday, November 9th the Association will celebrate its first anniversary and a Birthday Tea will be held at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Smith, 91 Summer street, Newton Centre.

One room will be devoted to a display of the different kinds of work done by the Association. It is expected that the guests will drop a silver coin into a basket in order to help the Association continue its relief work. Grace Ball Williams, secretary, 7 Norman road, Newton Highlands.

MUSICAL

Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Liggett entertained a company of guests at an informal musical on Sunday afternoon at their residence on Hammond street, Chestnut Hill.

The music room and reception rooms were decorated most effectively with a profusion of various colored chrysanthemums from the Liggett conservatories and the guests enjoyed a very delightful program by Mrs. Simmons of Salem, who is a wonderfully gifted violinist and well known in professional circles. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ely of Norwich, Conn.

A buffet supper was served and Miss Janice Liggett the daughter of the host and hostess poured, and was assisted by Miss Pauline Andrews.

About forty guests of social prominence were present from Boston, Brookline and Chestnut Hill.

WHIST PARTY

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Universalist Church gave a very successful whist party Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Allen D. Cady on Clyde street, Newtonville. Seven tables were arranged and the game was auction bridge, and straight whist. The first prize in Auction bridge was won by Mrs. William F. Kimball, and among the other ladies who took prizes were Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Harry D. Cabot and Mrs. Walter J. Allen.

At the close of the game, refreshments were served in the dining-room which was attractively decorated in yellow, and on the table yellow chrysanthemums were arranged in a large centre piece.

—The first in a series of entertainments under the auspices of the Auburndale Village Improvement Association was held Monday evening in Norumbega Hall.

Newton Highlands

—"Man's Ways of Finding Out God's Plans" will be the subject of the Cline Memorial M. E. Church pastor next Sabbath morning at 10:45. In the evening at seven o'clock there will be a reception of new members and a communion service. Sunday School at 12 M. Neighborhood prayer meeting Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Fairchild, Erie avenue, and Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Jackson, 77 Hartford street. Members of the Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Richard Wright, Tuesday evening, Nov. 7. Be sure to bring that $1.00 you earned during October. Don't miss hearing Mr. A. L. Saunders, Billy Sunday's most noted convert, in the Auditorium of M. E. Church, Friday evening, Nov. 10, at 7:45. Praying taken.

Vote YES on the Preferential Ballot

We, the undersigned, urge all voters of Newton to vote YES on the Preferential Ballot act on November 7th.

It gives the voter a better chance to express his will.

It simplifies elections.

It saves one election day and one campaign.

It will save Newton $1000 annually.

It is entirely easy to use, almost "fool proof."

It makes easier the securing of high-grade candidates.

It tends to fewer personalities and less mud-slinging.

It is working successfully in many American cities, and not one has adopted this method and then voluntarily given it up.

A YES vote on this Act was recommended before the Civic Club of Newton by Senator George H. Ellis and by Representatives J. Weston Allen and Thomas Weston, Jr.

After the discussion the Club voted in favor of it by 19 to 8.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

The Score Club celebrated its Silver Anniversary on Tuesday at the Boston Women's City Club, on Beacon Hill.

Luncheon was served at twelve o'clock to about thirty members. The table was beautifully decorated in green and white, and each guest was presented with a silver souvenir, and an attractive folding card listing the names of those present.

This interesting organization is a Bridge Club composed of society ladies mostly from West Newton. It has a membership of about forty, and there were about sixteen of the original members present at the luncheon.

At the close of the luncheon the guests repaired to the Copley Theatre to witness the performance of the Henry Jewett Players, in "Jim the Penman."

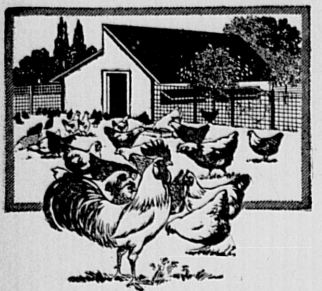

SHERMAN ESTATE SOLD

John T. Burns and Sons, Inc., of Newton, report the sale of the Sherman Estate situated at 518 Walnut street, cor. of Mill street, Newtonville. J. Sumner Draper was the grantor and Mr. James W. Rand purchases for immediate occupancy. The house contains 15 rooms and five tiled bath rooms and is one of the most pretentious properties on the Walnut Street Boulevard. There is over one acre of ground all valued at $40,000 but assessed for $23,500.

Through the office of John T. Burns and Sons, the estate at 33 Somerset road, West Newton Hill has been sold to Mr. P. M. Thayer, who will occupy. The property consists of a modern nine room house and garage together with 9200 square feet of land. All valued at $9000. Mr. Frank M. Sadler was the grantor.

Mr. H. W. Orr has purchased through John T. Burns and Sons, the corner lot of 3350 square feet of land on Washington street, corner of Bailey place, Newtonville, in the center of the business section of Newtonville. W. H. Ross was the grantor. The said land is valued at $7200.

The nine room house and 15,000 square feet of land situated at 401 Lowell avenue, Newtonville has been sold to Patrick Hickey. Mrs. Agnes D. Barker was the grantor. The property is valued at $3800. John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. were brokers in all of the above transactions.

trains. He obtained six men who wished to go to Boston every day, and this induced the railroad to make a depot here, and in November, 1846, the town voted "to give or sell sufficient land near the Poor House for a railroad depot."

This Melrose street corner has seen many changes. A large open tract, known as the Robinson Farm, including about 200 acres, originally made up this part of the village. Mr. John Pigeon lived in one of the first houses which stood here, and a kind of a road led from the Weston bridge to the Whittemore Tavern and the Old Bourne House, down past the Pigeon House to the Washburn House, and over my little road. There was also a road to the Ware House and to the Seaverns House, and all the rest open space between.

When the town took the Pigeon House and land, they used it as a Town Farm, and it was occupied in this way for many years.

Rev. George Briggs bought the extensive barns and made the largest one into a handsome dwelling and added much to the appearance of the then growing center.

Mr. Chamberlain bought the Pigeon house and moved it over towards Lexington street, and built a very elegant residence on the corner of Melrose and Auburn streets. After many vicissitudes, this gave way to the demands of business and was divided and moved back and the pretty block known as Norumbega Hall was put in its place.

With the growth of the village, the small one room school house which had been used and which stood half way to West Newton on land near the present Church of the Messiah, became inadequate and a two story school house was built on the school grounds at what is now Ash street.

This was later enlarged by a Mansard roof and included a large hall on the third floor. This hall became the more needed after the burning of the Village Hall on Lexington street in July, 1865. The site of this building may still be traced in the small growth of bushes and has never been occupied. The hall had been very useful and had been the centre of all social activities. Each one of the church societies began here, and the early members looked back upon those first services with pleasure.

A short street, called Melrose terrace, runs in back of Auburn street, and was probably the original road, which led from Whittemore's Tavern past the Pigeon house towards the Washburn House, its width and the trees showing its age, and it came out directly past the Village Hall.

GEORGE ADE FOR HUGHES

The following extracts from an article entitled "Look Pleased and Vote for Hughes" written by George Ade will be of interest to many.

This year I am going to vote for Charles Evans Hughes as against Woodrow Wilson for a good many reasons. Four years ago I was a progressive. It is true that my enthusiasm for some of the planks in the Progressive platform was so moderate that I had no trouble in controlling it. I was not scared to death by the proposals made in the platform, as some of our Republican friends seemed to be, but I had my reasonable doubts. I marched with the Progressive party until it became a dwindling minority of bleeding martyrs and I would have continued to march if there had been a probability of our arriving anywhere. I liked my traveling companions and the scenery, but a man cannot continue a journey which offers no terminus.

I believe the first duty of every good citizen this year is to join the movement to change Washington from a word factory to a deed factory.

Finally, I am back in the Republican camp and working for Republican success this year because I believe the Republican party, since its reorganization, has shown a more intelligent and more efficient leadership than the Democratic party to take charge of governmental affairs and direct them sanely and safely.

When a man has just one round of ammunition to shoot he can't afford to stand off on a hillside and shoot in the air. Progressives must realize the fact that this year there are only two contending parties, and every voter must either make a quick choice or retire to the deep woods. This is no time for grieving over what might have been. The thing for every Progressive to do is to look pleased and vote for Hughes.

excellent military policy of the state. He stated that there were four factors for efficiency, first the men, second, equipment, third, training and fourth, organization. Equipment was vital, and we should insist that Congress provide the necessary funds. Some of the men on the border were for weeks with their feet on the ground on account of poor shoes, we should make it our duty to correct that condition. He doubted if service in the regular army would ever be congenial to the American people, altho America is always ready to go to the front in times of trouble. We should insist that Congress should do its duty and then create a sense of the dignity of military service in the community. Col. Stover recalled the excellent military drill in the Newton High School and asked why it was given up. He recommended Capt. Cormerais for the post of military instructor.

Commander Orrin W. Nash received a warm reception and brought the best wishes of the Grand Army of the Republic, and of the 34 members of Charles Ward Post who were present. He urged the younger men present to keep up the observance of Memorial Day after the Civil war veterans were gone.

Commander Walter K. Taylor of the Spanish War Veterans favored compulsory military service. President Blanchard of the board of aldermen extended the appreciation of the city government for what the Company had done. He thought that military drill would certainly be restored in the High School.

Representative J. Weston Allen spoke of the Minute Men of '76, the boys of '61 and the men of 1916 as indicating that it is possible for a democracy to use force in order to maintain itself and believed that unless we can show that our citizen soldiery can be used to protect us, we shall fail as other republics have failed.

Captain Cormerais the last speaker, was given three cheers and a tiger and gave a most interesting and sketchy talk on the work of the Company in its tour of duty during the past four months.

The meeting was closed by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

"IRISH HEARTS"

A production of "Irish Hearts," a sketch in two acts, interspersed with songs and Irish music, and written by James H. Rattigan, will be presented for the first time on any stage at the Newton Opera House, on Sunday, November 12, at 7:45 P. M. The play is being produced for the benefit of the widows and orphans of the men who were killed and imprisoned in the recent uprising in Ireland.

The entertainment is replete with songs and music, and show the Irish Hearts in their strange mixture of song and sorrow. The cast includes besides Mr. Rattigan, who is a singer of note, a male and a mixed quartette; also several soloists of eminence.

Mr. Lyman C. Fisher of the Opera House has very kindly given the use of his theatre for this occasion. King's Orchestra has volunteered their services, and Mr. James H. Rattigan is giving the production.

During the performance the Film Picture of the Funeral of O'Donovan Rossa will be shown, and Mr. William B. Larkin, son of O'Neill Larkin, the Great Irish patriot, will give an address on Ireland and her cause.

Seats are selling fast and the affair promises to be a huge success. The cause is a worthy one and deserves your patronage.

MR. EARLY DEAD

Mr. Philip Austin Early, the son of Alderman and Mrs. Bernard Early of Newton Lower Falls, died Friday in New York after a brief illness from pneumonia. He attended the Newton schools and was graduated in the class of '07 from Dartmouth, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi and Gamma Alpha. Funeral services at St. John's Church were conducted by Rev. Fr. Leo J. Knapp, who also officiated at a requiem high mass on Monday morning. The very beautiful display of floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which he was held by a large circle of friends.

Mr. Early is survived by a widow and two small children.

UPHELD BY THE COURT

(New York Commercial, Oct. 7, 1916)

It would be impossible to attach too much importance to the decision of the Court of Appeals, handed down a few days ago, in the case of Willis Vernon Cole, C. S., who, as readers of this paper will remember, was convicted in 1912 of "illegally practicing medicine" on charges made by women detectives of the County Medical Society.

Although this paper has no Christian Science affiliations, it was pointed out in these columns at the time that Mr. Cole's conviction involved a serious attack upon the religious liberty which is one of the chief foundation stones of this Republic, and that it would be well if the question could be properly gone into by a higher court. It is most gratifying, therefore, to be able to record the fact that the Court of Appeals has reversed the conviction in the lower court, and has ordered a new trial. Whether the County Medical Society, or the prosecuting officials, will think it wise to risk another defeat is problematical, for it would seem to be a foregone conclusion that the result would only be a still more complete vindication for Christian Science.

Mr. Cole, long a man of most distinguished standing as sculptor and poet, stands before the world today completely justified and any further attack upon him would savor of nothing but religious persecution.

It is distinctly held by the Court of Appeals that, while the practice of healing by Christian Scientists does come within the definition of medical practice, the statute expressly exempts those who in the treatment of bodily ills follow out the tenets of any religion. Christian Science practitioners are protected by the exemption according to the decision.

Mr. Cole has made a formal statement in regard to the matter which is well worthy the attention of intelligent men and women everywhere, as follows:

"In rendering this decision the Court of Appeals has struck a note of equity and given a fair deal to Christianity. The great Empire State refuses to make her sons and daughters criminals for walking in the footsteps of Jesus Christ. The command of the Master to heal the sick and preach the Gospel to every living creature cannot be annulled. I feel that this is a victory for the elemental principles of liberty, and that ultimately doctors as well as Christian Scientists will benefit by it. After all, we are not brethren?"

HALLOWEEN PARTY

A Halloween Party was given Monday evening, October 30th in the Waterford Associates Hall in the Nantuxum Building, that was a success from every angle. Pitt F. Parker, the celebrated crayon artist furnished a troupe of lady singers for the entertainment that pleased the crowd immensely. The Hall was full to the doors; all seats were filled and many were obliged to stand. When one foot got tired they rested themselves by standing on the other. Ice cream and cake was furnished liberally to all, thus giving the standers a chance to use all their faculties, hands, feet and ears in particular. Pitt Parker made a speech that kept the people laughing at his witicism and all went home smiling as a new day was gliding in over the door sill. The affair was ably handled by Mrs. O. F. Black of Jefferson street, Miss Margaret Whalen and Miss Iva Pingree of Avon place. The proceeds of the entertainment were handed over to the American Fund for French Wounded to be used by them to buy articles needed by the French Hospitals.

MOTHERS' REST

The latest development in the plans for the Department Store to be opened by the Finance Committee of the Mothers' Rest Association in the Bray Halls, Newton Centre on November 23rd and 24th, is the art exhibition. This will be an art event. Several artists of note whose names are well known, will exhibit their work and every painting will be for sale. This is not a loan exhibit, but a sale of works of art, paintings, "arts and crafts" objects and antiques never before exhibited. A unique opportunity for art lovers.

On the evening of November 23rd, a dance will be given in the small hall under the entire management of Miss Elsie Harrington. The evening of the 24th will be given to an entertainment with a fine program, which will be announced later.

A newspaper giving all the details of every department of the store will be sold all over Newton a week before the opening.

Ladies should remember the millinery department, in charge of Mrs. Conant-Brown.

BANJO, Mandolin, Guitar, private lessons. FRED MARTIN, 128 Berkeley Street, Boston; Instruments, Advt.

CASTLE SQ. THEATRE — "The Daughter of Mother Machree," the latest Edward E. Rose play in four acts, will be acted at the Castle Square next week. It has met with wide approval wherever it has appeared, and it deals with the adventures of a pretty Irish-American miss forced to fight against odds for the future that is rightfully hers. The chief character is a most lovable little East Side girl known as Sally O'Brien and she will be acted by Miss Mae Desmond. An effective company will support her.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

On Sunday November 5, the Library and its Branches with the exception of Waban, will open on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 6 P. M. until the first of May. This is especially for the benefit of those who cannot come on other days and it is hoped that these people will take advantage of their privilege of borrowing books as well as enjoying the many magazines to be found in the reading-rooms.

The photographic exhibit which is now being shown at the Main Library is loaned by the department of Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture under the direct charge of the Educational Cooperation. The exhibition includes most interesting pictures of lumbering, placement of the forests, commercial products of the forest, forests and the water supply, enemies of the forest, forest types, and how the national forests are administered. It is suggested that the children who have been studying trees in school should see these pictures before they are taken away at the end of two weeks.

Captain Ian Hay Beina, author of "The First Hundred Thousand," is now in this country.

Mr. William J. Locke, whose new novel, "The Wonderful Year," was issued this month, has just returned to England from the Somme.

During the year the Library has added one hundred and two volumes of philosophy and religion.

During the summer months the Library purchased an automobile to be used in its delivery service. This is already probably a familiar sight in the streets of Newton. With it the Library hopes to serve its patrons.

—that is, everybody in the city—with even greater promptness than heretofore.

About a month ago the Nonantum Branch Library placed in its windows books and placards, typifying service the Library stands ready to render.

The Library has lately received many gifts of many books from many people and also the $5000 from the estate of Miss Mary Shannon. This may be small in comparison with the million and a half just given to the Providence Library but it is very welcome to Newton.

In addition a marble bust of Mr. Edwin B. Haskell has been received. This is on a beautifully carved wooden pedestal, and is the work of the sculptor Launt Thompson. According to the New International Encyclopedia, Mr. Thompson was born in Ireland but came to America in 1847.

In 1858 he opened a studio in New York City, where he was first brought into public notice by his exquisite medallion heads. Later he executed some striking portrait busts and statues. Among his works are a portrait bust of William Cullen Bryant (Metropolitan Museum), a colossal statue of Napoleon (Metropolitan Museum), Winfield Scott (Soldiers' Home, Washington), and one of Abraham Pierson, first president of Yale College. The bust of Mr. Haskell was made in Italy in 1878. Mr. Haskell was for many years the president of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library. Mrs. Haskell presented the bust in memory of her husband.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Great preparations are being made by the members of the Women's Auxiliary for the "House Beautiful" bazaar to be held at the Y. M. C. A., Church street, Newton, Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon and evening of this week.

The various rooms of a house will be represented and the furniture from the Fox Furniture Company, Watertown, will be for sale, as well as the large assortment of useful and beautiful Christmas gifts which will be displayed.

Mrs. C. D. Kepner is chairman of the Executive Committee and is assisted by Mrs. L. U. Townsend and Miss Emma Page.

The Pop Concert is under the direction of Mrs. Franklin W. Ganse. Miss Marjorie Holmes and Miss Martha Gifford are arranging the program.

The different rooms are in charge of various committees, with the following chairmen:

Miss Josephine French, Kitchen; Mrs. E. M. Horne, Dining Room; Mrs. W. H. Capen, Living Room; Mrs. E. I. Leeds, Nursery; Mrs. E. A. Jones, Sun Parlor; Miss Martha Lathe, Chamber.

Miss Florence Bacon and Miss Henry have charge of the candy and flowers.

Mrs. E. E. Forsythe is arranging for the food sale Saturday, and Mrs. Kepner is planning for the supper, which will be served Saturday from 5.30 until 7 o'clock.

The decorations are under the direction of Mrs. Sydney Smith and her committee.

The bread served at the supper and with the afternoon tea will be made of Wingold Flour, furnished by Mr. Stockwell, the agent for it.

There will be many special attractions for young and old, including the display and sale of Mexican baskets, the exhibition and sale of paintings by Mr. Daniels, instructor of drawing at the Newton High School, the Pop Concert, afternoon tea, entertainment for the children, etc.

This bazaar should prove a wonderful opportunity for those who enjoy doing their Christmas shopping early and under pleasant conditions. Everything for sale will be fresh, attractive and moderately priced.

BEAUTIFUL NEWTON

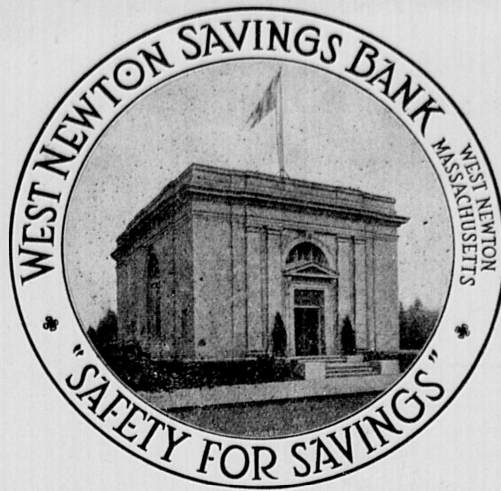

Beautiful Newton, a subscription book on which the GRAPHIC has been at work for several years has just come from the bindery and is now being distributed to the persons who have subscribed for it.

The volume contains 316 pages and is beautifully printed and illustrated. There are articles on the history of the city, the city government, the schools, the library, the hospital, a brief history of every church, the Grand Army, the secret societies, the clubs, while more than half the book is devoted to sketches, portraits and residences of the notable men of the city.

The book is attractively bound in green and gold.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

A candy sale and dance, arranged by Miss Doonan of the English Department, was held in the school library on Wednesday afternoon, October 27.

At the regular Senior Assembly last Friday morning, the speaker was Ex-Senator Ellis, who is the present owner of the Wauwinet Farm. Mr. Ellis delivered a very interesting address, taking for his subject: "Boyhood of Fifty Years Ago As Compared with Boyhood of Today."

Both the School Orchestra and the Girls' Glee Club are now under way, and are receiving enthusiastic support from the school. Mr. Harrington, the director, called a meeting of the piano candidates in the hall Thursday afternoon.

After Death What?

DOES death end all, or is it but the beginning of a fuller existence?

Where is Heaven and what is it like? Does Hell exist here, or is it a horror of the hereafter?

How do you answer questions like these that crowd into your thoughts? How would you like to know on what authority some of the leading thinkers base their beliefs?

Write for a sample copy of this attractively bound book, "The Spiritual World," which we will send gratis upon receipt of 3 two-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing, etc. You will find it abundantly worth reading.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Newton Federation

Next Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 8, has been arranged as a gala day for the Newton Federation. Since this is the twenty-first year of the Federation, this meeting will be in the nature of a birthday celebration. Temple Hall, Newtonville, has been selected as the place, recalling as it does several successful receptions given there by the Federation in its earlier years. The present officers, together with the former presidents, will greet the guests at two-thirty, after which will come the formal program, when the oft-repeated question, "Why a Federation?" will be answered by three prominent women, Mrs. B. E. Taylor, speaking for the Newton Federation, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, the new president, speaking for the State Federation, and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, for the General Federation. His Honor, Mayor Childs will give a greeting, and the Newton Centre Woman's Club chorus, Mrs. Marie Kaula Stone, leader, will render appropriate music. A social hour with refreshments will follow when friends from all over the city will have a chance to meet one another. In order to make the affair more social the women are asked to wear their personal cards with names of the club and these cards or the club membership ticket will be necessary for admission. Officers and members of the executive board of the State Federation, representatives from the city federations at Quincy, Lynn, Boston, Somerville and from neighboring clubs have been invited, so that the affair promises to be the social occasion of the year in the club life of the city.

Local Announcements

Tomorrow afternoon the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will meet with Miss Mary L. Sweeney.

On Monday, Nov. 6, all the clubs of Newton Highlands will unite in Union Club Day at the Congregational Church. Miss Heloise E. Hersey will speak on, "What of Recent Poetry?"

The Waban Woman's Club opens its season next Monday, November 6, at the Union church vestry with an illustrated lecture on "Argentina" by Charles Wellington Furlong.

Mrs. Joseph Eddy of Fairfax street, West Newton, will be the hostess for the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club on Nov. 6, at 3 o'clock.

It is earnestly requested that every member of the Newtonville Woman's Guild who cannot be present at the first meeting on Tuesday next, Nov. 7th, will send in her donations for the Housing Fund either to the Guild that day or before then to Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, 43 Grove Hill avenue, Newtonville.

The next meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club will be held on November 7th in the Congregational chapel. Mr. Huger Elliott, supervisor of Educational work at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, will speak on "Treasures of the Art Museum." The lecture will be illustrated by the stereopticon.

Dr. George Nasmyth will address the Social Science Club at its meeting next Wednesday morning on "America's Future Policy." Guests may be invited.

On Thursday, Nov. 9, at 10 A. M., Dr. Leon H. Vincent is announced to speak before the Newton Centre Woman's Club on "Lowell as Critic, Letter-Writer and American."

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet at Players' Small Hall on Nov. 10. Mr. Philip Davis of Boston will give the address, the program being in charge of the Civic committee, Mrs. Charles E. Conant, chairman.

The club will hold a sale and supper on Nov. 21st, opening at eleven in the morning and closing at ten in the evening. Supper will be served at seven o'clock.

NEWTON CENTRE WOMAN'S CLUB

On Thursday, November 2nd, Mrs. W. C. Crawford gave the first of her course of lectures on "Current Events." These lectures are held in the chapel of the First Baptist Church and are full of interest in these thrilling times when "history is in the making."

Several columns of news for this page have been crowded over until our next issue.

Mrs. Alvin Henry Clifford, President and the officers of the Newton Woman's Club gave a reception to members and their friends at Mrs. Clifford's home on Centre street, Newton, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Clifford was assisted in receiving by Mrs. H. A. Young, Mrs. Arthur Briggs, Miss Ruddick, Mrs. F. B. Jenkins and Mrs. Frederick Graves. The ushers were Mrs. Paul Clifford, Mrs. De Witt Tompkins, Miss Tolman. The pourers were Mrs. Wm. P. Ellison, Mrs. Louis Stanton, Mrs. W. G. Miller, Mrs. Francis Hesseline.

Those assisting in the dining room were Mrs. G. F. Tracy, Mrs. Wm. H. Graham, Miss Jarvis, Miss Charlotte L. Baker and Mrs. F. W. McClasky. The decorations were pink roses in the library and reception room, while in the dining room the centre piece of American flags and red and white carnations was most effective.

Floating about through the room were white balloons with decorations of American flags and the inscription, "America First," making a most unique and appropriate decoration.

HALLOWEEN

The "spooks" turned out in large numbers on Tuesday evening and the streets of Newtonville were haunted with phantom forms and spectral figures whose moanings and wailings penetrated the darkness from all quarters. Pedestrians who happened along Lowell avenue in the vicinity of St. John's Church and the Claffin Mansion, must have experienced some of the uncanny sensations which Ichabod Crane felt when he took the midnight ride thru Sleepy Hollow.

Many of the ghostly revellers were wending their way towards the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Kane on Otis Park, where Miss Doris Stephens had made preparations to entertain them.

A big black cat answered the door-bell and Miss Stephens as a ghastly usher, received the guests, and turned them over to her sister, Miss Florence Stephens, who escorted them up stairs thru rooms and corridors dimly lighted by candles, Jack-o'-lanterns and figures. The ghostly visitors were then led down the back stairs and out the back door, and walking around the house entered again thru the front door, where the black cat still kept vigil. They grouped around the open fire place in the living room, where they entertained each other by telling ghost stories.

There was a weirdly enchanting scene upstairs where the modern witch in the form of Pamela Gifford, Miss Evelyn Sheldon, Ruth Gordon, Mary Howard, Virginia Remington and the hostesses, Doris and Florence Stephens.

The usual Halloween games were enjoyed and refreshments were served and prizes were drawn from the "witch's well," a large centre piece on the dining table. Miss Pamela Gifford won the prize for the prettiest costume; Miss Evelyn Sheldon for the funniest costume, and Miss Anna Horton for the "spookiest" costume.

Among the young ladies who joined in the festivities were Harriette Patey, Caroline McLellan, Helen Sheldon, Pamela Gifford, Evelyn Sheldon, Ruth Gordon, Mary Howard, Virginia Remington and the hostesses, Doris and Florence Stephens.

LECTURES FOR WOMEN

The first in a series of lectures to be held in the lecture hall of the Second Church at West Newton will be given next Tuesday afternoon by Mme. Jutta Belle-Ranske.

Mme. Belle-Ranske's subject, "A New Era" as she interprets it, teaches us the first step toward solving the problems of home and the nation. It is generally realized that there is great need of a sound physical basis as a means of expressing the mental and spiritual potentialities of the developing woman, and using Ibsen's types as a basis, Mme. Belle-Ranske shows how modern woman may through physical discipline, reach her highest mental and spiritual development. Her practical explanations of Vibratory Law enforce the great exchange of values so needed today to secure: Endurance, Purpose, and Repose. She interprets the New Era not only in practical talks, but in her personality. She shows through her practice that man can learn through reasonable understanding of Nature's Law to govern his entire being, till he becomes master, not only of himself, but of circumstances.

SUBSCRIPTION DANCE

The biggest social event of the past week for the younger society set was the subscription dance given in Temple Hall, Newtonville by Miss Olga G. Ayer of Newton Highlands. These dancing parties are distinctive as affairs where the young people have just the best times and there is invariably a surplus of "stags."

On Friday evening there was a "line up" of 80 stags standing in the centre of the hall, and so of course there were plenty of partners and the feature of the evening was the number of couples dancing.

Continuous music by John Bond's colored orchestra was a splendid accompaniment and never once during the dance was the floor not well filled. The dancing continued until 12 o'clock and there were 175 guests present from Boston, Brookline, Winchester, Arlington, Belmont, Lexington, Weston, Wayland and the Newtons, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard University were well represented among the men present.

The ushers were Mr. F. E. Fennessey, Jr., Mr. Anson M. Lyons, Jr., Mr. Stearns Poor, Mr. Herbert Harrington, Mr. Mortimer M. Prescott, Mr. Robert K. Randall, Mr. Francis A. Skelton, Mr. Edgar Burhardt and Mr. Harold Whitney.

The matrons were Mrs. Ripley L. Dana, Mrs. Everett W. English, Mrs. Edwin H. Kidder, Mrs. Charles P. Slocum and Mrs. Charles J. Thomas.

Miss Ayer has issued cards for a Christmas Masquerade on Monday evening, December 25th, at eight o'clock in Temple Hall.

HOWELLS-GORE

The wedding of Miss Dorothy Richards Gore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Gore of Auburndale and Mr. Daniel Wightman Howells, of Upper Montclair, N. J., son of Mrs. V. W. Howells, was solemnized on Saturday, October 28, at the bride's residence on Rowe street.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. William C. Gordon, D.D., pastor of the Congregational Church. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a wedding gown of white pussy willow tulle with touches of lace and silver, short skirt and court train, her tulle veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Margery Cox of Melrose Highlands as maid of honor, who was gowning in light blue pattern tulle with silver lace bodice and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Clara Louise Dillaway of Newton Highlands, was the flower girl. She wore a frock of white with blue sash and blue ribbon hair bows and carried a basket of yellow marigolds.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. William Greene Howells of Upper Montclair as groomsmen and the ushers were Mr. Wyman Howells of Upper Montclair and Mr. John Gore of Auburndale.

A reception was held after the ceremony at which only the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom were present. The reception room was attractively decorated with green pine and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Howells will reside for the winter in Philadelphia, Pa.

DR. HUGH CABOT TO SPEAK

On Monday evening, Nov. 20th, at 8 P. M., in the Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, Mass., Dr. Hugh Cabot will give a talk to the members of the Men's Club and their guests on "Personal Experiences With The Allies In France, During The Summer of 1916." All those who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Cabot has just returned from France, after service in the hospitals. He has had unusual opportunities to observe and discuss with prominent persons and officials, various phases of the British Campaign.

THE WOODLAND PARK

A sad event of the week was the death of Mr. William C. Cuntz of Kew Gardens, Long Island, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Cuntz, who were former residents of Boston, came over to visit friends and were registered at the hotel for a few weeks. Mr. Cuntz was apparently in good health until a week ago, when he was taken seriously ill and had since been under the care of a physician. He passed away very suddenly Thursday morning. Mr. Cuntz is survived by his wife, a son and a daughter. His brother, Mr. Herman Cuntz arrived from New York last night, and the remains were taken to Long Island for burial.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The entire school assembled in the hall last Wednesday morning, in order that Mr. Adams might give out very important instructions concerning the new fire drills, which will be held both during the time between classes and while the pupils are in the lunch-room. The regular drill has now been held during all of the six periods, and very satisfactory time has been made by the students in leaving the building.

On Friday afternoon, October 27, about fifty members of the English Club made a very notable trip through the historic portions of Concord. A number of well-known places of literary interest were visited by the students. Making the trip by automobile, the party visited, among other points of note, the Alcott house, the home of Emerson, and Sleepy Hollow Cemetery. Speeches upon various phases of the subject were delivered by Misses Harrington and Cole.

The Junior Class Election was held Monday morning. The following were the officers chosen:

President, Allen Davidson; Vice-President, Miss Florence Mandell; Secretary, Miss Priscilla Clark; Treasurer, Frederick Howell.

The members of the Student Council who were elected by the Junior Class are: Miss Church, Miss MacNamara, Robert Fliske, and Wayland Vaughn.

The officers elected Monday by the Sophomore Class are the following:

President, Sidney Bowen; Vice-President, Miss Elenor Lyon; Secretary, Miss Kathryn Holmes; Treasurer, Walter Lovejoy.

The Sophomore Class also elected Miss Evelyn Morton and Harrison Fairfield to membership in the Student Council.

At the first meeting of the Boys' Debating Club last Monday morning, the following officers were elected: President, William Emery; Vice-President, John Clapp; Secretary-Treasurer, C. C. Macomber.

The officers of the Girls' Debating Club are the following: President, Miss Jean Olmstead; Vice-President, Miss Ruth Cummings; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Mary West.

Up to Wednesday of this week, about two hundred subscriptions to the "Review" had been received. William Ervin, the editor-in-chief, anticipates a successful season for the school paper.

By defeating Wayland Vaughn in the final match last week, George Scott won the boys' fall tennis tournament.

Both the Freshman and the Sophomore football candidates are now holding practice regularly in preparation for the coming interschool contests.

The school football team has now completed its preliminary season and faces the important games of the year. The contests remaining to be played are those against Wellesley, Waltham, Cambridge, Boston Latin, and Brookline. Of these, all except that with Boston Latin will have a very important bearing upon Newton's final standing in Greater Boston football.

Newton's victory over the "strong Technology Freshmen last Friday was well earned. The home eleven was greatly outweighed by the visitors, but downed their stronger opponents by a well-directed use of the forward pass.

Among the best players on the Tech team were Nathan and Hughes, both former Newton stars, as well as Johansen, formerly of Somerville.

Monday afternoon the Newton second team defeated the Natick High School second team by a score of forty to nothing. The work of McGrath and Cannon for the home team was conspicuous.

The first game of the important Quadrangular League series will be played at Clafin Field this afternoon, when the Newton team will oppose Wellesley. The visitors will be represented by a strong combination, but Newton supporters are confident that the Wellesley line will be unable to stop the well-rounded offensive game which Coach Dickinson's team is expected to show.

NEWTON VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

The School Committee has authorized the opening of a general Evening High School class if the registration is sufficient to warrant it.

Applicants must be grammar school graduates or have had training considered equivalent.

THE SECOND CHRISTIAN FORUM

Mr. Ivy L. Lee Gives an Interesting Address on Railroads

At the November meeting of the Christian Forum of Newton held in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Mr. Ivy L. Lee gave an interesting address on "What Shall We Do With Our Railroads?" He said in part as follows:—

"I would like to interest you this evening in the railroad problem that concerns you. I thoroughly believe in the railroad and I am not here to tell you or attempt to tell you that something wrong is really right. What I want to do is to discuss this question from the point of view of the citizen and not as of a railroad manager. I want to show you that we are so governing our railroad question in this country that instead of getting the men we need at the lowest price, we are in great danger of getting what we do not need at high prices. We move toward Government Ownership. We shall have to turn the whole question of what we shall do with our railroads over to the Interstate Commission. They have the power to say how much a railroad shall earn and if they say that certain rates are reasonable rates it means the railroad cannot take any more money than can be obtained in those rates. Therefore as the Interstate Commission can tell the railroad what they shall earn, the railroad is standing at a standstill, because the private investor is afraid to invest his money in it. Last year saw less railroad construction in the United States than in many years since the Civil War. The railroads found it impossible to issue new stock and people are not willing to buy until the railroads are able to issue new stock. The people are willing to take their chances in industrial enterprises but have stopped taking chances in railroad stock. In this part of the country we have a great many railroad facilities, but if you go West you will find that there is only one double track railroad west of the Missouri River and you must go nearly 400 miles before you can get half way across the United States. The future development of this country is going to require a railroad plant four or five times larger than the one we have today and that will require money. The railroad managers want to branch out and develop their property but find it impossible to do so. The railroads continue to do a big business, trains are crowded, all kinds of freight are offered, in fact so much that the railroads cannot handle it all, and yet they are not making money. There are two big reasons, in the first place we demand a very much higher standard of railroading in this country now than when railroads were first built. When railroads were first built the people wanted a railroad no matter what kind of a railroad as long as it would carry the people over the road. Now, people demand new steel bridges instead of wooden ones and steel cars instead of wooden ones. We want drinking cups on the trains and we want a great number of frills and necessities, all of which are desirable, but we do not take account of the fact that these things cost money. People sympathize with a group of railroad employees in their starting a strike, but it does not care what you do as long as you do not do it to them. People do not think of the expense and of the fact that it results in increased wages to the men and of course means a higher standard of operation. In England and other countries when railroads were first established, the railroad people said you cannot have a railroad unless you have a good one. First class passengers have to pay four cents a mile in England while here first class passengers pay two and one-half cents a mile including a Pullman ticket. In 1906 the railroad moved their rates up and down to suit themselves. That may or may not have been a good plan, but since 1906 they do not move their rates down to any extent because they cannot put them up again. In the old days it was customary in times of prosperity to increase the rates. Now they cannot increase the rates in the time of prosperity and the consequence is that they do not reduce them in times of depression. When a man found he could get a contract at a particularly low rate, the railroad would give him a low rate and get his goods to market in time to keep the contract but now it is much different. Now, generally speaking, there are no increases with the basis of earning standard and with the scale of expense steadily mounting up you can see exactly what happens after a time because the more money they spend the higher the rates ought to be and that is why although they have had sufficient in the past nine years they have had to economize. Even in this year of 1916, the greatest year in the history of railroads the increase in earnings amounted to less than 6 per cent on the increased investment necessary to provide facilities in which the money might be earned. When you compare earnings of that sort and realize the heavy expenses you can see that there is not much hope of furthering the railroads. One reason the railroads do not prosper is on account of the system of regulation. One Public Service Commission will pass one law and another will pass one contradicting it. No one has brought it home to the public that if you sympathize with the employees in a demand for more wages and you insist upon steel cars, automatic signals and all those things you will have to pay for them. The public is going to be asked one big thing and that is to have a uniform system of regulation. Our industrial railroads have a railroad of their own moving from one part of their plant to another and have all their own railroads within their own plants and at certain points turn their cars over to the railroad. Beside carrying their

LARGEST VOTE EVER CAST

90 Per Cent. of the Registration and a Clean Sweep for the Republican Ticket in Newton with but One Exception

The largest vote ever cast at any election was polled last Tuesday at the Presidential election for 1916, as 7517 voters went to the polls out of a total registration of 8288, or something over 90 per cent. of the total possible vote. Precinct 2 of ward 2 cast the largest percentage 93 per cent.

Newton gave Hughes and Fairbanks a handsome vote, that for Hughes being 4605 to 2585 for President Wilson, a plurality of 2020. Governor McCall did even better with a total of 4769 to 2243 for Mansfield, a plurality of 2526 while Senator Lodge had 4660 to 2350 for Fitzgerald, a plurality of 2310. All the other Republican candidates on the state and county ticket except for Representatives received large pluralities. For Representatives, Messrs. J. Weston Allen and Thomas Weston, Jr., were re-elected without opposition, while Representative Henry W. Jarvis, running as an independent Democrat and independent Republican defeated the regular Republican candidate J. C. Brimblecom, by a vote of 3299 to 3186, a majority of 113 votes. Mr. Jarvis carried all the Democratic precincts, as there were no regular Democratic candidates, and two of the Republican precincts, and cut heavily into the normal Republican vote in the rest of the City. The combination of Democratic strength with about a third of the Republicans being too much for the usual Republican majority, even at a presidential election.

The five questions on the ballot were all decided in the affirmative, as was to be expected. The city favored a Constitutional convention by a vote of 2965 to 2569, party enrollment by 3666 to 2168, Agricultural schools by 3334 to 2189, preferential voting by 2959 to 2522, while New Years Day had the phenomenal vote of 4477 Yes to 1937 No. A curious feature of the referendum was the fact that on the first four above mentioned, the number of blanks were about the same, practically 2000, while on New Years Day the blanks dropped to 1103, indicating that nearly 900 voters knew their mind on this one issue, while they were either neglectful or indifferent on all the others.

The returns came in slowly as the ballot was cumbersome and hard to count, the last returns, from Precinct 1 of Ward 3, being received by City Clerk Grant about 12.30 Wednesday morning.

The returns for the more important offices are given in full in a table published in this issue, while the following figures show the results for the less important, or uncontested offices.

MILITARY TRAINING AT HIGH SCHOOLS

School Committee Submits Figures to Board of Aldermen and Committee Appointed

The aldermen held a brief meeting on Monday evening with President Blanchard presiding and Aldermen Cole and Early the only members absent.

Routine hearings were held on electric light poles on Warren avenue, Hawthorne avenue, and Highland avenue, and conduits in Hammond street, telephone conduits in Watertown street, on petition of the Saco-Lowell Co. to cross Oak street with a conduit, and on taking land near Laundry brook. The laying out of Hale street under the betterment act was opposed by James McLaughlin and Mrs. Mary E. Jones.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations for various appropriations and an offer of John T. Burns to purchase land of the city on Homer street for $5250.

Petitions were received from D. F. Burke, Boyd street and Curtis Abbott, Clafin place for multiple garages and referred. These petitions were granted—Moses S. Blezian for a pool table, Newtonville, Abram Shrier to transfer junk license to Chapel street, Telephone Co. for attachments, Beaumont avenue and Albemarle road, and to remove poles from Commonwealth avenue, F. W. Webster to move building in Waban, Chas. E. Davis for taxi cabs and from various persons for private garages.

On recommendation of committees, G. M. Bahan was granted a common victualer license in Nonantum square, electric light poles in Page road and Summer street, and Edison and Telephone poles in Nonantum street. Mary E. McDonough was refused a permit for a public garage on Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, and leave to withdraw given on claims of Geo. E. Greene and Geo. H. Jackson. Claims of Mrs. Antonio Annesse, $115.50 and of Patrick Mullivill and John Hunt $175.35 were settled and a minor amendment to the ordinances was adopted. A sewer and water main was ordered in Hobart road extension, a hearing assigned on sewer in Manet road, and leave to withdraw granted on sewer in Commonwealth avenue and on laying out of Bonad, Colbert and Howland roads.

Additional appropriations were granted in the Treasury Dept., Temporary Clerks, $120, Health Dept., Automobile $85, Forestry Dept., Automobile $100, Soldiers Relief $300, Printing Reports $75, tuition in Bristol County Agricultural School $188.57, Charity Dept., Mothers Aid $1000, Forestry Dept., Shade Trees $600, Water Dept. services $2000, and $4420 for work on Playstead road.

The report, leave to withdraw of the Finance committee on the matter of a yearly half holiday for city laborers was opposed by Alderman Murphy and on his motion was referred to the next city government.

The School committee sent in a communication on military training in the High Schools, which was referred to a select committee.

The school committee states that the Superintendent has obtained figures as to the probable number of boys whose parents would wish to have them take military training in case it should be introduced. These figures show that there are 197 boys out of 424 in the Classical High, 54 out of 217 in the Technical High and 117 out of 276 in the Vocational High schools a total of 368 out of 817. The school committee states that these figures do not indicate any insistent demand for military training but they still desire to provide additional physical training and would like the necessary funds for the necessary additional teachers for this work.

Alderman Clement said he had made an investigation of the subject and found that nearly everyone was enthusiastically in favor of military drill. He doubted the accuracy of the figures submitted by the school committee.

The board adjourned at 8.55 P. M.

THE WOODLAND PARK

The Thursday evening dinner dance at the Woodland Park was the most attractive society event of the week, and these delightful affairs are each week gaining in popularity. Walter Johnsons Orchestra (colored) of Boston has been engaged to play for these dances, and last evening's program of bright tuneful melodies was all that could be desired.

The Yale Cross Country Team arrived today and is registered at the Woodland Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas are among the recent arrivals at the hotel. They expect soon to occupy their new home at Newton Centre.

Mr. Methot has been very successful in his business enterprise in England and expects to return to the hotel within a week.

Mr. Paul Ingraham entertained a large party at the Dinner Dance on Thursday evening. His guests included friends from Brookline, Winchester, Boston, Winchendon and the Newtons.

Among recent arrivals at the hotel are Dr. Schofield and the Misses Schofield of Wellesley Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Frost, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Porter of West Newton, Mr. H. H. Matthews and Mr. A. E. Roys of Newton Centre, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hills and Mrs. L. M. James of Wellesley Hills, and Mrs. F. W. Batchelder of Newton.

EDITORIAL

I am grateful to the Republicans of this city who gave me their support last Tuesday, and I wish to express my sincere appreciation of my friends, who, in spite of garbled and distorted statements of what I had done and what I had said, still retained their confidence in me.

J. C. Brimblecom.

The city government would act wisely, in the present condition of the labor market, in giving careful consideration to the request of the city laborers for a Saturday half holiday throughout the year instead of four months, as at present. The tendency of the times towards making the conditions of labor more endurable, together with the higher wages paid by outside contractors will inevitably take the most desirable men from the city employ and destroy the present efficient organization which Street Commissioner Stuart has built up, unless something is done in the near future along this line.

Now that the election is over, it might be well to state that a challenged vote does not reflect at all on the character of the voter, that it does not lose him his vote, and it is merely the usual method of obtaining evidence which could be used later in case of a contested election. The notoriety which has recently been given an incident of this nature in Newton was entirely unwarranted and was done solely for political purposes. It might also be said that a non-resident vote is only allowed by law to vote (within six months) for certain political offices and cannot vote for other offices.

Newton did its share towards the election of the Republican ticket on Tuesday, altho the expected majorities for Mr. Hughes, Governor McCall and Senator Lodge were materially reduced by the active work among the Democrats by Mr. Jarvis and his friends in their strenuous efforts to obtain votes for him, and incidentally for Wilson, Mansfield and Fitzgerald. The Republican ticket, with one exception, had splendid support in the Republican precincts and the defeat of Mr. Brimblecom was not due to Republican principles, but to petty local issues and personalities.

The absurdity of the referendum method of legislation is strikingly manifested in the so called intelligent vote of this city on the five questions which were on the ballot at the recent election. All five of these matters were favorably endorsed, the least meritorious of them all, New Year's Day, receiving the largest vote by far. The fact that the majority of the fully two thousand voters expressed no opinion one way or the other is significant of the heedless indifference of the average voter.

While the editor is disposed to take his defeat for Representative with considerable philosophy, he cannot help wondering whether the voters of this city who favored his opponent, really meant by their votes to endorse and approve his stand on labor legislation, health matters and the civil service. That is the practical effect of their action on Tuesday, and is so contrary to the accepted opinion of the city that it is worthy of more than passing comment.

The adoption of the preferential voting by this city will give us the unusual opportunity of a trial of an election plan which is towards simplicity, rather than away from it. The coming city election, however, being merely for aldermen and school committee, will attract so little attention that it will be impossible to obtain an intelligent idea of the method for it really takes at least three candidates for the office to make the preferential plan effective.

Alderman Clement vigorously contends that the figures submitted by the School Committee on the matter of military training in the High Schools do not really represent the sentiment of the community, and it is very certain that at every large gathering of citizens, any reference to the re-establishment of military drill is greeted with intense enthusiasm. The school committee is a little slow in realizing public sentiment on this subject.

Representatives Allen and Weston received a splendid endorsement of their excellent record in the last Legislature and they will worthily represent the city at the next General Court.

HOUSE BEAUTIFUL

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. held a very novel bazaar last week on Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening in the Association Building on Church street.

It was an interesting and instructive exhibit of the House Beautiful, and articles of every description were on sale in the six rooms, which comprised kitchen, dining-room, living-room, nursery, sun-parlor and bathroom.

The rooms were all tastefully arranged and decorated with autumn foliage and the hall was especially attractive with evergreens and poinsettias.

The kitchen was under the direction of Miss Josephine French; there was a demonstration of electrical cooking conducted by the Edison Electric Company of Boston, and the visitors were greatly interested in this modern and economical way of cooking. The electric range combined all the features that appeal to the careful housekeeper, being exceptionally clean, and devoid of fuel, smoke, soot, ashes, fumes and dust and dirt. The air in the kitchen remains pure, and the heat is confined to the stove. There was a display of Mexican baskets and an exhibition and sale of oil paintings by Mr. Daniels, instructor of drawing at the Newton High School, which was held in the living-room. Afternoon tea and coffee were served in the living-room, and music was furnished by two Edison phonographs from the F. H. Thomas Company, Boylston street, Boston.

Supper was served Saturday from 5.30 until 7 under the direction of Mrs. Charles D. Kepner and Miss Emma Page. During the supper, the lectures were rendered by the orchestra.

The bread and rolls served, were made from Wingold Flour, and were furnished by Mr. Stockwell, the agent for the flour.

The Pop Concert under the direction of Mrs. Franklin W. Gause was among the interesting features and an excellent program was arranged by Miss Martha Gifford, and Miss Marjorie Holmes. There was also an entertainment for the children, at which Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus were present. Miss Florence Bacon had charge of the candy table.

The Executive Committee was under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, and included Mrs. Irving U. Townsend and Miss Emma Page. The chairmen of the various committees were Miss Josephine French, Kitchen; Mrs. E. M. Horne, dining-room; Mrs. W. H. Capen, living-room; Mrs. E. I. Leeds, nursery; Mrs. E. A. Jones, sun-parlor. These chairmen were assisted by members of their committees.

The members serving on the committees spared no pains to make the bazaar a success and the results were very gratifying.

The object of the bazaar was to raise money for the salary of the secretary and to help along the good work started by the late Frank A. Day in the Boys' Camp at Brookfield.

BRAE BURN CLUB

Many social events are scheduled for the month of November and the Garden Tea room is in great demand for dances and bridge parties.

Mr. Francis E. P. Levi of Newton Highlands entertained sixty guests at the Club.

Miss Ruth Page gave an auction bridge on Monday afternoon in the ladies parlor.

Mrs. C. Arthur Boutelle of Newton Centre gave an auction bridge and tea on Wednesday afternoon at Brae Burn.

Mrs. George W. Crampton and Mrs. Augustus T. Beatey of Newton Centre will give an invitation subscription dance on Saturday, the 18th at the Club.

Mr. John Q. A. Whittemore will entertain at a Luncheon Bridge on Tuesday, November 21st at Brae Burn.

Miss Brackett will give a dancing party on Thursday, November 16th in the Garden Tea Room.

Mrs. Herbert L. Felton and Mrs. Irving J. Fisher of West Newton entertained a large company of guests at a musicale on Thursday afternoon at Brae Burn.

The House committee has arranged for a series of dinner dances which will be given during the season in the Garden Tea Room. The first in the series will be given on Wednesday evening, November 22nd.

INTERESTING MEETING

The first regular meeting of the combined societies, The Women's Alliance, and the Ladies Aid, of the First Unitarian Church was held Wednesday, November 8th in the church parlors.

This was the first all day meeting of the season and the ladies were full of enthusiasm. The alliance paper was given at 11 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Billings of Belmont. The subject was "Unitarian Beliefs."

A very animated discussion followed at the close of which a box luncheon was served with tea and coffee provided by a special committee, which was greatly enjoyed.

The afternoon was spent in sewing for the church Hospital and Red Cross, thus providing varied work for different tastes. A large attendance made this meeting a very useful and social one, and many such affairs are to be held during the coming winter.

The annual reception to the pastor, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, will be held in the church parlors this evening from eight until ten o'clock. Mr. Jaynes will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. George L. Lovett, Mr. Arthur T. Lovett and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Alley. Music and refreshments will be provided, and the society is looking forward to an enjoyable evening.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The National American Woman Suffrage Association announces 370 candidates for Congress to date have declared for a Federal suffrage amendment. Coupled with this is the fact that only thirty-six said they would oppose such an amendment and the remainder either made non-committal answers or have not replied.

Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw and Mrs. Joseph Dorr are in charge of a moving picture show which will be one of the features at the Bay State Suffrage Festival to be held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel. These will occur on Monday, Nov. 13, afternoon and evening. The films selected, interesting, instructive and amusing, are altogether unusual.

The most vivid demonstration of the power of women voters since the Illinois Equal Suffrage Act was passed was made in Chicago recently when a committee from the Woman's City Club protested against a proposed bond issue of $2,000,000 to increase the disposal facilities of garbage and other wastes unless convinced that the money would be spent in the interest of the municipality. Miss Mary McDowell, the spokesman for the committee, said that the women voters would support the bond issue if a competent engineering expert were put at the head of the waste bureau, but that they would do their utmost to defeat the issue if this disposal of the city's waste were put into politics. The Commissioner of Public Works frankly promised to comply with the request of the women, for as a writer on the "Record Herald" said: "If these and other members of the Woman's City Club do their 'utmost' against a bond issue, the chances of its success would be exceedingly slim."

A momentous and dramatic turn in suffrage affairs has come in Great Britain as the direct result of the war. Not only Mr. Asquith's and Lord Northcliffe's complete conversion is announced, but the Minister of Munitions in reporting his department to the House of Commons said: "Indeed, it is not too much to say that our armies have been saved and victory assured largely by the women in the munitions factories." The Observer, Conservative, formerly bitterly anti-suffrage, now says: "We were wrong. Women have borne their full share. Let the right to vote be given to every man and woman who has attained years of responsibility."

Jus Suffragii announces that following these remarkable events news of the entire daily press, including many papers formerly opposed, have frankly espoused the suffrage cause.

Resolutions adopted by the Newton Equal Suffrage League at meeting held on November 1, 1916.

WHEREAS, All the women of one-fourth of the states of the Union are entitled to vote for President in November;

WHEREAS, The women of Australia, New Zealand, a large part of Canada, and several important European countries, now vote upon equal terms with men; and,

WHEREAS, The unfranchised women of the United States are as intelligent, law abiding and patriotic as any women in the world; be it

RESOLVED, That we, the suffragists of Newton, do hereby thank the members of Congress for Massachusetts who have heretofore voted for the woman suffrage amendment, and call upon all candidates for the House of Representatives and the United States Senate, to pledge their aid, if elected, by vote and influence to secure the submission of a Federal Woman Suffrage Amendment, for ratification by the legislation of the several states.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—After two years spent in administering with song to the afflictions of her soldier countrymen, Anna Held, the famous French comedienne, returned to the American stage in "Follow Me," at the Majestic Theatre, for a limited engagement. Her second week begins next Monday, November 13th. "Follow Me" is a sprightly musical comedy calculated to be of a higher character than any of the productions of the past in which Miss Held has appeared. The production is under the management of the Messrs. Shubert and the personal direction of Mr. Lee Shubert. The chorus numbers thirty girls, including ten of the most beautiful to be found in New York, and who will make up the Anna Held Girls, destined to take rank in popularity and general feminine charm with those sets of girls which have been distinct features of other Anna Held productions.

The program will include addresses by Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Rev. Galusha Anderson, a poem by Dr. S. F. Chase, singing by the Schumann Trio, Harriet Sterling Hemenway, contralto, Martha Atwood Baker, soprano, Lyman Hemenway, tenor.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"That Other Woman" is the title of a new play by Lem B. Parker to be acted at the Castle Square Theatre next week, and it tells a timely effective story of the increasing number of men who are rising to great wealth and subsequent power with the result that they plan to the own eventual downfall and the inevitable heartbreak of the dependent ones who love them for themselves only. The plot is founded on incidents that happen in every day life and is not overdrawn in any sense. The company is an exceptionally capable one with Helena Claire Benedict as the heroine.

own freight they carried passengers and freight of the people. So that is one reason why the railroads want a system of uniform regulation, one that will enable the people to know what is going on. If we have a uniform system and certain rules we will know who is responsible and if this action is taken we are going to get ourselves in a position where we will be without facilities and where we cannot stand still and will have to pass into the hands of Government Ownership. Government Ownership might be a good thing but we know that under it we would be taking a big chance. We also know that there would be a lack of responsibility and responsibility and increased cost to the people and it would be immediately loaded up with all sorts of unnecessary employees. In order to keep ourselves from going into Government Ownership let us see to it that our system is made uniform.

QUESTIONS.

Is not the principal reason why people do not invest in railroad stock on account of the miserable management as in the New York, New Haven and Hartford? Answer. I do not think there is any question but that the railroad scandals which have been spread before the people have given everybody a great shock. Presuming that to be a fact we must look, in order to determine whether our railroads are being properly handled in our system of regulation, into companies that are well managed. No one will question that the Pennsylvania Railroad is not properly managed. The Pennsylvania Railroad was earning from twelve to fifteen per cent and only paying six per cent dividends.

Question. Where did the other nine per cent go? You say they paid six per cent and earned fifteen. Answer. It went into building new terminals and for providing the necessary facilities for the comfort of the people who ride in trains.

Question. Would it not be better for railroads to depend on the sale of bonds rather than on the sale of stock? Answer. It would be better to depend on stock as the bonds might go into the hands of receivers.

Question. Is Government Ownership a success as practiced in Australia? Answer. I am not familiar with the system of Government Ownership in Australia. But in France it was a complete failure. Germany had great success with Government Ownership, but not being a democracy practiced it along military lines.

Question. How do our railroads compare with those in Europe? Answer. That is a very difficult question to answer. The rates in Europe are higher than ours, we pay our employees more wages than European railroads pay their employees. Our railroads give lower freight rates. I think we have the greatest railroad system in the world. I have ridden in trains in Europe and so I know. European rates do not compare with American rates.

Question. Do you think the President was fair in granting the eight hour law before hearing the railroad side of the case? Answer. I feel somewhat like the little girl whose mother told her to learn to swim and hang her clothes on a hickory limb but not to go near the water. I had rather answer that question from a railroad standpoint rather than from any political standpoint. From the railroad point of view this is not an eight hour law but a law giving ten hours' pay for eight hours' work and therefore is simply an appeal for an increase in wages and not an appeal to have shorter hours.

Question. How can the people help to get regulated control? Answer. They can place the regulation of the railroads into one uniform system such as our courts are run. Such as the Supreme Court, etc., and in that way there would be no conflicts.

MOTHERS' REST

The Department Store to be opened in the Bray Hall, Nov. 23rd, and 24th, by the Mothers' Rest Association is daily increasing in interest.

A newspaper called "The Department Store Extra," giving full description of all departments of the store will be on sale a week before the opening.

The Art Department will present a first class exhibition of paintings by well-known artists, antiques and "arts and crafts" objects, all of which will be on sale, not for exhibition only.

On the evening of the 23rd of November, there will be dancing in the small Bray Hall under the direction of Miss Elsie Harrington.

The evening of Nov. 24th, will be given to a unique entertainment by Home Talent under the management of Mrs. Howard Tucker.

The store will be open from 10 o'clock A. M. till 10 o'clock P. M. each day. Lunch at noon, afternoon tea at 4 o'clock and supper at 6 P. M. will be served to all patrons at moderate prices.

WHITTEMORE-FREESE

The wedding of Miss Sybil, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Freese of Newtonville and Mr. Walter Burbank Whittemore of Winthrop, took place last Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride on Harvard street, and was a very quiet affair on account of a recent death in the family.

Rev. Charles S. Otto of Winthrop performed the ceremony at 4:30 o'clock and the bride was attended by Miss Gertrude Wilson of Newtonville, while the best man was Mr. Frank G. Capen of Winthrop.

A SPLENDID COMMUNITY WORK

The first community lecture in a series of four was given Tuesday afternoon in the Second Church in Newton, West Newton, by Mrs. Jutta Belle-Ranske, the celebrated Scandinavian lecturer regarding whom the New York papers agree that "She is a woman with a mission." A large and representative audience gathered to hear her great message of "The New Era," which was the subject of her inspiring talk. Mrs. Belle-Ranske believes that a great spirit of union shall invade the world; giving man a deeper understanding of self that will lead to new strength, repose and purpose. All opposition springs she affirms from man's mistaken conception of the varied attributes of life.

She believes that all that exists belongs in the scheme of life and that all error springs from separating conditions that were meant to be complementary, error resulting from separation. A new vital principle shall be made to bear upon all education, a tangible science that will unite the visible and invisible worlds. Life she holds is vibration and every attitude of mind influences its action; suggestion and auto suggestion accounting for more than half of the sickness and unhappiness in the world. Our attitude of mind to ourselves and to each other shall be forced to undergo a decided change; just as we shall be made to realize our sacred responsibility to human life in all its aspects.

Psychology has enforced upon us the important fact that the objective world and environment in its varied conditions stir not only the subconscious influences in our mind, but is the cause of actual nerve growth, wherefore our duty to civic conditions must increase; as by undesirable environment we are breeding criminals: Wrong seeing and wrong hearing accounting for wrong doing.

Mrs. Belle-Ranske made a strong appeal to the women in saying that the progress of the world depended upon their spiritual emancipation, as life must stand on a realized religious foundation; the church being the stronghold of the nation. The time is near, she said, when we shall cease to quarrel about terms and creeds as we shall know that however diverse our modes of worship may be, we are all praying to and longing for the same fundamental principle. The brotherhood of man shall not only be an ideal term but become a recognized scientific fact "for neither was there the least among them he was ashamed to call brother."

The attack on the church reflects she affirms, not upon the church but upon the spirit of the congregation; for Christianity is not any particular church, but a spirit; and the time has come when we shall be made to realize its vast importance. Hence if each man realized his individual duty to himself and to life and to church—all oppositions would fade as we would all meet in a common universal worship whatever the outward form. The New Era represents the divine realization of the union of the spirit of man. In this understanding a new manner of man will arise who through deeper insight into the divine law of life itself will become instrumental in the building of a great nation.

The next lecture in the Course will be given Tuesday morning, November 21 at 10 o'clock by Miss Alice Bradley on the subject of Cooking.

Miss Maude L. Withington of Auburndale is one of the entries in the Boston Journal 100,000 Automobile contest which is attracting considerable attention in this city.

—Leaves of the manaca palm, probably the commonest forest plant in Central America, have a queer habit of trembling violently when no wind is stirring that the human faculties can detect, although, as no other explanation exists, it is reasonable to suppose there must be some tiny air currents moving to which the plant responds with extreme sensitiveness.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The following matter was prepared for last week's issue and crowded out.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The Brightelmstone Club celebrated its twentieth anniversary with a luncheon at Hotel Vendome on October 21st. The present president, Mrs. Mary C. Alline, and past presidents were in the receiving line and later were seated in a position of honor at the large centre table in the dining room. The after-luncheon exercises were presided over by Mrs. W. C. Crawford and included responses to toasts by the past presidents together with music. All found the occasion so delightful that the desire was expressed of making such an affair an annual feature.

AUTUMN MEETING OF THE STATE FEDERATION

What the Club Editor said a week or so ago about the State Federation's never failing to secure an audience was borne out once more last Monday, Oct. 30th, when five or six carloads of club women left South Station, Boston, by the special train at eight-thirty, bound for the Autumn meeting to be held that day at Franklin. The inhabitants of the town, especially the men, viewed with amazement the long line of women as they made their way to the Universalist Church to have their credentials properly marked and then continued their walk to the Congregational Church where the sessions were held. Mrs. A. L. Burns, president of the Alden Club, as the hostess of the day, welcomed the delegates to their town and to their club. In her response Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, the president of the Federation, cited the great responsibility which rests upon women of this country today. It is a great time, though not a happy time, in which we live. We must work for the noblest ideals and raise them even higher than our nation may stand great in the world,—"a nation whose God is the Lord."

The convention then turned to the business of the morning. Miss Eleanor Joslin spoke briefly of the University Extension courses being offered by the State and urged the clubs to avail themselves of the opportunity.

The Endowment Fund was explained by Mrs. Royal Whitton and the proposed bazaar to raise money toward it. The work of the new Travelers' Aid Society was described by the secretary, Mr. Thompson. The committee on Credentials reported the presence of 403 delegates from 157 clubs who were entitled to vote. Nearly as many more visiting club women were present making the total attendance in the vicinity of 800. After considerable discussion the proposed amendment raising the dues of the clubs from five cents to seven cents per capita was passed. The resolution passed by the Conference of Presidents favoring raising it to ten cents could not be acted upon according to Robert the new parliamentary authority adopted at the annual meeting.

Dr. Kate Waller Barrett of the department of Labor at Washington made a stirring address in which she described the Free Employment Bureau being run by the division of women and girls. She asked the co-operation of groups of women from the clubs in work which the government is wishing to have done. Such a group in New Haven, when making known their willingness to assist, were told from Washington to engage an inspector for the munitions plants, a woman who is under civil service rules and receives the same pay as a man doing similar work.

In view of the financial condition of the Federation and of the fact that the increase in dues does not become operative until next year, it was voted that the clubs be asked to send a free will offering to help out the situation this year.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Pearl M. Shafer rendered a group of songs and Mr. John Barrett, director general of the United States Government, delivered a strong address upon "Pan-America and Pan-Americanism: Their mighty Meaning to the Americas." Seldom has the Federation offered a speaker who was listened to with such attention for so long a time, for he in reality made two separate addresses, the first upon the topic announced and then told of his personal experiences of five days in the trenches, for Mr. Barrett has just returned from a two months' visit to England and France where he went to find out the effect of the present war upon the Pan-American relations.

The Pan-American Union, he said, is the official international organization of the twenty-one American republics, and he himself, as the director general is the only strictly international officer in the world. One adverse vote would have kept him out at the time of his election, but once in a majority vote is necessary to put him out. The Union has prevented six international wars on the Western Hemisphere. The capital is at Washington and here the envoys from the various countries meet monthly in six, eight, or ten-hour sessions. No two countries included in this Union can go to war without the permission of the other 19. Had there been such a capital at the capital of England, France or Germany in 1914 representing a Pan-European Union there never would have been any European War. Mr. Barrett urged his hearers to visit the headquarters at Washington when in that city, the building being one of the architectural gems of the world.

In discussing the field covered by this Union he pointed out the wonderful opportunities, the great natural wealth and the remarkable progress made by these great South American countries,—facts not widely recognized by the people of the United States. Revolutions are often cited as bogies and in reply he stated that two-thirds of Latin-America has known no revolution in the last 25 or 30 years. Climate, another bogey; the largest part of the continent lies in the south temperate zone with a climate akin to ours, while in Columbia even though close to the equator, the great elevation tempers the heat so that the thermometer never goes above 79 degrees nor below 50. As to the hate and suspicion which some of those countries are represented to have for the United States, he stated that certain persons and certain newspapers are responsible for the same, but the great sane men of those countries have no more hate than you have for them. No more potent influence could be brought to bear than the proposed great Pan-American Congress of Women which has been urged for 1920 by Mrs. Pennypacker.

Mr. Barrett's description of the sights he saw in England and France were eloquent and dramatic in the extreme, his view of the wounded aeroplane dashing to earth, his crossing of the channel under escort of a dreadnought, the visit to both French and English trenches so close to the German line that he could hear the men discussing their breakfast, all made a profound impression upon his audience not soon to be forgotten.

At the close of the war he sees a great change coming in the position of women. As they have been the greatest sufferers during the war, so they are going to be the greatest beneficiaries after it is over. In view of all these facts such organizations as the Federation face a tremendous responsibility.

At the close of the address two new clubs, Webster Woman's Club and the Acton, Massachusetts, Woman's Club were presented for membership, and the usual courtesy resolution together with an endorsement of the work of the Department of Labor in the Federation Bureau and that the Federation hold a bazaar in November, 1917, to add money to the Endowment Fund were passed.

The Home Economics Committee of the Club is conducting a class in home management, which meets on the last Tuesday of every month. Plans are being formulated for advantageous co-operative buying of food.

Mr. Frank M. Keith, a trained chef, is to give three demonstrations in practical cooking under the auspices of the Club on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 14, 15 and 16, in the Methodist Parish House from two until five o'clock. Proceeds will go to the Club House fund. Tickets can be obtained of Mrs. Harry Beal, 33 Auburn street. Telephone orders accepted.

In co-operation with the American National Red Cross, the Club is arranging a course of instruction in First Aid, taught by Dr. Henry F. Keever. The first meeting will be held Thursday, November 9th at 3:30 o'clock in Stirling Hall. The hour of subsequent meetings will be arranged to suit the members of the class. The course will consist of twelve lessons with the privilege of examination at the close. To those who pass the examination the Red Cross issues a certificate. The class is being rapidly made up, and those who wish to join should send their names at once to Mrs. Harry Beal, chairman of classes, telephone Newton West 1095-M. All fees for all classes must be paid to Mrs. Beal, and tickets of admission obtained. All classes conducted by the club are cordially open to non members.

The attention of club members is called to the following notices: The American Relief committee asks for aid for German widows and orphans, which will be distributed through Ambassador Girard. Mrs. Robert P. Gilman, 254 Central street, Auburndale, will take charge of local contributions. Mrs. Gilman will also hold at her home every Friday morning from 10 until 12, a sewing circle to make articles for the relief of the German soldiers, there being a demand for garments as well as surgical dressings. Everyone in sympathy is cordially invited. The first meeting will be on Friday, Nov. 10th.

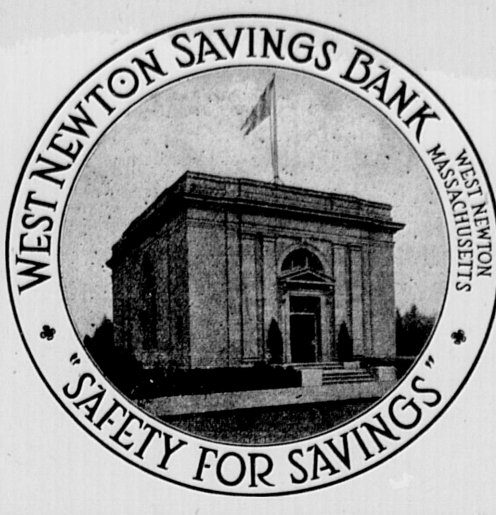

A group of young ladies, the French Wounded is being formed in Auburndale. The Methodist Parish House has been offered for the work, where it will be conducted every Friday both morning and afternoon, beginning Friday, Nov. 3rd.

Local Happenings

On Monday, Oct. 30 the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Peter Clark on Pleasant street, Newton Centre, devoted the afternoon to a galaxy of scenes from Shakespeare given in costume. Mrs. Darius Cobb arranged the program which included ten scenes from different plays interpreted by the club members and their daughters, assisted by Mrs. Haggood and Miss Hatch, and also by Miss Newhall, who sang, and by Miss Frances Varney, who danced in the scene from "A Midsummer Night's Dream." It was a very successful affair and much enjoyed both by members and guests who were present.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. E. S. Drowne, 32 Lakewood road, with the first vice-president, Mrs. S. A. Thompson, in the chair. The speaker of the afternoon was Mr. Charles Swain Thomas, whose talk on "Othello" was both instructive and helpful. As Hamlet is the story of disappointment, Othello is one of jealousy. Honest and upright himself with his great love for Desdemona, and through the villainous treachery of Iago, Othello convinces himself that the only way to save her honor was to take her life. A lesson for us all today, suggested the speaker, should be great leniency in judgment, lest like Othello we regret when it is too late.

The Review Club of Auburndale held its regular meeting on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, 429 Wolcott street. Mrs. Pickard, chairman of the morning introduced Mr. Albert Stoessel who had charge of the program. He gave a synopsis of Russian music and before Music presented a fine program. The afternoon was much enjoyed by all.

On Monday the Travel Class met with Mrs. John R. McLean, when Mrs. Thomas Hayden read a most interesting paper—"Less Familiar Old Boston Landmarks." Mrs. Robert Gorton's paper, "Evidences of Prehistoric Civilization in America" was much appreciated.

On Friday, the Home Economics Department, Mrs. John R. McLean, chairman, had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Aubrey Hilliard gave a talk on Marketing, which she was able to demonstrate perfectly as the enterprising marketmen, Cochran & Stimmons of West Newton, sent a side of beef, a half a lamb, a chicken, etc.; which their butcher cut up at Mrs. Hilliard's direction. Reports of the Presidents' Meeting and of the Massachusetts Federation Meeting last Spring were read.

The club is to hold a fair on November 21st, in Players' Small hall, where beautiful and useful Christmas gifts will be on sale at reasonable prices; also candies and cakes.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The November issue of the Bulletin of the State Federation shows a marked improvement in appearance over the first number. The removal of the advertising camels from the front page and the substitution of the president's portrait will meet with the approval of all club women and the grouping together of the greater part of the reading matter will greatly facilitate the giving of notices at club meetings. It is to be hoped that the "Foreword" may find its place upon the front cover in later issues, for it seems to lose its significance as a foreword when it comes on the seventh page. The reduction of price to the original figure, twenty-five cents, is a wise move. Clubs will pay that amount, but few clubs or individual members will care enough about it to pay more than that.

State Federation Announcements

The Home Economics department is holding a conference at Lowell by invitation of the Middlesex Women's Club this afternoon, the subject being "Household Management." "System" and "Simplicity" are the special topics being considered.

Subject, "Our World Relations." Tickets at one dollar each may be secured from Mrs. G. H. Talbot, 206 Walnut street, Newtonville. Advt.

Local Happenings

The Christian Era Study Club is considering the 15th century in its work this season. The paper upon "Dante" by Miss Ranslett given at the opening meeting in October merited more than a passing notice. The club considers not merely the history of a certain century, but takes up all sorts of interesting things related to the period, as for example, English Cathedrals, the Canon of the Scriptures, etc., making the work of this club a little different from that of any other.

club in the Newton Federation. Its meetings are held once in three weeks, another point of difference, on Mondays.

On Saturday last the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club was entertained by Miss Sweeney, the quiz on Acts IV and V of Romeo and Juliet being in charge of Mrs. Gicknell. She pointed out the remarkable development in Juliet as well as the interesting contrasts of character which are seen in the Capulet family.

Mrs. Alice Carroll addressed the Newton Mothers' Club on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Eddy of Fairfax street, on "The Child and the Motion Picture." Mrs. Carroll brought out the oft-repeated fact that the public gets what it wants. The dealers would gladly produce the high class pictures, but the popular demand is for those of a sensational nature. The way to secure pictures of an elevating and instructive nature is by supporting such picture shows when they are given. An unusually large number including many guests were present.

The first meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild for the season was addressed by Mrs. Royal Whiton of the Dorchester Woman's Clubhouse Corporation, on "Club-House Building—What to do, and how to do it."

Mrs. Whiton was the leading spirit in the building of the Dorchester Woman's Club House, so spoke with authority and was able to give the Guild members courage and practical advice on the problem which they are contemplating. Mrs. W. S. Higgins, president of the Guild, presented the report of the Biennial and a chorus sang the Massachusetts Federation song. A collection and the chairman stated that substantial pledges have been promised as soon as the project is actually on foot. A food sale to increase the fund was held at the close of the program.

The regular meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held on Tuesday, November 7th. Mrs. Henry A. Wentworth, vice-president, who presided over the meeting, spoke of the improved health of the president, Mrs. Charles A. Brown, and of the probability of her early return to Auburndale and to club activities. Members who were unable to attend the State Federation meeting at Franklin, were brought into touch with that occasion by excellent reports, Mrs. McNear describing the morning session, and Mrs. Gilman that of the afternoon.

Most instructive and enjoyable was Mr. Huger Elliot's talk on "The Treasures of the Museum which he is pleased to have the Club regard as 'our Art Museum.'" The series of sermons on pictures began and ended with the wonderful head of Aphrodite, which he considers the greatest treasure of all. The speaker pointed out the striking contrast between the idealism of Greek sculpture and the realism loved by the Romans. Notable examples of early Egyptian, Chinese and Japanese sculpture were shown in their dignity and beauty, also some of the best specimens from various collections, pottery, tapestries, prints and paintings ancient, mediaeval and modern up to the impressionistic school of the present day. A picture of some Paul Revere silver proved that simple beauty of line did not pass away with ancient Greece. Everything on the main floor of the Museum is original, while the Chinese-Japanese collection is the finest under any roof in the world. One should not attempt to visit all departments on one day, but see one or two groups in a satisfactory way, and come often to "our Art Museum."

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday Mrs. Frank H. Howes, chairman for the morning, presented Dr. George C. Nasmith, who spoke upon "America's Future Foreign Policy." The speaker stated that all treaties of peace up to the present day have contained the seeds of the next war. He cited conditions in Europe one hundred years ago at the time of the Napoleonic wars as being much the same as they are today, and if the people, instead of the diplomats had had their way at that time, we should have had something akin to a United States of Europe. Taking all these things into consideration, the approaching peace congress at the close of the present war is of tremendous importance. Upon a recent visit abroad he found the people fighting that this war may be the end of all war. Leaders are already beginning to plan for some sort of organization of the world, that this awful situation may not be repeated. It is conceded that the United States must take the lead in any such movement and this involves a break from America's former policy of isolation. Should another world war come we could not keep aloof from it so closely are the nations knit together.

Dr. Nasmith then proceeded to explain the proposals of the League to Enforce Peace as a possible starting point for a World Federation. These are:—That the United States ask the other nations to join in establishing a world court for the settlement of all questions; that the United States ask for the creating of an international council of investigation and conciliation for all questions not justiciable; that two nations cannot enter upon war without the economic sanction and the sanction of force of the other countries; and that the United States ask for a codifying of international law. These principles have met with the favor of the liberals in many countries and the carrying out of such a plan depends upon educating public opinion. Dr. Nasmith was listened to with close attention and further points were brought out in the course of the discussion.

The attention of the club women is called to a meeting to be held at the Technical high school on Friday, Nov. 24, at 10:15 A. M., in the interests of establishing a Farm Bureau in Middlesex county. Ex-Senator George H. Ellis will preside and Mrs. James J. Storow, Miss Laura Comstock of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and Mrs. Warner, director for Worcester county, will be the speakers.

At the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday Dr. Leon H. Vincent lectured on "Lowell as Critic, Letterwriter and American." Dr. Vincent, by numerous examples of Lowell's inimitable wit, as well as by his own humor, which is of no second rank, made the morning highly entertaining as well as instructive.

Mrs. E. W. Varney, chairman of the educational committee, introduced the speaker.

Union Club Day

The annual Union Club Day at Newton Highlands on Monday of this week was no less successful than those of former years. Mrs. S. L. Eaton of the Friday Reading Circle was in the chair. Selections by the Edna Frances Simons trio opened the program, which was followed by a brief word of invitation from Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, president of the Newton Federation, to attend its coming meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Mabel B. MacGowan of Worcester with Mrs. Florence L. B. Robbins at the piano delighted the audience with a group of songs. Then came the special treat of the afternoon, the lecture by Miss Heloise E. Hersey on "What of recent Poetry?" The last five years, she said, has seen a great revival of poetry. Unlike the days following the French Revolution when there was a similar revival, the present revival began before the war broke out, though much fine verse has been inspired by the war. The characteristics of earlier verse were reviewed and some of the present day "free verse" quoted, showing how much of it is rubbish and wholly lacking in the essentials of true poetry, "shredded prose" it has been called. Perfection, finish, a careful consideration of form give perpetuity to verse. Among the characteristics of present day verse Miss Hersey cited the gay joy of handling words, such as was seen in large degree in Shakespeare's time and as an example of this she read Arthur Guiterman's "Quest of a Ribbon." The real poet expresses the inexpressible, make a voice for those who cannot speak for themselves. Miss Hersey also read from other present day poets notably all branches taught in the French Revolution when there was a similar revival, the present revival began before the war broke out, though much fine verse has been inspired by the war. WOMEN'S CLUBS not much that is worth fighting over, plenty worth fighting against and much that is worth looking over. In this work we are able to see different points of view, different people working and struggling. Those of us who are doing the work would not give all our time to it, if we did not have the vision. We do it, because we see the need. Mrs. Palmer then brought echoes from the New York Biennial as a suggestion of the value of the General Federation.

The social hour gave opportunity for exchange of greetings with friends from the other side of the City, which ever side yours may have been. The arrangements were in charge of the Social committee, Mrs. Harry N. Miliken, chairman. The affair was a most auspicious opening of the new administration and served to show what a Federation meeting may be when all clubs realize their responsibility for its success.

At a brief business meeting the constitution of the Federation was amended so as to admit of associate membership; that organizations other than clubs, which have a purpose similar to that of the Federation may become affiliated with it and bring about a closer unification of work throughout the city.

With the meeting on November sixth, the Waban Woman's Club opened its twenty-first year, the President, Mrs. H. S. Kimball presiding. Mrs. Phipps then announced that classes in Parliamentary Law and Current Events had been arranged, also that The Village Choral Society will continue to meet through the Winter.

Mrs. Irving O. Palmer then spoke briefly, and cordially invited the club members to attend the Twenty-First anniversary of the Newton Federation on November eighth.

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Bessey gave interesting reports on the Thirtieth Biennial Convention of The General Federation held in New York. Mrs. Stevens, State Federation delegate gave a comprehensive report of the annual meeting in Lynn, and the autumn meeting held in Franklin.

The President then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. Charles Wellington Furlong, who was assisted at the lantern by Dr. John May.

Mr. Furlong carried an appreciative audience from Buenos Aires, Argentina into Chile. His pictures showed the City of Buenos Aires and its beautiful Capitol, which, when first completed, was hidden from almost every angle, by unsightly structures. These were taken, with twenty acres of land by right of eminent domain. The buildings were torn down and the land converted into a beautiful park.

Trees do not grow wild in Argentina, and cities are beautified by the careful planting of trees and plants, and also laying out of the water fronts. Inducements are held out to architects, who receive medals and diplomas for work well done; and property owners who erect beautiful homes are exempt from taxes.

There are about two hundred newspapers printed in Argentina; one hundred and fifty in Spanish and the rest in other foreign languages. Mr. Furlong, with his gaucho (cowboy) and eight horses, traveled from Buenos Aires to Chile across country. It was necessary to have the horses branded with names upside down, and they were obliged to carry a bill of sale. One of the horses was a bell mare, and when it was necessary to rest or sleep, they hobbled the front feet of the bell mare. In this way, she could not travel far, and the others would keep close by her.

The picture crossing the country, was barren rock and changing high effects. Water was very scarce and when they would see a little pond near by, upon reaching it they would usually find it surrounded by a bog, which would have swallowed them, had they or their horses tried to cross it.

If they tied a string to a tin can, and threw it from a rock, into the pond, the water would be so full of muck that they could not drink it. He showed a picture of men shearing sheep, the men holding the shears, which were worked by machinery. Deserters from foreign countries, are kindly treated in Argentina. Mr. Furlong mentioned one man who was known by the name of Cattle. He was much interested in the camera he saw used, and wished to own one, and also an American made boat. Mr. Furlong on his return home had a boat built at Mr. Chase's in Swampscott, of the dory type, for him. He also purchased an American camera and films, traveling to New York personally, to see them safely shipped.

DR. HUGH CABOT TO SPEAK

On Monday evening, Nov. 20th, at 8 P. M., in the Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, Mass., Dr. Hugh Cabot will give a talk to the members of the Men's Club and their guests on "Personal Experiences With The Allies In France, During The Summer of 1916." All those who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Cabot has just returned from France, after service in the hospitals. He has had unusual opportunities to observe and discuss with prominent persons and officials, various phases of the British Campaign.

DEATH OF MRS. SPRING

Mrs. Sarah J. W. Spring, widow of the late William H. Spring, passed away last week on Thursday after an illness of about three weeks.

Mrs. Spring was in her 70th year and resided at 130 Walnut street, Newtonville.

She is survived by two sons, Mr. James W. Spring, a Boston attorney, of Newton Centre, and Mr. George W. Spring, of New York.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon in Forest Hills Chapel. Rev. D. Cummings of Boston conducted the service at two o'clock.

The burial was in the family lot in Forest Hills Cemetery.

EMBARGO ON COAL

Mr. C. A. Chadwick of Newton Up per Falls is circulating petitions which are being generally signed ask.

Congress to place an embargo on coal. Mr. Chadwick states that there is a large quantity of soft coal now being exported causing an advance in the past two months of 500 per cent and has brought the price of hard coal up with it. There is an increasing foreign demand for coal which is certain to increase the price at home and there is no hope for consumers here until an embargo is placed on its exportation.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Tuesday morning a straw vote was held for the entire Classical School. The results were the following: Hughes, 617; Wilson, 233; Benson, 5; Hanly, 1.

The upper classes held the regular Assembly in the hall Wednesday morning. The usual devotional exercises were followed by a short talk by Mr. Adams. He first commended the promptness and precision with which the pupils of this building made their exit in a special fire drill which was held between periods last Thursday. Mr. Adams also remarked upon the improvement shown by the students in the matter of taking care of waste material during the lunch period. In closing he again reminded the students of the fact that high ideals are necessary for success in life.

The subscriptions for the "Review" have been coming in very rapidly. The total now exceeds four hundred. The speeches delivered during the trip to Concord by the English Club on Friday, October 27, were made by Miss Harrington and Richard B. Cole. The corrected list of officers of the Girls' Debating Club is the following: President, Miss Jean Olmstead. Vice-President, Miss Ruth Cummings. Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Mary West. The first call for hockey candidates was made last Monday morning, and the boys reported at the gymnasium after school.

NEWTON VS. WALTHAM.

The keenest interest of all supporters of the Newton High School football team is now turned toward the Waltham High School Athletic Field, where tomorrow afternoon, at two-thirty, the annual clash between Newton and Waltham will take place. So great has been the demand for seats that many of the school students are unable to obtain tickets.

The contest tomorrow should be one of the closest and most interesting that has ever been played between these great rivals. It is a well known fact that Newton has won the last Waltham in football for over twenty years, although the last two games have resulted in ties. It is certain that both teams will put up a great exhibition in this most important battle.

The Newton eleven is a powerful, well-balanced combination, with a smooth offensive game that will prove exceedingly hard to stop. The team has developed very rapidly in spite of a most discouraging start, and may be depended upon to give a good account of itself against Waltham. Its strength was clearly shown by the easy manner in which Wellesley was outclassed last Friday.

Waltham is represented by a fast, well-coached eleven, having a heavy powerful line and a light, fast backfield. Captain McGahan at left end is undoubtedly one of the best schoolboy players in Greater Boston, while both Smith and Cole are among the leaders in their positions. Waltham's only defeat this season was received at the hands of Brookline High. There is little doubt that this game will prove to be one of the greatest of the schoolboy season. Many of Newton's supporters believe that the team will be successful where so many others have failed, and that the orange and black will at last triumph over their greatest rivals. It is of course impossible to predict the outcome of so close a contest, but, judging from the recent performances of the two teams, there is considerable reason to believe that this is Newton's year. Coach Dickinson's eleven will enter the game with both confidence and determination, and with an even break in the luck, should win a decisive victory.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Miss Doonan's candy sale and dance, which was held in the school library on Wednesday afternoon, November 1, was very largely attended by all three schools, and was a very great success. The candy was sold at a profit, and the music furnished by Bartlett, Boyden and Paul Nash of the Classical School was greatly enjoyed by the students. Tuesday afternoon the teachers of the Technical School were addressed in the Assembly Hall by Dr. Goldthwaite, on the subject of "Correct Standing Position." Dr. Goldthwaite endeavored to impress upon the teachers the fact that they should assume responsibility for the physical welfare of their pupils in this respect.

Wednesday morning at a meeting of the Junior Class, a nominating committee was appointed, in preparation for the class election.

DEATH OF MRS. SNOW

Mrs. Sarah Barton Snow passed away Friday, November 3rd, at West Newton, after an illness extending over a period of several years.

Mrs. Snow was born in Augusta, Maine, on February 3rd, 1836. She was the widow of the late George H. Snow of West Newton, and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Herbert M. Cole.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cole on Somerset road. Rev. J. Edgar Park, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, conducted an impressive service at three o'clock. The Adelpi Quartet rendered the sacred selections, "Rock of Ages," "Abide With Me," and "Lead Kindly Light." The burial was in the family lot in Forest Grove Cemetery, Augusta, Maine.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—The most phenomenal success ever scored by any musical attraction in Boston must go to the credit of "Very Good Eddie," the big Broadway hit which has been running at the Wilbur Theatre for the past four months and which, owing to its continued success, will be transferred to the Plymouth Theatre next Monday, November 13, where it will remain for a short time. "Very Good Eddie" is moving over with the same big original cast, including Ernest Truax, Alice Dovey, Oscar Shaw, Ann Orr and forty others, including its swagger beauty chorus, and with all its wealth of tuneful melodies to which the entire country has been dancing for the past year. Matinee at the Plymouth are given on Thursday and Saturday.

FEW CHANGES

If the nomination papers filed Saturday with the City Clerk under the old method of conducting our city election are any criterion of what will be the ticket under the new preferential plan of voting, there will be very few changes in the board of aldermen and but one in the school committee.

Ward 1 will return Alderman Fok-nall for two years and Alderman Murphy for one year. Ward 2 will send two new men in Mr. Percy M. Blake for two years and Mr. Hubert L. Carter for one year. Ward 3 will have the only contest now in sight where former Forest Commissioner Charles I. Bucknam will make a contest for the seat of Alderman John S. Alley, who retires, with Mr. Stephen H. Whidden, who has been proposed by a large group of citizens of that ward. Alderman McCarthy will be unopposed for a second term as ward alderman. Ward 4 will return Alderman Early for two years and Alderman Hollis for one year. Ward 5 will send back Alderman Hagood for two years and Alderman Angier for one year. Alderman Allen will have the two year term from ward 6, while Mr. Morton C. Tuttle will take Alderman Clement's seat as ward alderman. In ward 7, Alderman Harriman will take the two year term from Mr. Philip Nichols will have the one-year term in place of Alderman Bentley.

For school committee, Mrs. Ellery Peabody of ward 3, the only woman on the board will be returned, and ward 6 will name Mr. William M. Noble in place of Mr. William H. Rice who retires after ten years of service.

INTERESTING MEETING

Ex-president William H. Taft will speak at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, on Thursday evening November 23rd, at eight o'clock.

CAPTAIN RANLETT'S CENTURY

The following address, signed by four hundred representative citizens of Auburndale, was engrossed and handsomely bound, and presented with flowers to Captain Ranlett on his hundredth birthday which took place yesterday.

To Captain Charles E. Ranlett, On His One Hundredth Birthday Anniversary, Nov. 9, 1916.

Dear Captain Ranlett:

We, your friends and neighbors and your fellow citizens in Auburndale, wish to congratulate you most heartily on the completion of a century of life. During your century every President of the United States has been living, except Washington; and you have witnessed the greater part of the history of our country. It falls to the lot of only a few to live so long upon the earth, and when it happens all men delight to honor it, recognizing in the attainment of great age the proof of many staunch and noble qualities. We rejoice in the remembrance of your long years of activity, promoting the commerce of your country. We rejoice in your honorable service in the government of your State and city. We rejoice in these quiet latter years among us, through which your unflinching friendship, your fine courtesy, your cheerfulness, and your prompt and thorough attention to all civic duties, have been an example to old and young. Surely in your case days have spoken, and multitude of years have taught wisdom. You have fulfilled Solomon's saying, "The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness"; and the precept of Paul, "That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience." These are some of the things that we should like to say to you in person, if we were not afraid that it would weary you; and we now say them to you in this way, which, though silent, is none the less affectionate and sincere. May your remaining days on earth be blessed, and when at length you voyage forth from these scenes of time, may you find that your long sojourn here has been only the brief prelude to a glorious eternity.

SOUTH COMMUNITY FORUM

First Meeting a Great Success. Mexican Problem the Subject of Discussion

The first meeting of the Newton South Community Forum was held last Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the small hall, Newton Centre and many who came late were unable to obtain seats.

Mr. A. C. Burnham opened the meeting and presented Prof. William Z. Ripley to act as chairman.

The speaker of the afternoon was Andre Tridon, a correspondent for the Outlook and Independent in Mexico and his subject was the "Problems of Mexico."

He said in part—

There are two kinds of Mexicans, those who were there before the Spaniards came and then the Spaniards who came later, about the beginning of the sixteenth century. In one part are the white race and in the other part are the yellow, red or black race, the white race being the most civilized and advanced race. Indians on one end and Europeans on the other, 4,000,000 white people and 11,000,000 Indians. In one part of Mexico you will find one race which are only found in one part of Africa, they are a black race covered with white spots all over their body. And from city to city you will find twenty different Indian races, all different in their line of custom and traditions and all speaking different languages. The Mexican language is Spanish. There are many primitive Mexicans, out of 15,000,000 people, 11,000,000 cannot read or write. There are the beginnings of the problem. The Mexicans are always willing to start on a war path if you show them plenty of money and ammunition for their guns. Any one of you could start a Revolution in Mexico in three weeks.

With all these possibilities in Mexico what do we see at the present time? There is one man there called Carranza and who likes to be called the Supreme Chief. He has about 2,500 in his force and about 25,000,000 enemies. We hear that Carranza is living in Mexico, but as a matter of fact he spends most of his time leaving Mexico. He prefers to keep his wife and family in the United States and still he feels Supreme at times. A year ago Carranza was master of 85 per cent of Mexico. Mr. Carranza is Supreme Chief and has been presented to us as a great man. As a matter of fact Carranza has always been a murderer and grafter.

Mr. Carranza for the last two years has been organizing labor unions and approve of labor unions, but what has he used them for? He organizes a strike in some establishment and then sends word to the president of the company that for a small consideration he would see that the strike was called off. Mr. Carranza has been trying to get cash from Wall Street but he cannot get it, therefore he engraves one thousand or more bills and buys everything they can purchase and then he suddenly discovers that the bills had been forged by his enemies. He engraves another issue of bills and buys everything you have left and two or three months later he finds that clever forgers have been at work again and he offers to buy fifty of those bills for twenty-five cents. Carranza needs money first to buy his enemies which is the only way of catching them. Mr. Carranza also needs money to improve the land. It is a big problem in Mexico, there are thousands of Indians who have no land but they would not know how to use it if they did. In some parts of the country the rainfall is totally insufficient but in other parts there is a steady downpour for a few weeks or months and then there would be none for eleven months or more. The land is very fertile and if the Indians knew how to care for it they have not got the machinery and tools that are necessary. It must be a company well financed and in the most modern way to make this land ready for farms. Carranza needs money for opening schools. Eleven million cannot read or write so they certainly need schools. That was five years ago and since then there hasn't been a school open. Sixty or seventy Catholic schools kept open as long as they could but the Mexicans carried off the nuns and so the Catholic schools had to close. I believe one sectarian school is better than no school at all. Mr. Carranza sent a few teachers to learn the American methods. A very beautiful thought but there were no schools to use these methods in. They need money for the schools and they need money for the army. The Mexican gets no meals given him for his services, the children have to steal them while the mother cooks them and father eats them. It is all right for the children to steal or beg for food because it is done to feed father and that is for a patriotic purpose. And that is the way the children grow up beggars and thieves, and there are no schools to teach them to be anything better. Here is the situation and I cannot see how Carranza or anyone else can get anywhere without oceans of cash. It can come from one source and that is the United States. What are we going to do about it, or are we going to do anything about it? I feel we ought to. We have made it clear to all nations that no one must try to put their finger in the American pie. Whether it is South American or Mexican pie. We do not want to go into Mexico to do harm what we want to do is to bring peace and prosperity back to Mexico. Instead of going into Mexico crying "down with Mexico," we should go in as neighbors or big brothers and shout "long live Mexico."

QUESTIONS.
Is there any positive evidence that Huerta killed Madero?
I don't think he did. I have met Huerta and I think if there had been two Maderos I would have killed them both. Mr. Carranza has killed as many men as Huerta.

After the European War has come to a close what is the likelihood, that

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Charles Ward Post G. A. R. Honors Its Deceased Comrades With Impressive and Beautiful Ceremonies

Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., held a beautiful and impressive memorial service Sunday afternoon in Temple hall, Newtonville, in honor of those members who have passed away during the past five years. Facing the audience, and telling the story in a far more impressive manner than mere words, were 41 empty chairs, each decorated with a small American flag and a vase with yellow chrysanthemums.

The number of veterans who sat in the front seats and whom the audience greeted by rising when they entered the hall, hardly equalled the vacant chairs.

The speakers' stand was flanked with standards of national colors, and the altar in front was draped with the flag.

The program included some exquisite singing by the Schumann trio, and Mrs. Hemenway rendered "The Vacant Chair" in splendid fashion.

Commander Orrin W. Nash presided and the principal addresses were made by Mayor Childs and Rev. Galusha Anderson.

Mayor Childs said in part: The Angel of Death is no respecter of persons—he visits our homes, our church and our country. It is a beautiful custom of the Grand Army to pay tribute to its departed comrades, but this should not be a service of sadness, rather a service of joy and inspiration. What they and you did, here have made us better and life is richer for the sacrifices you have made. We should consecrate ourselves to their memory for we need the same heroism and devotion to principle to succeed in the battle of life.

Rev. Mr. Anderson gave some interesting reminiscences of his experiences during the Civil War, saying in part that mighty issues were decided by that conflict and its battles were battles of progress. The two underlying causes of the war were African slavery and state sovereignty, and were worth all they cost in being settled right. The spirit of the men of '61 was strikingly shown by their songs, such as "Rally Round the Flag," "John Brown's Body," etc. After reading a poem entitled "The Fading Line of Blue" Mr. Anderson spoke of present day problems insisting that we have one paramount duty to safeguard American citizens anywhere in the world. We should, he declared, be as faithful in doing our work today as the veterans of 1861-65.

Dr. S. F. Chase read the following original poem,

Oh, where are the Isles of the blest?
Where lies the Elysian shore,
Where the loved who have gone from our sight,
Are gathered to weep nevermore?

Our comrades in battle and strife
Have entered the chambers of rest;
They have reached the fair city where life
Holds all that is richest and best.

We faint would know the camping ground
Where their silent tents are spread;
Oh, that some hand would lift the veil
That hides the bivouac of the dead!

Perchance they have not wandered far,
To distant space or shining star,
But linger near, with loving care,
To guard us while life's ills we bear.

Were our eyes opened, we might see
That those we thought had gone away,
Are walking still with you and me,
In tender ministries of love.

We will not think of them as dead,
They have risen to fuller life;
By Love's supernatural led
In paths forever free from strife.

We'll think of them as done with death,
Emerging from earth's frail house of clay,
To run with joy the blissful round
Of Heaven's supreme all-perfect day.

They are not dead! From trammels free

They walk Life's ever radiant shore;
We see them not, but, near or far,
They are ours forevermore.

CITY OFFICIALS COMMENDED

Interesting Survey of City Departments with few Serious Criticisms

Mr. Edwin A. Cottrell, the expert who has been studying the working operations of the Street, Water and Forestry department of the city for the past six months, has finished his work and submitted a voluminous report to Mayor Childs and the board of aldermen.

In his letter of transmittal, Mr. Cottrell states that "the survey does not attempt to set up any ideal standard or imaginary picture of municipal government. It aims to measure a reasonable, practicable public service and compare it with the accomplishments of other cities. It tests the methods employed by standards which Newton should set for itself."

Mr. Cottrell finds that the heads of the departments are striving for the utmost efficiency even to the point of closeness and false economy. Each has training and experience and is displaying the greatest honesty and best intentions in his work. Each is emphatic that outside influence and political pressure must be removed and that petty district and ward considerations are the bane of public welfare. Citizens will insist upon responsibility and responsiveness to public demand when they realize the importance of training, equipment and temperament as the requisites of decreased expenditures in city departments. Heads of departments are carrying on their work with courtesy and tact and performing their duties fearlessly and conscientiously. The new accounting system has caused some friction but is indispensable to good business, although there is danger of becoming too systematized. There is an absence of criticism of superiors, a willingness to accept suggestions and to listen to results obtained in other places.

Notwithstanding that many suggestions are made for further efficiency, it is Mr. Cottrell's firm belief that Newton approaches more nearly the ideal community government than many of the cities with which comparisons can be drawn. Newton has fewer officials as department heads, is receiving more and better service from its officials and employees, is operating on a more competent, efficient and economical basis and has a more intelligent and wide-awake electorate.

The relations existing between some of the departments, in some cases amounting to extreme friction, are not criticized. The overlapping jurisdiction of certain officials should receive attention. Many matters of financial interest need adjustment.

Mr. Cottrell warns us that city expenditures must necessarily increase. Supplies, material and labor have increased from 50 to 60 per cent in the last 10 years. Increased shorter hours of labor, holidays, vacations with pay, pensions and disability compensation are inevitable and economy and efficiency will only follow the most intelligent effort and the use of labor and time saving devices and machinery.

Mr. Cottrell does not favor a consolidation of these three departments into one of Public Works. He criticizes the delay in issuing annual reports, urges brevity and conciseness and a proper collection of material.

Street Department

He believes the Street department to be properly balanced, that it is not operated by amateurs, although charges of antiquated methods might be proved in some instances. Complaints, which are usually the index of efficiency, are few, but too prompt attention is being given them. This is pleasing to citizens but costly to the city. He recommends a more thorough inspection system to save maintenance costs, by reporting defects thru a regular patrol of jobs under construction, cleaning machines, defective materials and the checking of supplies. The office force is adequate and highly efficient. Fees should be charged for street obstructions, signs, poles, awnings, etc. He severely condemns the Willow street stable, the Pettes street stable, as being entirely inadequate. Sheds at all yards are not sufficient for storage. Stables are clean and well kept, and the horses in excellent condition. Newtonville yard is too small for Street and Forestry departments and there should be a new yard obtained at Cook street, Newton Highlands, where additional land should be obtained and storage tanks and bins constructed in connection with a new stable. Present equipment is good but rapidly deteriorating. He favors motor driven vehicles, claiming a 50 per cent saving in expense. The city should have a motor sweeper, use tractors and trailers in collection of ashes and rubbish. The cost of producing crushed stone is excessive, much time wasted in operating stone crushers, where electric power should be installed. City garage methods are approved and he finds no great abuse of the use of city cars.

Newton streets, Mr. Cottrell says carry an enormous amount of traffic have adequate length and width and are in better condition than those of any other city in this part of the country. It is no exaggeration to say that Newton is getting more and better street surface at a lower cost than other cities. He approves the system of tar penetration, saying it is standing the hardest tests and is only exceeded by bituminous concrete as an ideal pavement.

He criticizes the slow delivery of stone on the work and the taking off of laborers for other work, such as collection of ashes, etc. He does not approve of the lax manner in which tools are allowed to be scattered about. The street cleaning is poorly done, the main streets are far from clean and many side streets are unsightly. All street sweepers should have the latest kind of receptacles, there should be a motor sweeper and main streets and sidewalks should be flushed once a month.

The street commissioner and wire inspector should have control of pole locations in the street and not wait for meetings of the aldermen. Newton is poorly lighted except on Washington street and in the principal squares.

Wooden sidewalks are in dangerous condition and no more should be constructed. There is a lack of co-operation between householders and collectors of waste. Boxes and wooden barrels should be excluded. Wagons should have tarpaulin covers. Dumps are generally well kept and groomed. The expense of installation, $25,000, and of maintenance, $10,000, does not justify an incinerator, as none of them are efficient, leaving partly burned or

PLAYS TIE GAME

The annual football match between Waltham and Newton High Schools attracted a large crowd at the Waltham field last Saturday and resulted in a tie score of 6 to 6.

The tally by the home team was made in the first period, when Cole, on receiving a fumble made a run of 65 yards for a touchdown. This play came after the Newton team had twice made required distances in a well directed line and short end plays, and Newton was making advance toward the goal line when the fumble, with the long run and touchdown by Cole, quickly changed the complexion of the game. Smith failed to kick the goal and a tally of six points then favored Waltham high.

At the opening of the fourth period, Waltham punted and Newton gained possession of the ball at the 45 yard line. A pass went uncompleted, but Garrity then made a pretty run, advancing to the 18 yard line. On two line plays the visitors were held, but a forward pass was then successfully executed and Newton gained first down on the 5 yard line. The tally quickly followed, Garrity taking the ball across the goal line. The Newton try for goal went wide and the tally stood a tie at 6 to 6.

LADIES NIGHT

The first ladies night of Newton Lodge of Elks was held last evening at the lodge rooms in Eliot Block. Newton and was a complete success, thanks to the efficient work of the committee in charge, Messrs. B. J. Goodwin, George F. Tracy, George M. Cox and George R. Stratton. The rooms were attractively decorated with the national colors and were well filled with the guests of the lodge. There was an informal reception in the early part of the evening, followed by an enjoyable entertainment of music and impersonations by the Standish quartet, of which an old Newton boy, Mr. Robert Van Buskirk was a leading member. The entertainment was followed by refreshments and dancing. At eleven o'clock, the festivities ceased for a moment to allow the Past Grand Exalted Ruler, James R. Nicholson of Springfield to offer the usual toast. Music was furnished by the Edna Frances Simmons orchestra. The reception committee consisted of Messrs. W. B. Graham, O. J. McCourt, Geo. P. Flood, R. M. Lyons and E. N. Soules.

An excellent line of Personal Greeting Cards may be seen at Ward's, 57-61 Franklin St., Boston.

ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Newtonville New Church Society, the following church officers and committees were elected for the year 1916-1917: Standing Committee: Mr. James Richard Carter, Mr. Henry H. Carter, Mr. Charles Whittemore, Dr. S. C. McLaughlin, and Mr. William Cummings Richardson; Clerk of the Society, Mr. Philip Walker Carter of West Newton; Treasurer, Mr. Albert Paine Carter of Newtonville; Auditor, Mr. John Daboll of Newtonville; Committee on Charities, the officers of the Woman's League, and of the Young People's League; Entertainment Committee, Chairman, Mr. Prescott H. Wellman; Mr. Philip Walker Carter, Mrs. Richard B. Carter, Miss Rosalind Kempton, and Mr. Clinton B. Willey; Committee on Care of Church Buildings: Mrs. Carl T. Whittemore, Chairman; Mrs. H. H. Carter, Mrs. H. S. Kempton, Mrs. John Daboll, and Mr. Clark Hayden; Committee on Music: Rev. Mr. Gould, Chairman; Mrs. Charles Whittemore, Mr. William Cummings Richardson, Mrs. James Richard Carter; Organist and Choir Master, Mr. Albert Lusk Walker; Choir Assistant, Mrs. Carl Wheaton; Ushers, Mr. Clinton B. Willey, Chairman; E. Donald Robb, Philip Walker Carter, Prescott H. Wellman, Clark Hayden, David Whittemore, Jr., and Walter Rice.

RECEPTION

A society event of special note on Wednesday was the reception given by Mrs. Carl E. Pickhardt of West Newton, to meet Mr. Andrew S. Woods of Fountain street. The large hall at the Neighborhood Club was arranged as a drawing-room for the occasion and decorated elaborately in a combination scheme of yellow and green with chrysanthemums and Ward roses, ferns and palms. The receiving party stood in front of a background of palms at one end of the hall, and the guests from four until six o'clock. Mrs. Woods was gowned in black chiffon velvet and carried a bouquet of violets and lavender orchids, and Mrs. Pickhardt wore a gown of taupe chiffon trimmed with old gold lace and carried Aaron Ward roses. In the dining-room the same effective scheme was carried out in the table decorations with roses and yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. Charles A. Sinclair of Boston, poured and assisted as servers, were Miss Dorothy Dowse, Miss Eleanor Frost, Miss Louise Lovett, Mrs. Leon Rogers, Miss Margaret Woods, Miss Kate Wheelock, Mrs. Clarence Haskell, Mrs. Herbert L. Felton and Mrs. Irving J. Fisher. Mrs. Pickhardt's mother, Mrs. Charles J. Fowler of Fountain street served punch. It was a very delightful affair and guests of social prominence numbering 250 were present from Boston, Brookline, and the Newtons.

UNITARIAN CLUB

The Unitarian Club of Newton met last evening in the parish house of the West Newton Church. After the usual banquet, the Club was addressed by Mr. Harold F. Barber on the subject of "What our Churches Need," from the standpoint of an advertising man. Mr. Barber is one of the leading members of the Pilgrim Publicity Association and an exceptionally well posted on advertising matters.

HASTINGS-STANLEY

The wedding of Miss Eunice Elizabeth Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Willis Stanley of Pawtucket, and Mr. Kenneth Briggs Hastings, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hastings of Newtonville took place Wednesday evening in the Central Falls Congregational Church.

As the guests were assembling a program of organ selections were given by Mr. John Hermann Loud, organist of the Park Street Church, Boston, with Mrs. Anna Howe Hunting of Boston, cellist.

The bride was escorted by her father who gave her in marriage. They were preceded by the matron of honor, Mrs. Sterling Nye Loveland, cousin of the bride and four bridesmaids, the Misses Caroline Blodgett, Agnes E. Little, Laura Vaughan, and Mrs. Frederick William Stark, and the maid of honor, Miss Maybelle Cushman Stanley, sister of the bride.

The ushers were Mr. Warren Dyer of West Newton, Mass., Dr. Sterling Nye Loveland of Belmont, Mass., Carlos P. Hunt of Pawtucket, and Lincoln Stanley, brother of the bride.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Norman Hubbard Hastings of Bellevue, Mass.

The marriage service was performed at six o'clock by the pastor, Rev. James D. Dingwell and was followed by the singing of the hymn "O Perfect Love," by Miss Mabel Woolsey, soprano.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white tulle and silver lace, short skirt with court train from the shoulders. Her tulle veil was fastened with a bandeau of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor and the matron of honor were gowned alike in green and silver cloth combined with green tulle and silver lace, and the bridesmaids were gowned in orchid pink silver cloth in combination with tulle of the same shade and silver lace.

A large reception was held and the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by their parents Mr. and Mrs. Stanley and Mr. and Mrs. Hastings.

Mrs. Hastings was handsomely gowned in pearl gray tulle over silk of the same shade with garniture of silver lace, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hastings left on a wedding trip and on their return will reside at 278 Cabot street, Newtonville, where they will be at home after February 1st.

THE HOLIDAY SEASON IS FAST APPROACHING and much time and annoyance can be saved by making your selections early.

We have made unusual preparations to care for those who want to do their holiday shopping this month, and have many exceptional Values to offer in books that are peculiarly adapted as holiday gifts but which will not be available in December, on account of the small number of copies it was possible to secure.

Some choice books in London bindings have just come in—there will be but few of them this year—and early buyers may choose from them some gifts of distinction such as cannot be had a little later on.

Our Fall Catalogue of English importations is now ready and will be mailed free on application.

It was a very interesting meeting and there were twenty-eight members present.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Woods of Boston, formerly of West Newton, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Saturday, November 11th, and Judge Olmstead, Mrs. Woods' father, gave a dinner in honor of the event. Mrs. Woods, before her marriage, was Miss Belle Bachelier, and was very prominent in West Newton society. She was married twenty-five years ago at the home of her father, the late William H. Leatherbee of Hillside avenue. Among the guests were friends from West Newton, Brookline and Boston.

—The Flower Mission Committee of the Newtonville Womans Guild will send its annual Thanksgiving donation of fruits, vegetables and groceries to the Boston Fruit and Flower Mission on Friday November 24th. All gifts should be sent before that date to Mrs. C. Henry Goodwin Jr., 76 Austin street, Newtonville.

—The annual pastor's reception at the Unitarian Church Friday evening was a delightful social affair and very largely attended. Mr. Jaynes was assisted in receiving by Mr. John S. Alley, chairman of the Board of Trustees and Miss Alley, Mr. Arthur T. Lovett, chairman of the standing committee and Mrs. George L. Lovett.

scorched material. The proper solution is a motor tractor to haul the waste to dumps and save $10,000 annually over present expenses.

Commissioner should have a free hand over labor. There should be an exchange of experienced men between departments in winter season. Policy of laying off men as a punishment is a farce. The department is honeycombed with aged and decrepit men who demoralize the rest of the force. Men over 60 should be gradually eliminated by transfer to park department or by pension and places taken by men on probation at $2. Mr. Cottrell figures the time lost by men at 10-20 per cent for construction, 25 per cent for cleaners, 10 per cent for sewer men and 20 per cent for ash collectors.

Water Dept.
Mr. Cottrell says that the Water Commissioner is a very careful spender and might even be called too provident in some cases. Practically all prices paid for materials are below those paid in other cities and the department pays less for its coal than any other place in this section of the country. He says the office space is entirely inadequate and its furniture antiquated. The yard is so located as to require a mile haul and double handling of materials.
Fines to water takers he says demands a change in the policy of paying for main extensions out of current receipts. They should be paid from serial bonds. City departments should pay for water used and the increased revenue estimated at $28,680 would increase revenue and allow a still further reduction in water rates. He believes there is a great deal of waste where meters are not used.

The department in his opinion conducts its business both efficiently and economically.

Forestry Dept.
The present commissioner, Mr. Cottrell states, has adequate training and experience and has built up a great system in the department, gradually reducing the cost of operation and increasing the amount of work thru effective organization of men and equipment. The department should have a storage building at Crafts street. He thinks the same methods are as up-to-date and as detailed as any city, but the office room is entirely inadequate, and it should be removed to the old patrol stable.

He thinks more utilitarian areas necessary, with more benches, shelter houses, comfort stations and fewer "No Trespassing" signs.

The double jurisdiction of the Forestry and Playground departments is open to severe criticism and either the entire maintenance should be given the Playground dept. or with the exception of buildings and apparatus, should be handled by the Forestry dept. Mr. Cottrell favors the latter course to save double overhead, effect better organization and find more continuous employment for a well constructed force of men for the year. He believes $5000 will be saved in this way. He also says this department is purchasing materials at lower prices than many others in the state.

Purchasing.
There is great waste where so many departments are on the market at the same time with different forms and methods. He favors a board of Contract and Supply composed of the mayor, city solicitor, comptroller, engineer, and purchasing agent, the last to be a central payroll clerk. He believes that Newton would save $20,000 annually in this way.

Labor.
Mr. Cottrell discusses the labor situation with great frankness. He believes that political influence has many times increased the payroll in excess of the needs and destroyed the discipline of the departments by forcing out ambitious and competent employees. The peculiar labor situation the past year which brought about the raise of wages to $2.50 made conditions more uniform in the departments, was appreciated by the men and was reflected in the amount of work accomplished. Labor conditions in Newton are far above the average but much time is lost in going to work and waiting for materials on the job. The practice of leaving the stable at beginning of labor period and leaving work in time to reach there at the end of the period should be discontinued. 20 per cent of the payroll expense is wasted as compared with 50-60 per cent in other cities. Open and secret observations of men at work gave interesting results. Working time was shown to be 60 per cent secret and 80 per cent open. Wasted time was 30 per cent secret and 10 per cent open and waiting for materials was 10 per cent for both secret and open. Old men should be transferred to the lighter work on park maintenance, or pensioned. Vacations should be taken during the slack season and is within the entire discretion of the mayor.

He favors highest wages for an eight hour day, with half holidays in summer and two weeks vacation in winter. He finds no indications of padded payrolls, attempts to manufacture work or to spread work thinly to gain time and he believes the city laborers are far more conscientious than those in most places.
He recommends a classification of all labor into five grades with a minimum rate at entrance and maximum rates established by sub-grades and efficiency tests. These grades are as follows: 1—Administrative (heads of departments) 2—supervisory (superintendents, foremen, bookkeepers and secretaries) 3—fixed responsibility (clerks, foremen, engineers) 4—skill and accuracy (storekeepers, bookkeepers, stenographers, inspectors, janitors, foremen) 5—routine (laborers). But these classifications should not be carried too far or made too rigid.

He believes that experienced administrators and proper methods of supervisions get better results, and finds that these factors exist in the departments studied, with misdirected energy, unnecessary employment and low grade service conspicuous by their absence.

The following summary shows the principal recommendations made by Mr. Cottrell:

General Government
More uniform annual reports.
Establish bureau of information.

Accounting
Bring all departments to the detail and exactness of those studied and save large amounts thru purchasing and controlling functions.
Establish cost records in department offices.

Monthly inventory reported and recorded in property ledger.
Discount all bills at 2 per cent for 15 day payment.

Establish the office of central payroll clerk.
Pay all employees personally thru treasurer or paymaster.
Charge deterioration of equipment. Use item of "unworked time" in all departments where labor is employed.
Increase "overhead" in all accounts to at least 15 per cent.

Street Department
Reorganization of duties of division foremen.

Install inspection system.
New office cards for progress and recapitulation records.
Abolish Newtonville supply yard and Willow and Pettie street stables.
Establish new stable and supply yard at Winchester and Cook streets.
Build storage bins and tanks at proposed yard.

Purchase one large motor truck for stone, one 1-2 ton truck, a spraying body, a sand spreading body, and snow plow attachment, a motor sweeper, a tractor and a runabout for foreman, Division.

Have more detail report of automobile use by heads of departments.
Purchase stone, rather than operate crushers.
Vest power to relocate poles in street commissioner and wire inspector with approval of mayor.

Better enforcement of street opening provisions.
Use of single trench for all house connections.
Larger and more uniform collecting carts for street cleaners.

Re-arrangement of street lamps and fixtures.
Concrete grout for granite blocks of all car tracks at crossovers.

Lay only permanent sidewalks.
Pay for crushed stone by weight delivered.

Probation period for all new laborers.

Water Department

More office space.
Modern office furniture and equipment.

Install meter history cards.
Police blanks for reporting defects.
Efficiency records for all employees.
Seal all meters.

Changed districts of meter readers and new card for each reading.
Comparisons reported of costs to deliver water and revenue derived.

New auto truck for repair work.
New pumping engine to replace Worthington.

New boilers.
Payment for operation of sewerage pumping station.

Bond issue for extension of mains.
Charge made for use of water by municipal departments.

Forestry Department
New office space provided.
New building for equipment.
More power in locating of electric wires.

Parks fitted for uses of people.
Playground maintenance placed under this department.

Small auto truck for park and playground maintenance.
Heating-Lighting Plant
Transfer to Public buildings department.

City continue lighting its buildings and test improvements.
Change fixtures and lamps to suit schedule appended.

Install operating cost records.
Charge each building for light furnished.

Re-arrange labor schedule to fit provisions of new law if adopted.
Use employees during summer months in making repairs.

Purchasing Department
Establish board of Contract and Supply and Purchasing Agent.

Labor Department
Vacations given in slack season.
Transfer old men to parks and playground maintenance.

Standard of salaries and wages.
Efficiency records for employees.
Conference of foremen on work methods.

DEATH OF COL. WARREN

Col. Albert Cyrus Warren, for many years a resident of West Newton hill, but who went to Brookline a few years ago, died quite suddenly last Friday at his home on Beacon street in that town.

Col. Warren was born at St. Louis, Mo., March 18, 1853, the family coming to Newton in 1860.

He was educated in the New Church School at Waltham, Union Hall Academy, Jamaica, L. I., the Newton High School and M. I. T.

Colonel Warren has served in the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia since 1883 and has a record covering eight years as private, corporal and sergeant in the Clafin Guards, Newton; six years as quartermaster sergeant, 5th Regiment, Infantry, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia; eleven years on the staff of the same regiment, his position being that of paymaster, with the rank of first lieutenant, from Dec. 27, 1889, to April 3, 1900, and captain from April 3, 1900, to May 15, 1901, when he was appointed captain and aid-de-camp on the staff of the 2nd Brigade. He was retired a few years ago with the rank of Colonel.

He was one of the organizers and was for many years treasurer of the Warren Soap Mfg. Co., and for the past sixteen years has been a director and secretary of the Warren Bros. Co.

He was a member of the Old Guard of Massachusetts, the Sons of the Revolution, the Founders and Patriots of America, Boston Lodge of Elks, and the Clafin Guards Veteran Association.

He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Miss Mary Warren and Mrs. William E. Patrick of New Bedford.

POLITICAL NOTES

Among the post-election observations is the splendid vote polled by Senator-Elect James E. MacPherson. Considering that it is always the fact that a large percentage of the voters neglect to mark for their party nominee where there is no contest, the Senator-Elect received a remarkable vote. His district vote of 9328 was a gain of 1599 over the fine vote of 7729 received in the district as now composed by Senator Ellis last year. Setting up a new mark for the First Middlesex District, his Framingham total of 1900 also broke all records for that town, and he ran about 350 votes ahead of the ticket in Framingham, while he ran ahead of his ticket all over the district in corresponding proportion.

Full returns for the County of Middlesex show that Senator Nathan A. Tufts of Waltham received 65,823 votes. His opponent William Scharton received 34,706 votes. This gave Mr. Tufts a lead of 32,117 votes over his opponent. Governor McCall's vote in the County of Middlesex was 63,073 and the vote of Senator Lodge was 61,489.

The Special Commission constituted under Chapter 153 of the Resolves of 1916 to consider the financial condition of the Boston Elevated Railway Company have announced the next hearing to take place at ten o'clock on the morning of Monday, November 20, 1916, in Room 362, State House. It is expected that all persons who desire to appear before this Commission will be present at this hearing.

Edmonds and Byfield, John Hancock Building, report the sale of the dwelling with 5000 square feet of land, situated No. 28 Regent street, West Newton. M. A. Wise sells to E. P. Lynch, who buys for investment. The whole property is valued at $7000.

some of the European Nations who have great interests in Mexico will insist upon stepping in?

I might say the investments of various nations in Mexico are as follows: American investments are up to about $1,000,000, general bank estimates. The English investments are about 1-4 of a billion, and on a much lower scale are all the European investments together which amount to about $25,000,000 in all. One single European nation has not enough to interfere in Mexico. Japan has not any investments to speak of.

I would like to know the source of ammunition of Villa and Carranza? Wilmington and Bridgeport. Even while our men were on their way down to Mexico trainloads of ammunition were being shipped to Mexico, some of it in milk cans and some in hay. Villa was getting all the ammunition he needed.

The music of the afternoon was under the direction of Mrs. Elliot H. Robinson.

The next meeting of the Forum will be held next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, when Mr. Lynn Haines will speak on "The Searchlight on Congress."

CHESTNUT HILL FIRE

Early Monday morning a maid discovered a lively blaze in the basement of the home of Mr. Francis W. Lee, on Hammond street, Chestnut Hill. The maid was awakened by smoke and her warning cries aroused other servants and the members of the family, who left their beds and groped their way to safety.

The fire started in a rubbish barrel in the cellar, probably from spontaneous combustion. It worked its way to the first floor in several places and also melted away the connections of the gas meter so that, until the gas was turned off outside the house, the flames menaced the firemen. The damage is estimated at more than $1000.

Cottrell, the expert employed to investigate certain departments.

On report of committees, D. F. Burke, Boyd street, and Maria L. Abbott Clafin place were refused permits for multiple garages and pole locations were authorized on Warren avenue. Hawthorne avenue and Nonantum street and underground in Watertown street.

Various permits to use private garages were granted.

The order for city election was amended to provide for a referendum on matter of granting firemen's pensions, and after the returns of the state election had been signed the board adjourned at 8.15 P. M.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

Play Given Under Auspices of The John Boyle O'Reilly Literary Association a Great Success.

With every seat in the theatre taken and standing room at a premium one hour before the curtain rose, the performance of "Irish Hearts" at the Newton Opera House last Sunday evening received a reception that will long be remembered in this vicinity.

From the first scene with the kindly old Mrs. Gilmore sitting by the fire-side listening to the beautiful violin playing of young "Alice Gorman" to the last scene of the play when the old lady dozes before the fire and dreams in happiness of her good fortune, the audience were kept on edge either with laughter or tears.

The story is most appealing and holds the interest all during the play. It is a story of the spirit of Ireland today, and is full of dramatic and exciting climaxes. The music stimulates the interest and gives a most agreeable contrast. The good old songs are brought in in the most natural way and seem to be composed for just that particular experience.

The soloists received a reception that must be gratifying to Mr. Rattigan, the author of "Irish Hearts."

Miss O'Connell, as Mrs. Gilmore, showed ability of the great singer and actress that she is. Possessing one of the most beautiful contralto voices in America, she charmed the audience with her wonderful talent.

Miss Louise Sullivan as "Alice Gorman" was the true Irish "Colleen" and sang and acted with grace and intelligence. Her violin playing gave the opening an atmosphere that held during the entire play.

Daniel Hannigan as "Jerry" was a scream throughout the evening. He showed great ability as an actor and never felt it necessary to resort to "horse play."

Miss Hortense Creede as "Mrs. Blake" showed her professional training as an actress by her care in always keeping within the character. Her scene with the recruiting sergeant was compelling and held the attention so you could hear a pin drop. This scene is among the biggest of modern war play offerings, and needed an actress of Miss Creede's ability to read the effective lines.

Mr. Rattigan took the part of "Larry" and showed unusual ability as an actor of emotion. As a singer his reputation is so well known that we need not dwell on his abilities. Many people have compared Mr. Rattigan's voice and ballad singing favorably to that of John McCormick's. Surely last Sunday his scene with his mother could not be made more effective by any singer or actor on the professional stage today.

All the parts were taken by a competent and able company, including John Maloney, Peter White, John Black, Henry Rattigan, James Kelly and J. P. Rattigan.

The play is to be repeated on Thanksgiving Eve and Thanksgiving Night at the Pequotette Hall in Watertown. The entire house is almost sold out for both dates.

BOARD OF TRADE

The November meeting of the Newton Board of Trade was held at Newville Monday evening with a good attendance of members and guests.

There was a brief business session at which President W. J. Cozens appointed the following committee to nominate officers for the ensuing year: Messrs. M. P. McKinnon, chairman; J. W. Murphy, Chas. H. Milliken, C. H. Spring, George G. Sherman, Herbert S. Rogers and W. B. Wolcott.

Representative George P. Drury of Waltham was the guest of the evening and gave an interesting address on "The Income Tax."

WRESTLING BOUT

Considerable interest is being taken in the Wrestling Bout to take place tomorrow evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium between Newton and Boston. The local wrestlers are Carlson, light heavy weight class, Nelson, Gagne, Corbett and Blakemore, welter weight class and Thomas and Read, light weight class. Boston will bring a strong team but the Newton men expect to be able to hold them.

BIRTHDAY TEA

Mrs. J. E. Smith of Newton Centre opened her residence on Summer street last week on Thursday afternoon for a Birthday Tea for the benefit of the Newton South Allies Relief Association.

The rooms were decorated most attractively for the occasion with silken American flags and the flags of the Allies.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Smith were Mrs. Guilford M. Stuart, the president of the Association, and Mrs. Seward W. Jones, one of the vice-presidents.

In the reception room and living-room yellow chrysanthemums were used in pleasing arrangement and in the dining-room where refreshments were served a huge birthday cake, surrounded by flags of the Allies centered the table. The pourers were Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Mrs. James Liddell, Mrs. T. D. Kidder and Mrs. George A. Burdett.

Punch was served in the library by Mrs. G. H. Noonan, Mrs. A. E. Alvord, and Mrs. Morton C. Tuttle.

The ushers included Mrs. W. R. Holt, Mrs. H. J. Ide and Mrs. F. S. Woods.

An interesting feature was an exhibition in the reception room, of the different kinds of work done by the Association. The entire room was devoted to the display, which included surgical dressings, bandages, comfort pillows, etc., with explanations of how they were made and used, by Mrs. Henry E. Williams, secretary of the Association.

Mrs. Williams was assisted by Miss Isabel Ingram. An old-fashioned Oriental Alms Basin was placed in the hall, into which each of the guests dropped a silver coin, in order to help the Association to continue its relief work.

The affair was delightfully social and there were about 150 guests present.

UNDER OBSERVATION

Irving E. Olmstead of Omar terrace, Newtonville, awaiting trial for murder, has been committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for observation, by order of Judge White, in the Superior Criminal Court. This action was taken at the direction of District Attorney Pelletier, following an examination of Olmstead, at the Charles-street jail, by Doctors John C. Rogers and Charles E. O'Brien. Olmstead had been acting in a peculiar manner. To the doctors he admitted having used much liquor in the past four years, admitted and explained some peculiarities attributed to him and denied others. Last March Olmstead shot and killed Mrs. Violet C. Moors, a Winter-street manicurist, with whom he was said to have been infatuated. He is married and has several children.

We announced a few weeks ago the formation of a new firm, the Doane-Gassett Co., Inc., Optometrists & Optical, 59 Temple Place. Realizing the importance of accuracy in their work they have installed a wonderful new instrument, perfected from a recent invention which measures with positive accuracy the strength and character of eyeglass lenses. It is the first and only one of its kind in New England. By means of this instrument all lenses when completed in their laboratory are analyzed to see that they correspond to formulae thus eliminating all chance of imperfect grinding.

LIFE

Life is simply a matter of concentration. You are what you set out to be. The things you read today are the things you become tomorrow. You are a composite of the things you say, the books you read, the thoughts you think, the company you keep and the things you aspire to become. Time is your only asset. Each moment is a golden treasure and the way you spend it shapes your life.—Exchange.

CHANNING ALLIANCE

A large number of members and a few guests from neighboring Alliance branches listened with great pleasure to the Interpretative Reading of Shakespeare's "Tempest" by Rev. Harry Lutz at the meeting of Channing Alliance on Tuesday afternoon. The singing of Shakespeare songs by the Alliance choir assisted by Mrs. Arthur S. Plinn and Mrs. Miriam Hobart Stearns, gave a finishing touch to the program and was greatly enjoyed by everyone. The full chorus rendered two selections from "As You Like It"; "Blow, thou Winter Winds," and "It was a lover and his lass." Mrs. MacMillan rendered, "Who is Sylvia," from "Two Gentlemen of Verona," and Mrs. MacMillan and Mrs. Plinn, the duet, "I know a bank where the wild thyme grows," from "Mid-Summer Night's Dream." During the business meeting, which preceded the program, Miss Jessie M. Fisher gave a report of the recent New England Associate Alliance meeting. Tea was served at the close. Mrs. H. C. Hardon and Mrs. F. B. Hornbroke presiding over the tea table.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER

Mr. Harry C. Johnson of Newton Highlands, who has won the championship of the state in tennis singles and doubles, was the guest of honor last week Thursday evening at a dinner tendered him by Newton Highlands friends at the Brae Burn Country Club. The guests also included national tennis champion R. N. Williams, President Sheafe, Secretary Presbrey and Treasurer Bishop of the Longwood Cricket Club, Mayor Childs and former golf champion, Francis Ouimet. Representative J. Weston Allen presided and there was an interesting program of music and "stunts" by Mr. Johnson. The challenge bowls were an important part of the decorations. Mr. Johnson was presented with a scarf pin as a souvenir of the occasion.

The affair was in the hands of a capable committee of Messrs. Frank E. P. Levi, Charles W. Mercer, Arthur R. Logan, Frank L. Richardson, Albert H. Elder, Seward G. Johnson and Eliot H. Robinson.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The five-year old son of a minister in the Middle West on being given his penny for Sunday School asked for a second. When his mother questioned his reason, he replied, "Don't you know everything is going up?" In these times of stress even the children are learning the meaning of the economic laws of supply and demand, which some of us older ones did not discover until our college days. It is the fast climbing prices which have necessitated the increased dues of the State Federation. Where formerly it was possible—and not so many years ago either—to get the Manual for $100, this year's cost $500. Any one who has had anything to do with printing knows the very serious conditions of the paper market and the consequent high prices. The same thing is true of almost everything else. The vote to increase the dues taken at the recent meeting of the State Federation at Franklin does not become operative until next year. In order to help out the stringency of this year, a motion was passed that the clubs be asked to make a free-will offering. Many clubs are responding generously, but a rumor is abroad that certain others, as a protest against the Federation's having run behind, are not going to contribute. If there are any such, they will not think a second time and realize that probably the two-cent stamp is the only thing in connection with Federation work that has not gone up in price, though the use of them has surely increased. (Let us hope that "Uncle Sam" will be kindly disposed and not fall into line.) The present shortage in the treasury is largely due to the condition of the times, rather than to mismanagement. Let us be loyal to the Federation and to those who are doing a work second to none in the club world, and give them the support they need. We can not get the best ones to do it, unless we back them up with the necessary where-with-all.

The next meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club will be held on November 21st, in the Methodist Parish House, and will be in charge of the Home Economics Committee. Mrs. Mary Schenck Woolman will speak on "The Ethics of Shopping." Mrs. Woolman is an authority on the industrial arts. A writer and lecturer on social, economic and educational subjects she has held many important positions, among them that of President of the Woman's Educational and Industrial Union and head of the Household Economics Department of Simmons College in 1913. There will be music by Mr. W. J. Spaulding with Mrs. Spaulding at the piano. A few more names are wanted for the Current Events class to be taught by Miss Margaret Rand of Lasell Seminary. The class will probably meet on Friday afternoons. A beginner's class in Shakespeare is offered, teacher Mrs. William Fuller. The time of meeting will be arranged to suit the members of the class. Send names or inquiries to Mrs. Harry Deal.

Extensive preparations are being made for the Bazaar to be held in Norumbega Hall on December 6th for the benefit of the Club House fund. Articles novel, useful and beautiful, as well as foods will be on sale. Tea will be served from three until five and in the evening a one act play will be given followed by dancing.

The Education Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club invites every member of the community to meet very informally the new principal of the Auburndale public schools, Mr. William Leighton and his wife, on Thursday evening, November 23rd, from eight to ten o'clock at Burr School Hall. Music, fancy dancing and recitations will be rendered at intervals during the evening. Light refreshments will be served. A large attendance is desired.

On Tuesday Nov. 21, at 2.30, a lecture in Mason School hall by Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait on "The Effect of Posture upon Health" is announced by the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

The Social Science Club will consider "France and England in the New World" under the leadership of Mrs. J. W. Woodbridge at its meeting on Wednesday morning. Mrs. Loren D. Towle opens her home on Franklin street on Thursday from four to six for the annual "At Home" of the club.

Hear Mr. Taft on Thursday evening, Nov. 23, at 8 o'clock, at the Congregational Church, Newtonville, and learn what he has to say on "Our World Relations." The lecture is given under the auspices of the Newtonville Woman's Guild and tickets may be secured from Mrs. G. H. Talbot.

The Newton Ladies Home Circle will hold its usual Fall Sale on November 24, in Society Hall, Auburndale. A tempting array of home cooked foods and candy, fine aprons, delicatessen, dainties, ice cream and cake, cafeteria lunch, mystery table. Doors open at 11 A. M.

Local Happenings

At the regular meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, in charge of the Civic Committee, on Friday, November 10, Mr. Philip Davis of Boston spoke on "The Civic Side of the Question of National Policy." The many helpful bills adopted during the recent administration were pointed out and explained, and those privileged to hear Mr. Davis felt that a very interesting and profitable afternoon had been spent.

The Travel Class met on Monday with Mrs. Emma Dimond. An extremely interesting paper, which gave evidence of much research work by the writer Mrs. A. L. Jordan, was read, her subject being, "Indian Art and Music." Mrs. Lee Woolston told of some of the wonders of New York City.

Local Announcements

Mrs. F. H. Stratton will be the hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club at her home, 15 Glenmore terrace, tomorrow afternoon.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. meets with Mrs. Philip S. Sweetser, 126 Moffatt road, Waban, when Mrs. W. S. Richards will have charge of the work.

On Monday, Nov. 20, the Christian Era Study Club will meet with Mrs. Wells Tyler of Maple terrace.

The Waban Woman's Club on Nov. 20, will be entertained by Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers, D.D., who will read "Coward's Castles." Mrs. William H. Oakes, 100 Upland road, will be the hostess.

Miss Heloise E. Hersey will address the Newtonville Woman's Guild at its meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 21, on "The Educated Woman of Tomorrow." Exhibition of the Needlework Guild.

On Tuesday, November 21st, the annual fair of the West Newton Women's Educational club will be held in Play-ers Small Hall. Supper will be served at seven o'clock, and during the afternoon and evening home made food, cakes and candies will be for sale, together with many novel and useful articles. A cordial welcome is extended to everyone.

The Newton Highlands Monday Club met with Miss Amanda Webster on November 13. After a short business session, the topic for the afternoon, "Romeo and Juliet," was taken up. Mrs. G. A. Bushe read a paper on "The Scope of the Plot," and Miss Hazel Hall of the Emerson School oratory, read the balcony, garden and potion scenes, in a manner that touched the hearts of every one. In spite of its familiarity, the pathos of the love tragedy became very real, and we could but feel that truly "He jests at scars, who never felt the wound," and that "the star-crossed lovers do die by their death bury the parent's strife."

After spending a month in the study of Shakespeare the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. turned this week to a consideration of "Democracy." Mrs. J. F. C. Hyde was the hostess and Mrs. Fred Hayward, the chairman of the day. Mrs. Hayward gave a brief account of the early history of Switzerland and described its growth from a number of separate cantons into the present union of states, showing how they have been able in spite of many different languages, races and creeds to bring about a compact federation. The chairman also gave a brief sketch of the rise of democracy in England.

On Wednesday morning at the meeting of the Social Science Club Mrs. Clarence C. Smith opened the study of Colonization with an exhaustive paper on "The Pioneers: Spain and Portugal." Mrs. Smith set forth the conditions in Spain from early times, which led to the voyages of discovery and the early settlement upon the American continent. She told something of the history of each of the colonies and pointed out the conditions which led them, one by one, to break away from the mother country. In summing up the policy of Spain toward her colonies she quoted Lord Bryce as saying that it was the most ill-conceived, and ill-administered scheme of government that selfishness and stupidity ever combined to devise.

Portugal's part in colonization was taken up similarly. The desire on the part of the Portuguese for quick wealth led them to treat their subjects with more kindness than did Spain. The slave traffic, however, is the great blot upon Portugal. The colonial policy of Portugal is still in the making and its possessions are second only to those of France and England, now that Germany has lost hers.

The Review Club met on Tuesday, Nov. 14th, at the home of Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles, 387 Central street. Mrs. Almy was chairman of the morning and gave a sketch of the Russian writer Gogol, telling of the Serf system and then reading from his "Dead Souls." Miss Ruggles sang a song by Rubenstein, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ruggles. Miss Smith gave a resume of the life of Pushkin and read from his works, both poetry and prose. A little Russian boy of twelve years, Morris Zam, then sang two songs with much feeling.

Mrs. Ruggles told facts about Ler-montoff, another Russian writer, who died at the early age of twenty-six, and read from his poem, "The Demon." A duet by Mrs. Ruggles and Miss Ruggles, Rubenstein's "Angel," was then enjoyed, followed by a song in Yiddish and one in Russian by Morris Zam.

On Thursday, November 16th the Newton Centre Woman's Club presented "The Twig of Thorn" by Marie Josephine Warren, to an enthusiastic audience. Dramatics are a new feature on the club program, and Mrs. Ernest F. Russ, the director, is to be congratulated on the results of her work.

The mystic atmosphere of the Irish peasant's home was created in the first scene and was admirably sustained throughout, being accentuated rather than broken by the advent of the jolly, if rather shy, neighbors. Though Allee was the most charming poet in the world, sympathy was with Onah in her choice of the simple and boyish Aengus for a husband.

The cast includes Priscilla Ordway, Dorothy Taylor, Eleanor Widger, Harriet Sweeney, Virginia Parker, Sylvia S. Burdett, Mabel Mason, Eleanor La Bonte, Esther C. Pratt, Elizabeth M. Burdett, Mrs. Howard H. Tucker, Helen M. Copeland, Marjorie Taylor. The chairman of Dramatics was Mrs. Ernest F. Russ, the musical director, Mary F. Curtiss, stage manager, Mrs. H. H. Tucker, coach, Priscilla Ordway, and the scenery was painted by Anita Butts.

The regular meeting of the Newton Woman's Club was held Thursday afternoon, Nov. 16th, at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Nagle, 83 Kirkstall road, Newtonville. Miss Marjorie Connor of the Leland Powers School gave a most enjoyable programme of readings.

A delightful social hour followed and dainty refreshments were served. The Club will give an Auction Bridge and Whist, Nov. 30th at the home of Mrs. Robert Douglass, 278 Walnut St., Newtonville.

COOPER-SCOTT

A charming home wedding took place Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Charles Fred Scott of Webster street, West Newton, when her daughter, Miss Annie Elizabeth Scott became the bride of Mr. Clifford Clarence Cooper of Weston.

The rooms were very attractively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and palms, the wedding color scheme being yellow. The bride and groom stood in an alcove in the living room arranged with background of palms and chrysanthemums.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Harry Beal, rector of the Church of the Messiah. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William Scott of West Newton and wore a beautiful wedding gown of white crepe metete, tulle veil fastened with a spray of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lillian Scott as maid of honor who was becomingly gowned in white point d'esprit trimmed with yellow and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Richard Barton Capstick of Auburndale as best man. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper left on a wedding trip thru the Berkshires and on their return will reside at Weston.

They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts including silver and cut glass. About 100 guests were present from Boston, Weston and the Newtons.

LODGES

An enjoyable organ recital was given Wednesday evening by Dal-housie. Members of Dalhousie lodge of Masons and their ladies enjoyed an organ recital and musical entertainment Wednesday evening at the lodge rooms at Newtonville, following the usual meeting of the lodge. Mr. Marshall S. Bidwell of Great Barrington was the organist and he was assisted by a vocalist and a violinist. The program was followed by refreshments and dancing.

—The old Hunter estate on Walnut street recently bought by Mr. B. W. Godsoe of Erie avenue is being improved, the home having been demolished and a new up-to-date residence is to be built on the old site.

CONNERS—HEALEY
A wedding of interest took place Tuesday evening at the Church of Our Lady, Newton, when Miss Frances E. Healey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Healey of Newton, was united in marriage to Mr. William J. Conners of Cherry street, West Newton.

—The ceremony was performed at five o'clock by Rev. Father Lawrence W. Slattery, pastor of the church. The bride wore a wedding gown of white champagne trimmed with silver lace. Her veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride roses.

—The bride was attended by Miss Gertrude Kean of Worcester as bridesmaid, who was gowned in coral chamoise and carried a bouquet of Richmond roses. The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. John P. Conners, his brother, as best man. The bridegroom is a letter carrier at the Auburndale Post Office. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the bride's home.

—On their return from a wedding trip to New York, Niagara Falls and New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Conners will reside at 47 Clinton street, Newton.

Newton

—Mr. Herbert S. Lee has moved into the Bacon house at 15 Arundel terrace.

—Miss Mildred Clark of Claremont street is spending a week in New York.

—Mrs. Della Clogg and daughter have moved into the house at 35 Maple avenue.

—Dr. Jackson of Park avenue has leased the Hill house on Hunnewell terrace.

—Telephone MacLean, 725 or 2554-M North, for anything in the carpenter line.

—Mr. Daniel L. Smith of Watertown has moved into the Bond house at 58 Nonantum street.

—Mr. Freelan Oscar Stanley of Waverley avenue returned Saturday from Estes Park, his summer home in Colorado.

—Mr. Sydney Harwood has been elected a director of the New England Trust Company, the oldest Trust Company in Boston.

—At the annual meeting of the Home Market Club Messrs. Charles E. Riley and Frank Hopewell of this village were re-elected vice-presidents.

—Mr. Grace of the Y. M. C. A. told the story of "No-Heart" at the meeting of the Young People's Christian Association, on Sunday afternoon in Eliot Church.

—Mrs. James S. Norris entertained the members of the Home Department of the Methodist Sunday School on Thursday afternoon at her home on Church street.

—On four successive Monday evenings, beginning November 20th, Mr. Sayford will give four lectures on "Personal Work," at Eliot Church. Other churches will join in these meetings.

—"The Twentieth Century Man's Attitude toward His Own Children," will be the subject of Mr. Bailey's address at the meeting of the Men's League next Sunday at Immanuel Baptist Church.

—"Just What is a Revival For?" will be the subject of a discussion at the church Prayer Meeting this evening in Immanuel Church. The meeting will begin at 7.45. The Young People's Chorus will rehearse at 8.45.

—"The Making of 'Billy' Sunday," was the subject of an interesting address by Mr. Fred S. Retan of West Newton, at the Campaign Rally on Sunday evening at the Methodist Church. Miss Grace B. Leonard, contralto, was the soloist.

—The Missionary Societies of the Methodist Church held a meeting under the direction of Miss Alice E. Perkins on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Henry O. Marcy, Jr., on Sargent street. Mrs. Vernon B. Swett read a very interesting paper on "War and the Kingdom."

—The Newton Improvement Association has arranged to hold a public meeting next Thursday evening in the lecture room at the Library on the proposal to make Centre place a one way street and to improve the approaches to the Newton station. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

—The Camp Fire Girls of Eliot Church meet Monday afternoons at three o'clock at the homes of the members. The Helpers meet at the chapel on the first and third Fridays of each month at 3.45 in the afternoon. Home and Foreign Missionary topics alternate in the interesting program of the year.

—The Woman's Association of Eliot Church will hold a meeting Tuesday morning in the church parlors. Miss Caroline M. Caswell of the Frances Willard Settlement will speak at 11 o'clock on "Social Betterment." The sewing meeting will be held at 9.30. At 12.30 a Basket Luncheon will be served.

—Mr. and Mrs. William F. Plant have returned to their Totton street residence after a six month's stay at "Tanglewood," their beautiful summer home at Mirror Lake, N. H. The family left Wolfboro Sunday in two motor-cars, in the midst of a raging snow storm, and after a short visit with relatives in Manchester, proceeded on their way to Newton, arriving on Tuesday.

—The city water in this section of the city was in bad shape last Sunday, due to two minor accidents which took place Saturday afternoon in Newton Centre. The accidents caused the water to reach this part of the city thru smaller mains than usual and the force was so strong as to stir up the sediment on the inside of the pipes. The water department relieved the situation somewhat by opening up a number of hydrants.

—The Senior and Adult Departments of the Eliot Bible School are to enable every adult in the congregation to study in a congenial group, what the Bible really does say as to our relation to God and our obligations to our fellow men. To do this the following classes are now organized with studies to suit each group, with the following group leaders: High School and Younger Business Men, Mr. T. R. Lockwood, Mr. E. L. Bacon, and Mr. C. D. Kepner, Jr. College and Younger Business Men, Professor W. K. Lewis. Men of all ages and occupations, the pastor, Rev. H. Grant Person. Leader for Young Women, Miss Emma Walker. Mixed Class, Mr. C. S. Ensign, leader. A cordial invitation awaits you as visitor or member in any of these classes. The superintendents or Teachers will gladly take you to any class if you go to the chapel at the end of the morning service.

"HIP HIP HOORAY"

Charles Dillingham's unique experiment of reproducing upon another stage—the Boston Opera House, Boston—New York Hippodrome spectacle in its entirety has proved an unqualified success. The managerial audacity of transporting to Boston the hundreds of persons and the dozen car-loads of scenery and effects who (and which) are part of the "Hip Hip Hooraay" production—to say nothing of rebuilding a stage for the accommodation of an expensive refrigeration plant necessary for the creation of a lake of ice—is being fittingly rewarded. Theatregoers of Boston and surrounding communities, convinced that here is an instance of the keeping of a promise made in advance—the promise to give in its every essential detail the entertainment which was the most sensational theatrical success of many seasons in New York—are flocking to the Boston Opera House in numbers that never before have responded to the lure of an indoor attraction. Two performances of "Hip Hip Hooraay" are given daily, and the matinee crowds are as great as those which assemble at night.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Lew Fields is coming to the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next Monday evening (Nov. 20), for a limited engagement. His new musical comedy, "Step This Way," which has to its credit a very successful New York and Chicago run. That Lew Fields, of the dialect comedians, should have survived the process of elimination as it were, and still retain his brilliancy as a star, speaks volumes for his genius. He alone still heads his own organization season after season, and his return to Boston in his new funny musical comedy should call forth his army of admirers. In the role of "Henry Schniff" Lew Fields has a character such as he delights to portray, and one in which his followers like to see him. As the comedian says, he is a "multiplied millionaire," and having risen from poverty to affluence at a bound, it wrenches his heart and purse strings to have his extravagant wife throw his money to the winds, as it were. Alice Fischer, in the opposite role to Lew Fields, is said to bring all of her splendid abilities as a comedienne to this scene, and the mirth-provoking results attained may well be imagined.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Although the performance of "Very Good Eddie" at the Plymouth Theatre on Monday night marked the beginning of the 14th week of this merry musical farce in Boston, the audience displayed all the enthusiasm of an opening night. This speaks well for this joyous piece which had been charming Boston for nearly four months at the Wilbur, and which was moved over to the Plymouth because the demand for seats was so strong the management did not have the heart to take the attraction out of town. The Wilbur Theatre would have been glad to continue "Very Good Eddie," but it had signed contracts for another attraction early in the season and was compelled to let this musical hit depart. However, Boston will have an opportunity for three more weeks to revel in the songs and humor of this merry piece, but at the end of that time "Eddie" must proceed to Philadelphia, which has not yet seen this melodious frolic.

WILBUR THEATRE—That most delightful comedy, "The Cinderella Man," was one of the charms of the past New York season, where it played continually from January till June at the Hudson Theatre. It is now playing its first week in Boston, presented by Oliver Morosco, the producer of "Peg 'O My Heart" and the trail of popularity where "Peg 'O My Heart" left off and still remains the delight of all who see it. The charming comedy written by Edward Childs Carpenter, will continue to be the attraction at the Wilbur Theatre the 2nd week beginning Monday, Nov. 20th. Being typically American it has the two great national characteristics—imagination and humor. The story tells of Marjorie Caner, who has lost her mother; she has never seen her father as her parents were separated when she was a baby and she has been reared abroad under her mother's care.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Gus Hill's Follies" will come to the Castle Square next week. It is one of the rare concoctions of melody, song, travesty, satire, farce, surprise and pretension entirely different from anything attempted in a theatrical way in many seasons. Forty people are employed with thirty in the chorus. Twelve changes of scenery are necessary. In the cast will be found Ross Snow, Henrietta Bryon and Maud Earl.

LECTURES ON VENICE

Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb of Boylston Street, Newton Upper Falls, was the speaker at the meeting of the Boston Scientific Society on Tuesday evening at its hall on Copley Square, Boston. The lecture was the first presentation of a new one, "Venice, and her Treasures," the result of personal observation of the speaker in the celebrated Italian city, which embraces the scientific as well as the artistic. The various professions in which Miss Cobb has engaged fit her admirably for keen and diverse observation since they include natural history, mathematics, photography together with most excellent schooling in the arts. The paper was illustrated with lantern views, many of which are from Miss Cobb's own cameras.

READ FUND LECTURE

The second Read Fund lecture for the present season was given in Bigelow school hall on Monday evening by Mr. H. W. Gleason, who gave an interesting account of Luther Burbank and his marvellous work in the plant world. Next Monday evening, Mr. Park Pressey will give an illustrated talk on "Historic Homes of New England and their architecture." These lectures are free to the public after 7.30 o'clock.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular assembly of the upper classes was held in the hall Wednesday morning. After the usual devotional exercises, the students were addressed by Dr. Guy M. Winslow, principal of Lasell Seminary, and Alderman of Ward 4. The purpose of Dr. Winslow's talk was to explain the new Preferential Ballot. He showed the differences between this method and the older forms, and pointed out the most important advantages in the use of the new ballot.

The first issue of the "Review" was published Thursday, November 9. Nearly five hundred subscriptions have now been received from the school. There is a close contest between several of the rooms, for the honor of having the largest number of subscriptions.

The cross-country candidates have been called out, and are holding regular workouts in preparation for the track season.

Girls' field hockey has been progressing regularly at Cabot Park since the first week of school. Both the school and the class teams have been chosen, and the lists have been posted in the corridor. Miss Fisher, captain of the school team, has announced the following schedule:

November 15, Arlington High.
November 18, Miss Bouve's School.
November 25, Wheaton College, at Wheaton.
December 1, Alumnæe.
Wednesday afternoon the Newton High School Girls' Hockey Team won a 3 to 2 victory over the Arlington High School team at Cabot Park. The visitors, although reported as being an exceedingly strong combination, proved inferior to Newton both in team play and in individual ability. Captain Fisher, Miss Perkins, and Miss Gruener played well for the home team. Miss Gruener scored two of Newton's three goals.

Summaries of the school football team have suggested many reasons for Newton's failure to defeat Waltham in the annual game last Saturday. It is true that the luck favored the Waltham team throughout most of the contest. The fact remains, however, that the Newton boys outplayed their rivals in all departments throughout the entire game, and still failed to win a victory. This would seem to indicate that the winning spirit was lacking in the orange and black combination. The Newton eleven showed great superiority over Waltham at all times, but apparently lacked that steadiness at critical moments which is part of the make-up of any great team. Some satisfaction may be gained from the fact that the game has proven to be the Newton football followers' full value of Captain Garrity. This great player was in every play throughout the contest, and carried the ball successfully in times of need. It was his wonderful effort in the last period which saved Newton from a defeat.

The Newton eleven will play its second Quadrangular League game at Cambridge this afternoon against the Cambridge Latin team. The Cambridge eleven is made up of heavy material, but inferior coaching has hindered its development. The real fight in the league will be between Newton and Brookline.

Next Wednesday afternoon the last important game of the season will be played at Clavin Field, where the Boston team will oppose Newton. The Boston boys have played good football this season, and should provide a much closer contest than Cambridge.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

At a special meeting of the Junior Class Wednesday morning, the report of the nominating committee was made. The class officers will be elected by Australian Ballot next week. "Bird of Paradise" will be the first number of the "Stargazer" will be issued about the last of next week. There will be six issues during the school year.

At a meeting of the Athletic Committee last Wednesday, a very important addition was made to the rules. This regulation limits each athlete to one "N" sweater during the year, regardless of the number of sports in which he participates. This rule will apply to pupils of all three schools.

Room 109 has challenged the boys of Room 111 to a football game, which will be played next week. The students of the entire school are eagerly looking forward to the contest.

DEATH OF MRS. ELDRIDGE

Mrs. Alice Tillinghast Eldridge, wife of Mr. George Dyre Eldridge, died at her residence at Waban, early Wednesday morning. Mrs. Eldridge was born at Wilmington, Ohio, in January, 1838. Her mother being of the Strickland family, who were among the earliest settlers in what is now Clinton County, Ohio. Her father was a descendant of Pardon Tillinghast, of Rhode Island, who was himself a descendant of one of Cromwell's associates. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge were married at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, where they had both been students. From 1876 to 1886 Mrs. Eldridge was a resident of Newton Highlands, where she took an active part in the organization of the Parish of St. Paul's. Since then she had lived in Washington, D. C., and at Riverdale-on-Hudson, New York City, until the family returned to Newton in 1912, and became residents of Waban. She was a communicant of the Episcopal Church, a Daughter of the American Revolution, and at all times an active supporter of the cause of Equal Suffrage. Her husband, a son and a daughter and two grandchildren survive her.

The Lauriat Company has started in early this year to cater to those who find holiday shopping in November much more profitable and in every way satisfactory than that done in December. The usual conditions are accentuated this year from the fact that Thanksgiving comes very late—there being practically but three weeks between the two holidays. Realizing this, their store is now in readiness to care for holiday book buyers much better than they can hope to do in December. Incidentally, many exceptional values in books suitable as gifts may be secured now that cannot be had next month on account of a limited number available.

D. A. R.

The November meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton was held at the residence of Mrs. Frank Sherman, West Newton, on Monday afternoon, November thirteenth. The hostesses were Mrs. Frank Sherman, Mrs. Frederick S. Sherman, Mrs. Henry Whitmore and Mrs. Charles A. Wyman.

The meeting was called to order at three o'clock. In the absence of the regent, the vice-regent, Miss Lucy Allen, presided.

It was voted to give $10 to the American Supply League, this money to be used for care of infantile paralysis patients. It was also voted to give $50 to the Martha Berry School.

Mrs. Francis Newhall reported on the outing which the Chapter held in September at Duxbury as guests at the summer home of the treasurer, Mrs. Sherman.

Mrs. Meserve made announcement of a patriotic chapel meeting to be held at King's Chapel, Monday morning at half past ten, November 20th by members of the D. A. R. from all parts of the state.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter with the Watertown and Waltham Chapters will entertain at D. A. R. headquarters on Monday afternoon, November 20th.

Miss Allen introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. Edgar Yates of Boston who gave a most interesting paper on the "Witchery of Ancestry." After singing "America" the usual social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

SEARCHLIGHT ON CONGRESS

Interesting Address at Meeting of Newton South Community Forum

The second meeting of the Newton South Community Forum was held Sunday afternoon at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands and attracted a large and representative audience.

Mr. Fred I. Brown presided and the musical program included two solos by Mr. Elliot H. Robinson.

Mr. Lynn Haines, secretary of the National Voters League gave a most interesting address on the subject—"The Searchlight on Congress."

Mr. Haines said in part—

It required ten years of hard study without any outside distractions for me to discover two facts that the Government is the most fundamental element in life for us all and that laws, more than labor determine how each one of us shall prosper and that Government means more in dollars and cents than anything else. Politics is the gateway to everything that Government has to offer or to withhold from the people today. Any advance and any vital change in Government is possible only through Government. Mr. Plunket was right when he said the party in control insist upon all the patronage because there isn't enough to go round. This next house of representatives is almost wholly a matter of patronage. There is involved in dollars and cents one million dollars and that means, reduced to practical politics, that two hundred and twenty members will have at their disposal, each of them five thousand dollars as a total for re-election. The Senate, the upper body (sometimes I wonder why we use the word upper in speaking of the Senate, possibly in the same way we speak of an upper berth) has just as much of this political plunder with less than one fourth as many to share in it. A committee includes three clerks and last year one of the chairmen asked the Senate for another clerk, which of course was unnecessary. There are fifty-nine committees in the house and fully three-fourths are not any use, all these men have their personal political work done at public expense. The house has about 435 members and of that number fully 400 are absolute figure heads. Parliamentary conditions today are even more unspeakable than they were during Cannon's time as speaker. The average member is compelled to substitute politics for public service. The free seeds that are sent out by Congressmen seems incredible. The only thing about flower seeds is that some people think they are for the garden and not for votes. Last spring one of the Congressmen sent out the usual allotment of seeds and one voter wrote back and asked how to grow Wistaria on a fire-escape.

There has developed a new school of Congress. This has been organized during the last five years. The men who go there learn how to classify the voters and write them letters. It teaches them how to reach and hold each one of these groups and just how often to write and how to write. They also learn that it is a much better policy to write to voters after election rather than before or during election. If you receive a letter right after election you think, well here election is all over and my Congressman has not forgotten me. I know the man who started this new school of Congress and I know how he experimented writing letters and trying out his system for the new school. I heard him say once that he could take any man and keep him in Congress until the Lord called him above. The trouble with Congress is politics. This is the problem of the nation. The reconstruction of modern politics can only be brought about by three things: publicity, establishment of avenues of information and a program of the routine of the house so the public may know what the house is doing. Parliamentary reconstruction is the first thing that ought to be done. Another thing we want is the recognition and rights of new members. It takes six or seven years now before a new member can go far enough around the circle to get in the position where he has any real influence. Question. Does not the recognition

THE BRAE BURN CLUB

Is the Centre of Considerable Social Activity

Social activities at Brae Burn are in full swing, auction parties, luncheons, teas and dinner dances, all attracting their full quota of enthusiasts.

The House Committee, Messrs. W. B. H. Dowse, Harry L. Ayer, Frank B. Witherbee and Frank J. Hale, have sent out cards announcing a Club Dinner Dance on Tuesday evening the 28th. Dinner will be served from six until eight, dancing nine to eleven. Russell's Orchestra will furnish the music. For reservations telephone Newton West 680.

Mrs. John Q. A. Whittemore of Newton entertained at a Luncheon Bridge on Tuesday in the Ladies Parlor at Brae Burn. Her guests comprised members of the "Neighborhood Club," a bridge club composed of ladies of the summer colony at Buzzards Bay, which it has been Mrs. Whittemore's custom to entertain earlier in the season at "The Moorings," her summer home there. The floral decorations were yellow, and chrysanthemums were arranged with pleasing effect on the tables. The affair was most delightfully social and informal.

Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins of Sargent street, who is a house guest at Brae Burn, gave an auction bridge party Thursday afternoon in the Ladies Parlor.

Mrs. Edmund Winchester of Waban entertained at a luncheon bridge on Wednesday at the Club.

Among the many pleasant affairs of the past week was the dance given on Thursday evening by Miss Brackett of Brookline. The Garden Tea Room was decorated with palms and an orchestra was in attendance and furnished an up-to-date program. Sixty guests were present.

Mrs. J. Stuart Smith of Brookline entertained at a Luncheon Bridge on Monday at the Club.

More than sixty guests were present at the Invitation Subscription dance on Saturday evening given by Mrs. George W. Crampton and Mrs. Augustus T. Beatey of Newton Centre. The Garden Tea Room was attractively decorated for the occasion and a three piece orchestra furnished the music.

A special Thanksgiving Dinner will be served on Thursday for members and their guests.

A BUSINESS MANAGER

The Central Club Addressed by Mr. G. F. Willett of Norwood

The Central Club held a very successful and well attended meeting Monday evening in the parlors of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

Mr. George F. Willett gave an interesting and instructive address, and his subject was, "Concerning the Spirit: An application of Business Principles to Civic Affairs."

Mr. Willett, who is a wealthy and successful business man of Boston and Norwood, is a public spirited citizen, intensely interested in Civic affairs. In his discourse on, "The Business Manager in Civic Affairs," he described the present form of the government of Norwood, under which the town meeting elects five commissioners who serve without pay and who have general oversight over the carrying out of the town's policies. These commissioners appoint a business manager to spend the town's money.

The various city departments are under his management, and he is fully responsible for their economic and efficient management. The present plan has greatly reduced the Norwood tax-rate, has distributed the burden of taxation more equally and what Mr. Willett regarded as most important, has enabled the town to get full value for every dollar expended, thus helping to engender a true civic spirit in the public employees and the citizens, and making the latter willing to be taxed for the town's improvement.

Mr. Willett answered many questions in a most interesting way, and he is convinced that the "business manager plan" is even more worth while in large towns and cities than in small ones.

NEWTON BEATS CAMBRIDGE

The Newton High football eleven won its second game in the Quadrangular League last Friday when it defeated Cambridge Latin at North Cambridge by the score of 16 to 0. The victory is a most creditable one as the home team was far heavier than Newton. In the third period, a forward pass resulted in a touchdown and goal, followed almost immediately by another touchdown, and an unsuccessful try for a goal. Cannon also kicked a pretty field goal from the 27 yard line.

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST

Manifested in Newton-Brookline Game Next Thursday

The Newton High School football team will play the final game of the season on Thanksgiving morning, when it will battle with the powerful Brookline High School eleven at Clarendon Field. This game will settle the championship of the Quadrangular League. Both of these teams have defeated Cambridge Latin and Wellesley.

Newton's season has not been nearly as successful as many had hoped. Three successive defeats were received at the first of the season, before the candidates could be drilled into shape. The team then succeeded in winning all the following games, with the exception of the contest with Waltham, which was tied through Newton's fumbles.

On the other hand, Brookline has passed through one of the most successful years of the school history. The eleven is heavy, very fast, and exceedingly powerful. Brookline has not been defeated this season, and its goal-line has been crossed but once. This is by far the best team which Brookline has had in recent years.

Brookline overwhelmed both Cambridge and Wellesley by large scores, defeated Boston Latin in a close contest, and scored a brilliant victory over Waltham High. Newton found both Wellesley and Cambridge fairly easy opponents, and scored a decisive victory over the strong Boston Latin eleven last Wednesday, but was held to a tie score by Waltham.

Coach O'Brien of the Boston Latin team believes that Newton will defeat Brookline by a decisive score, provided that the orange and black plays in its recent form. In his opinion, Capt. Garrity is the best halfback in Greater Boston high schools.

Brookline High has not won a football championship from Newton since 1910. Also, within the memory of the present high-school students, Newton has never been defeated on Thanksgiving Day. For these reasons the Brookline boys will certainly make every effort to take full advantage of their unusually successful year. Newton, however, is a team which has not yet been seen in its best form, and will bear the closest watching next Thursday morning.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The publication of the first number of the "Dynamo" was delayed this week, but it is expected that the paper will be issued before next Friday.

Candidates for the school hockey team are now holding regular practice in the gymnasium on three afternoons of the week.

The Junior Class Election was held Monday morning. The following are the officers chosen: President, George Waters; Vice-President, Flora Spencer; Secretary, Lila Morrill; Treasurer, Tie between Theodore Colligan and Richard Keyes. Mr. Frank Spaight of London gave a reading of "Pickwick" in the Technical School Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

OPPOSE NEWTON CENTRE GARAGE

Strong Remonstrance at Meeting of Aldermen by Pelham Street Residents

Altho the aldermen held a meeting of less than an hour on Monday evening, there was time for residents of Newton Centre to enter a vigorous protest against granting a permit for a public garage on Pelham street in that village. The petitioner was Ralph W. Hazelton, who said that what he wanted was a permit for a multiple garage for 20 cars, to be backed by a repair shop. Dr. William P. Cooke and Mr. Arthur H. Stoddard appeared in favor of the petition, saying that there was business enough for another garage and that it should be conveniently located and conducted by a suitable person. The remonstrants included Messrs. Walter H. Thorpe, Henry H. Read, D. A. Ferguson, George F. Wales and Dr. C. H. Fessenden, who objected on account of the narrowness of the street, the proximity of many wooden buildings, the number of children residing and passing on the street and its detriment to the values of surrounding property. Written protests were also filed from Caroline L. Hill, Annie L. Murphy and a remonstrance said to be signed by every property owner on the street.

The petition of the United States Oil Co. to locate a 1000 gasoline tank at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street was opposed by Dr. N. E. Paine and Mr. R. B. Rogers. No one appeared on the laying of a sewer in Manet road, nor on application of T. H. Piser to keep 200 gallons of gasoline on Moffat road, both of which were subsequently granted.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations for $50 for pension to Thomas Leary, requests of the Library trustees for additional funds for automobile maintenance and care of building, of the Street Commissioner for $2200 additional for Sewer House Connections, and of the City Clerk for money to print report of Mr. E. A. Cottrell.

Petitions were received from G. C.

vallo for pool table on Elm street, of M. S. Perlmutter for auctioneer license, of H. A. McLean for auto truck, from Newtonville residents for taking under eminent domain of land corner of Watertown and Crafts streets, and for permits for various private garages.

On recommendation of committees, the mayor was authorized to petition the legislature for authority to retire members of the police and fire departments on account of age, and for continuation of the Faneuil boulevard to Maple street, and the City Solicitor was authorized to represent the city at meetings of legislative committees.

Alderman Murphy questioned the matter of retiring police and firemen, believing that the act should be permissive and not mandatory.

Orders were also passed for additional appropriations for Mothers Aid, Police Office expenses and for Street Dept. Maintenance of Teams, for relocation of telephone poles on Lowell avenue and for attachments for telephone company on Vernon and Bridge streets.

Alderman Clement questioned the advisability of spending $500 for printing the report of the expert employed to investigate the city departments, saying that his observation led him to the conclusion that printing a report of this nature was a waste of money.

Alderman Winslow said that the city had expended $1500 for this investigation and he believed it ought to have the report printed in order to get a dividend on its investment. The order was passed with Alderman Clement dissenting.

The purchase of land adjoining the Horace Mann school at a cost of $3600 was referred to the Public Works Committee.

In the absence of President Blanchard, Vice President Alley was in the chair and all the members were present except Aldermen Blanchard, Early, Harriman and Kendrick.

PASTOR'S RECEPTION

Social activities at the Church of the New Jerusalem opened Friday evening with the annual reception to the pastor, Rev. John Goddard and Mrs. Goddard and the assistant pastor, Rev. E. M. Lawrence Gould and Mrs. Gould. The church parlors were attractively decorated for the occasion, and a musical program was arranged which included solos by Miss Metelina Maxim, secretary of the Young People's League.

Mr. John Daboll sang a bass solo, "O Rest in the Lord," from Elijah, and both numbers were greatly enjoyed by those present.

Mr. Goddard spoke briefly of his impressions of the evangelist, Billy Sunday, and thinks he is most sincere in his work.

Mr. Gould spoke on the alterations in the church, and the special significance of the formation of the three levels of the chancel.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Eleanor Hooper.

ANNUAL SUPPER

The Vestry of the Newton Methodist Church presented a festive appearance Tuesday evening on the occasion of the Annual Supper of the Ferguson Club.

Three long tables arranged in the centre of the room, were decorated most effectively with pink and white, and vases of pink carnations surrounded with pink candles, were placed at each end of the tables.

A delicious supper was prepared, and served at half past six under the direction of Mrs. Frank O. Barber, Mrs. William T. Earle, Mrs. Catherine B. Webster and Mrs. W. M. Smith. The ladies were assisted by the following young men, who acted as servers, Mr. Leslie Russell, Mr. Frank Chivers, Mr. Lawrence Barber, and Mr. Albert Douglas.

Dr. John C. Ferguson was the guest of honor and after the supper Dr. Ferguson gave a farewell address as he leaves this week for China.

There were about fifty guests present.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Emory B. Fisher of Austin street, Newtonville, were happily surprised last Saturday, when friends called to congratulate them upon their 30th wedding anniversary.

Many friends unable to be with them made use of the telephone which was kept busy carrying loving greetings. The beautiful flowers that filled the rooms with fragrance, were but a slight token of the love and esteem with which both Mr. and Mrs. Fisher are held by a host of friends, not only in this city but in Cambridge, where they resided for many years.

While we are hearing a great deal nowadays about emotional Christianity, and theoretical Christianity, next Sunday is the time for Newton residents to show some practical Christianity by making generous contributions towards the support of the Newton Hospital. The service this hospital is rendering the citizens of Newton, every day and every hour, cannot be measured in dollars and cents, for when an accident or sickness touches one of those dear to us, we demand prompt, careful and efficient service. Don't forget your usual Thanksgiving offering to this splendid institution.

Alderman Clement is more than half right in his criticism of the lack of interest taken in the printed reports issued by our city officials. Mr. Cottrell's report, however, seems to be well worth preserving in printed form, even if his recommendations follow the usual route to the most convenient pigeon hole.

In his recent tirade against members of the Christian Science, Unitarian and Universalist churches, the Rev. William A. Sunday evidently overlooks that fundamental principle of Christianity, "Love one another."

Somebody blundered in selecting Hospital Sunday as the day for Newton Churches to attend the Boston Tabernacle.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

At the regular Wednesday morning Assembly, the upper classes were addressed by Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Newton Centre. Dr. Sullivan gave a very inspiring talk on the subject of "Character as a Business Asset," pointing out a few of the greatest problems which confront the men and women of today. He showed in a clear and forceful manner that it is of the utmost importance to be in complete control of one's disposition, that scarcely secondary to this first quality is the art of successfully dealing with other people, and that the habits which are firmly rooted in one's character at the age of forty may have been formed during the years in high school.

Three former Newton students have been honored at Harvard by election to Phi Beta Kappa. They are: Rexford Tucker, Francis Spaulding, and James Townsend.

The English Club will hold its Thanksgiving Meeting in the Assembly Hall at the close of school today.

The Freshman football team is holding regular practice at Claflin Field on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. On the same days the Sophomore candidates are at work on Cabot Park. These two rival elevens are expected to play their annual game between the halves of the Newton-Brookline contest on Thanksgiving morning.

The girls' field hockey game which was scheduled for last Saturday was postponed until Tuesday on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

Monday afternoon the first interclass field hockey games were played. The Senior team defeated the Juniors by a score of 5 to 4, in a very interesting contest. The Juniors outplayed their opponents throughout most of the game, but were beaten in the last three minutes of play. In the second game the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen by a 1 to 0 score.

The Newton High School Girls' Hockey Team won its second victory of the season at Cabot Park Tuesday afternoon, when the Boston School of Physical Culture was defeated by a score of 2 to 0.

The Girls' Alumnae hockey team will play the Newton High Hockey team on Friday, December 1st.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RECEPTION

The Sunday School Parents' and Teachers' Reception on Tuesday evening in the parlors of the Church of the New Jerusalem was a very pleasant social affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Goddard and Mr. Gould received the guests at eight o'clock, and were assisted by Mr. Richard B. Carter, superintendent of the Sunday School, and Mrs. Carter.

After the reception Mr. Carter introduced Mr. Charles S. Thomas, head of the English Department of the Newton High School. Mr. Thomas spoke on the cultural side of the importance of religious education, and his address was a plea for more spirituality in the day school teacher.

Mr. Gould spoke on the importance of Religious Education in the young and the necessity of parental co-operation in the home.

The church parlors were very attractively decorated with small pink, white and yellow chrysanthemums, under the direction of Mrs. Carl T. Whittemore, of Newton.

An interesting feature was an exhibition of the work of the Sunday School pupils, books, maps, materials, etc.

It was the seventh annual reception and was largely attended.

ANNUAL RECEPTION

One of the most delightful social events of the week was the Annual Reception given to Rev. Dr. Laurens MacLure, S. T. D., rector of Grace Church, and Mrs. MacLure, on Wednesday.

The parish house was transformed into a floral bower for the occasion with quantities of beautiful various colored chrysanthemums banked on the mantles and arranged in pots and vases.

Dr. and Mrs. MacLure received from 8 until 10 and were assisted by Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett, president of the Guild.

Handley's Orchestra was in attendance with a splendid program of music, and played during the reception and for the informal dance for the young people which followed.

Refreshments were served under the direction of a committee of ladies of the Guild. Mrs. Aubin poured coffee and assisted in serving were Mrs. Curtis Nye Smith, Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown, Mrs. Frank Huntress, Mrs. William Emery, Mrs. Henry Tolman, Mrs. Samuel Bridges and Mrs. Sydney Harwood.

Serving on the Hospitality Committee, Mrs. C. M. Wesson, Mrs. Walter Forbush, Mrs. Charles Ford, Miss Ethel Todd, assisted by Mr. Frank Perkins, Mr. Walter Sharp, and Mr. Henry Neally, members of the Men's Club.

There was an attendance of 200 and the affair was very enjoyable.

NO SUNDAY MORNING SERVICE

A number of churches in this city will show their interest in the services now being held at the Boston Tabernacle by omitting their usual morning service next Sunday, which has been designated as Newton Sunday at the tabernacle. Among the churches at which the morning service will be omitted are the Eliot, Immanuel Baptist and Methodist churches at Newton, the North Church at Nonantum, the Methodist Church at Newtonville, the Lincoln Park Baptist Church at West Newton, the Congregational Church at Auburndale, the Perrin Memorial Methodist Church at Lower Falls, the Cline Memorial Church at Newton Highlands and the Congregational, Baptist and Methodist churches at Newton Centre. Special street cars have been arranged by the Middlesex and Boston and the Boston Elevated Railway companies to accommodate persons who wish to attend the morning services at the Boston Tabernacle.

THE HOME CIRCLE

The Newton Woman's Home Circle held a very successful sale today in Society Hall.

The tables were attractively arranged and were in charge of the following ladies:—Apron Table, Mrs. H. W. Crafts of West Newton; Cake Table, Mrs. George Keyes of Auburndale; Cafeteria Lunch, Mrs. F. V. Jones of Auburndale; Candy Table, Mrs. B. E. D. Childs; Crab Bag, Ice Cream Table, Mrs. Batstone of West Newton.

The sale as usual was well patronized as the Home Circle has gained a reputation for serving good foods in an attractive way.

DOES FIRE PREVENTION PREVENT?

The recent widespread celebration of Fire Prevention Day (October 9th) throughout the United States, gives point to the query as to whether fire prevention is really making good in actual results.

Here is a part of the answer. Boston's Metropolitan District (including the City of Boston and 25 surrounding towns) has made a remarkable showing, since appointing its Fire Prevention Commissioner in 1914. Comparative figures for the single month of June, are as follows: In 1914, 1,337 alarms; in 1915, 935 alarms; in 1916, 605 alarms,—or a decrease in two years of 64 per cent.

A special invitation is extended to all to contribute, and to come and buy. The members of the committee are Mrs. Nudd, Mrs. Corey, Mrs. Dolliver, Miss Hunt and Miss Knowlton.

—The Boston Sunday Campaign has been launched in triumph. The large congregation numbering about 18,000 people were so well handled by Mr. Nathan W. Lonnert and his helpers that he was most highly complimented by the Sunday party. A great change has passed over the feelings of many people. Some who were antagonistic and very critical have become believers in Mr. Sunday's sincerity and are willing to hear him before passing judgment.

MR. PARK DEAD

Mr. J. Herbert Park, a native and long resident of this city, died early yesterday morning at the Boston City Hospital after a weeks illness with diabetes. Mr. Park was fifty years of age and was engaged in the roofing business. In his younger days he was prominent in musical circles having a fine tenor voice.

He is survived by one sister, Miss Ella L. Park of Boston.

Funeral services will be held at the Channing Church tomorrow, Saturday, at three o'clock.

READINGS FROM PICKWICK

By invitation of Mrs. Harry N. Miliken the graduating classes, the girls of the Vocational school and the teachers of the Technical High school building, as well as a large number of Mrs. Miliken's personal friends, enjoyed the reading of "Pickwick" by Mr. Frank Speaight of London in the assembly hall of the school on Wednesday afternoon. The story centering about the Bardell-Pickwick trial was given in five chapters. Mr. Speaight's rendering of the line enhanced by his facial expressions and mimicry kept his audience in laughter during the whole performance.

Among those who will entertain at family dinner-parties on Thanksgiving Day at Brae Burn are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stuart Chase of Brookline, Dr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Briggs of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Foote of Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Duncan of Newtonville, Mrs. Fisher of Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Eddy of West Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Crooker of Highland street, West Newton, entertained about eighty guests of social prominence at a delightful dinner dance on Wednesday evening at the Club. The Garden Tea Room was resplendent with floral decorations under the direction of Riggs the florist; Yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums were arranged artistically in combination with evergreens, and the yellow shaded electric lights shed a glow over the dancing scene which was most effective. A seven piece orchestra furnished music during the dinner and for the dancing which followed.

Mrs. Charles S. Cook Jr. of Valentine street and Mrs. Leon B. Rogers of Lenox street will give a dance on Wednesday evening, December 6th, at the Club.

Mrs. J. Howard Duer and Mr. Arthur M. Hazard of Brookline will give a dance on Friday evening, December 15 at nine o'clock in the Garden Tea Room.

After Death What?

DOES death end all, or is it but the beginning of a fuller existence?

Where is Heaven and what is it like? Does Hell exist here, or is it a horror of the hereafter?

How do you answer questions like these that crowd into your thoughts? How would you like to know on what authority some of the leading thinkers base their beliefs?

Write for a sample copy of this attractively bound book, "The Spiritual World," which we will send gratis upon receipt of 3 two-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing, etc. You will find it abundantly worth reading.

—The Lauriat Company have been making unusual preparations this year to supply the wants of holiday book buyers, and in order that as many as possible may be taken care of in November, are making some very tempting offers of books that may not be available next month—the quantities being limited. Three specimens of these special bargain offerings are quoted in their announcement, in another column, today. But a visit to the store will be necessary to get an idea of the array of similar inducements to make your selections before, rather than after, Thanksgiving.

THE BEST WAY TO WRECK THE FUTURE

It has been said that revolution, anarchy, the hyphens within our gates, pacifism, preparedness, birth control or the lack of it, race prejudice, class distinction, economic injustice, alcoholism, the tendency to church and state union, or whatnot may upset our whole standard of morality and our democratic form of government. Nothing could be more false.

The best and surest way to wreck the future is by blowing out our boys' brains. Blowing out our boys' brains has been the greatest cause of crime, poverty, and immorality in the past and it is today our greatest menace to the future.

The brains of our boys are now being fortified or blown to atoms and we either don't know it or don't care. It is being accomplished not by cannon, not by guns, shrapnel or lead, but by a far greater and more invisible power—books.

Books are stealing into the boys' forts every instant as friend and foe. Both are alike welcomed. The cheap novel, at a nickel or a dollar, is your son's greatest enemy and is banging unceasingly and with almost no opposition at the open door.

Social position and climbing offer no redress for a son's mental, physical, or moral destitution in the near future of tomorrow. There must be an outguard to his brain.

Scoutmasters, teachers, ministers, and librarians are willing and eager to act but are often lost until the call is sounded. It is the parents' first duty to the future of the child and the nation to bugle the "Call to arms" and demand of these people the titles of books which build and do not destroy.

Christmas buying of books should be therefore selective and not collective, for it places a great responsibility and privilege upon the buyer.

Scoutmaster,

Troop 7, Newton.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

This year's presidential campaign has "scrapped" several of the stock objections to equal suffrage. The women's large registration has shattered the theory that only a handful of women want to vote, and the fact that women are so widely divided in their preference for candidates ought to silence forever the foolish question, "What would happen if all the men voted one way and all the women the other?" As an argument against equal suffrage, that question was always as absurd as if someone had opposed the building of a transcontinental railroad by asking, "What would happen if everybody in New York should want to take the twelve o'clock train for San Francisco on the same day?" Of course, no railroad could stand such a strain; but the thing simply does not happen.

Nothing shows the rapid advance of public sentiment on the woman question more markedly than the way in which the people and the press have taken the news of Miss Rankin's election to Congress. Only a few years ago, one of the standing objections to equal suffrage was the awful possibility that some day some woman might be elected to Congress. The idea was a horror, a nightmare. Now that a woman has actually been elected, it hardly causes a ripple—except a strong ripple of joy among the suffragists.

Professor Andrew H. Wood of the Denver Law School, who says he was formerly an anti-suffragist, writes to Myron E. Douglas of Woodbury, N. J.: "The effect of the women's vote upon our legislation is very great, tending to make our laws more humane and to adapt them to what the health, education and moral welfare of the people require. The women have instigated or made possible such legislation as our mothers' compensation law, our strict child labor laws, our eight-hour law for women, our drastic non-support law, our white slave law, and our law taking the schools out of politics. They have also been responsible for our extensive establishment of children's hospitals and homes, maternity homes, schools for the blind, and for mental defectives, juvenile courts, bureau of child and animal protection, free employment agencies, travelling libraries, and ex-convict labor associations.

"The women do want the ballot, and they do vote. Colorado casts about twice as many votes in proportion to her population as any male suffrage State."

Former Chief Justice Isaac N. Sullivan of Idaho writes: "Woman suffrage in Idaho has proven beneficial to the best interests of the State. A man may doubt that but the results would be just as beneficial in the more thickly populated States of the Union. I believe that the most important factors in the State are the wives and mothers who make of their sons and daughters good citizens to govern and protect the State; and woman's suffrage is one of the greatest means to effect that end."

After studying the election returns, the Socialist papers announce that the main Socialist strongholds in this country are New York City and Milwaukee. If they were Chicago and Denver, opponents of equal rights would say it was due to woman suffrage.

The registration of women in Chicago has been high in the districts of the well-infirmed, and especially low in the "tenderloin," says the New York Evening Post.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was enthusiastic over the Women's Hughes Campaign train.

"You women talk so quietly," he told them when the special arrived in Danville.

"You don't swear and you don't shake your fists. You don't orate but you make the point you are after. You don't campaign like men, that's sure; but you campaign just as effectively."

In all the suffrage States, women may serve on Health Boards, and they have done particularly good service on such boards. A bill to let women serve on Health Boards in Massachusetts was voted down.

"HIP, HIP, HOORAY"

Time is growing short for those who have not yet visited Boston to witness the New York Hippodrome show at the Boston Opera House, Monday, Nov. 27th, will mark the beginning of the last two weeks of the engagement of "Hip, Hip, Hooray." John Philip Sousa and his internationally famous Band are in themselves an attraction sufficient to crowd any theatre. And play is just the feature of the New York Hippodrome show.

The ballet on real ice, during which hundreds of fair skaters glide around on the frozen lake especially installed in the stage of the Opera House for the presentation of this feature, is the greatest novelty in addition to being the most beautiful spectacle that has ever been shown on an American stage. No theatrical offering to compare with "Hip, Hip, Hooray" has ever before been sent on tour, and not until another New York Hippodrome show leaves New York will there be another one.

WILBUR THEATRE—"The Cinderella Man," a romantic comedy in four acts by Edward Childs Carpenter. This charming play began the second week of its Boston engagement last Monday at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, with a crowded attendance. The piece will awaken enthusiastic response from jaded theatregoers whose eyes demand new sensations, and for those who do not turn a deaf ear to romance and genuine sentiment Mr. Carpenter has provided light and refreshing entertainment. Although both whimsical and wholesome the play is far from saccharine. The two leading characters, Marjorie Caner and Anthony Quintard are capably played by Miss Foster and Mr. Hull. The third week begins next Monday, Nov. 27, and there will be an extra matinee Thanksgiving day.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—When Boston refuses to let a musical show depart after it has broken all attendance records and all records for long runs, as is the case with "Very Good Eddie," it was only a matter of time before it would appear in Boston for eight weeks, and its engagement was extended again and again until it totaled a run of fourteen weeks at the Wilbur Theatre. The engagement at that playhouse could not be further extended, owing to existing contracts, and "Very Good Eddie" was moved over to the Plymouth Theatre, where it is now in its third week, at that house and its 16th week in Boston, giving the same great performance, with the same superb cast and the same swaggar fashion chorus. Matinees at the Plymouth Theatre are given on Thursday and Saturday. The 19th week of the Boston run begins next Monday, November 27th.

LECTURE COURSE AT NEWTON Y. M. C. A.

There will be a course of four lectures given at the Y. M. C. A. beginning Monday evening, Nov. 27th, at 7 o'clock.

Monday evening, Nov. 27th, the lecture will be on Salesmanship; Dec. 4th, Advertising; Dec. 11th, Window Dressing; and the following Monday, the 18th, Store Management will be the topic.

The lectures are to be given by men secured thru the Pilgrim Publicity Association of Boston. There will be no fee outside of a small charge for the supper which is served at 6.30 prior to the lecture.

Here is a splendid opportunity for the business people of Newton to get some good business pointers that should prove to be helpful in any line of work.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The second and last week of Lew Field's engagement in "Step This Way" will end with two performances at the Majestic Theatre in Boston, on Saturday night, December 2nd, after which the star and his big musical comedy organization will move on to other cities which await his coming. Lew Field's success in the role of "Henry Schiff" has been most flattering, and "Step This Way" has proved to be a splendid vehicle for the star. Naturally the piece is designed for laughing purposes only, and one succession of ludicrous situations follow another in rapid order. Brilliant costumes, and gorgeous scenery will be in evidence, for Lew Field believes in lavish stage settings, and gives his audiences their money's worth in every instance. There will be an extra special matinee on Thanksgiving Day.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

James F. Long of Belmont was badly cut about the face early Sunday morning at the corner of Washington and Beacon streets, Lower Falls, when the automobile which he was driving came into collision with a telephone pole. Long was thrown several feet by the compact and the glass of the windshield inflicted several long lacerations about his face. At his own request he was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in the hospital ambulance.

BEAUTIFUL NEWTON

Beautiful Newton, a subscription book on which the GRAPHIC has been at work for several years has just come from the bindery and is now being distributed to the persons who have subscribed for it.

The volume contains 316 pages and is beautifully printed and illustrated. There are articles on the history of the city, the city government, the schools, the library, the hospital, a brief history of every church, the Grand Army, the secret societies, the clubs, while more than half the book is devoted to sketches, portraits and residences of the notable men of the city.

The book is attractively bound in green and gold.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

In order to facilitate the work of the library, the numbers for adult and juvenile fiction will hereafter be discarded. This will mean that borrowers will not need to consult a catalogue, except to determine possibly whether or not the library owns the book. It may be taken for granted that the library has all standard works of fiction and it has as well all the best titles of new fiction—and as many copies of these are purchased as the appropriation will allow.

The presence of a card in the catalogue, representing any work of fiction, shows that the library owns the volume, and that same, if in, will be found in alphabetical order by author and title, on the fiction shelves just as though the book had a number.

New fiction may not be reserved. The following is a list of some of the titles added to the library during the fall:

Aldrich, Mildred. Told in a French garden, August, 1914.

Andreev, L. N. The crushed flower, and other stories.

Beach, Rex. Rainbow's end.

Bower, B. M., pseud. The heritage of the Sioux.

Buchan, John. The power-house.

Caine, William. The irresistible intruder.

The revolt at Roskelly's.

Child, Richard W. Bodbank.

Clifford, Sir Hugh. The further side of silence.

Cullum, Ridgwell. The men who wrought.

Curwood, James O. The grizzly king.

Dickson, Harris. The house of luck.

Dodge, Henry Irving. Skinner's dress suit.

Donnell, Annie Hamilton. Miss Theodora's heartstrings.

Hall, Eliza Calvert. Clover and blue grass.

Harber, William N. Second choice.

Harraden, Beatrice. The guiding thread.

Hill, Grace Livingston. A voice in the wilderness.

Hodges, Arthur. Pincus Hood.

Kingsley, Charles. The tutor's story.

Lagerlof, Selma. The emperor of Portugallia.

Lea, Fannie Heaslip. Chloe Malone.

Lincoln, Joseph Crosby. Mary-Casta.

Locke, William. The wonderful way.

Lynde, Francis. After the manner of men.

Marshall, Archibald. Watermaids.

Martin, George (Madden). Emmy Lou's road to grace.

Mearns, Hughes. Richard Richard.

Minter, Edith. Our Natupski neighbors.

Oppenheim, Edward Phillips. The kingdom of the blind.

Phillipotts, Eden. The green alleys.

Rowland, Henry C. Filling his own shoes.

Wharton, Edith. Xingu, and other stories.

White, Edward Lucas. El supremo.

White, Stewart Edward. The leopard woman.

Ward, Mary Augusta. Lady Connie.

Wiggin, Kate Douglas. The romance of a Christmas card.

MR. SAYFORD TO SPEAK

At the Eliot Chapel last Monday evening, Mr. S. M. Sayford gave the first of a series of four lectures on "Personal Work." These are union meetings for members of the Eliot, Immanuel and Methodist Churches. They commence at 8 o'clock and will be held the next three Mondays.

The following letter received by Mr. C. D. Kepner relative to Mr. Sayford is one of great interest:

Newton, Mass., Nov. 22nd, 1916.

Mr. Charles B. Kepner,

Chairman Personal Workers' Committee.

Newton, Mass.

My dear Mr. Kepner:—

I am sure that many who are more recent arrivals in Newton would be interested to know more about Mr. S. M. Sayford, who is leading the meetings in Eliot Chapel Monday evenings.

Perhaps I can say better than some of the others who have known him longer as a friend, that he was the greatest individual force used of God in the spiritual life of the college men of America for more than ten years.

That which Mr. John R. Mott, and Mr. Raymond Robbins are to the college world now, Mr. Sayford was to thousands of college men of an earlier decade who now in the prime of life are Christian leaders.

Few men in America can speak as he can from ripe experience of successful personal work.

I am sure that if our community realized the unusual man all from high school ages up would come to hear him these next three Monday nights in Eliot Chapel.

Sincerely yours,

R. O. WALTER,
Supt. of Eliot Sunday School.

AN OLD TIME THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Newton Methodist Thanksgiving service will be held in the auditorium of the church on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The service will be in the nature of a home gathering, and for the benefit of the North Street Social Service House of Boston. Fruits, vegetables and other foods will be brought to the service and banked in front of the altar. Songs will be sung by a Children's Chorus. There will be spirited congregational singing of the old songs of thanksgiving, and a brief sermon by the Minister, Mr. Gray. The service will be but an hour in length. Everybody will be welcome.

POLICE NOTES

Following the collision of an automobile owned and operated by Stephen P. Whelan of 289 Woodward street, Eliot, Tuesday evening with another machine on Commonwealth avenue, near Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, Patrolman Richard Clancy sent the operator and his two companions to headquarters in the patrol, where Peter J. Dolan of Waban was booked on a charge of drunkenness. Whelan was allowed to go home, but when he appeared in court the next morning a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor was lodged against him and a fine of $40 was imposed by Judge Kennedy. Dolan's case was filed.

1. Shall a municipal bath house be maintained at Crystal Lake. 2. Shall a high school be established on the South side of Newton. All welcome.

—Mrs. Chester Nichols opened her residence on Norman road last week on Wednesday for a social meeting to work for the Allies. The ladies spent the afternoon snipping pieces of cotton to fill comfort pillows. At the close of the afternoon an elaborate collation was served by the hostess. The affair was delightfully social and there were about thirty ladies present.

—On Saturday evening, November eighteenth, Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands was the scene of one of the most enjoyable social events of the early winter season when was held the first of a series of assemblies under the auspices of Miss Marion Dorr.

The first of the evening was spent in an informal reception when Mrs. Lester M. Dorr, Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, Mrs. Fred R. Hayward, Mrs. Chester W. Nichols, and Mrs. Edward H. Ruby received, while Mr. Dow, Mr. Richardson, Mr. Hayward, Mr. Nichols, Mr. Ruby and Mr. Albert Mellen acted as ushers. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed in dancing. The second of these assemblies will take place on Saturday evening, December sixteenth.

Newton society will be well represented at the brilliant affair to be given at the Copley-Plaza Saturday evening, December the ninth, by Mrs. Helen W. Bowers of Brookline. There will be dancing in the large ballroom from eight until twelve o'clock.

MARCH-CARTER

Miss Hannah Elise Carter, daughter of Frank C. Carter and niece of Congressman William H. Carter, of Needham, was married Wednesday evening at 7.30 to Harold Hudson March, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. March of Grasmere street, Newton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. Carwin Watkin, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Needham and took place at the home of the bride's uncle, Horace A. Carter at Needham Heights.

The bride's dress was of white satin duchesse, en train, trimmed with duchesse lace. She wore a veil, caught up with orange blossoms, which was used by her aunt, Mrs. Horace A. Carter, at her wedding 25 years ago. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The ceremony took place in a bower of white roses, chrysanthemums and southern smilax.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jennie D. Carter, another sister of the bride, and the Misses Leila F. Carter, Velma W. Carter and Agnes Jones, her cousins. They wore buttercup-colored silk with net tulle and ribbon. Each carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Roland C. March, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Roscoe A. Carter, H. Ronald Carter, Gordon B. March and Carl R. Pearsons.

Following the ceremony, more than 250 guests, coming from New York, Boston, Plymouth, Brookline and the Newtons, attended a reception, during which an orchestra played.

Mr. and Mrs. March will reside at 32 Sunnyside road, Needham Heights. They will be at home after Jan. 1.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald was hostess for the fortnightly meeting of the Progress Club held on Friday, Nov. 17. A business meeting preceded the afternoon's program. "Progressive Japan" was the title of a carefully prepared paper by Mrs. J. W.
Messenger, who succeeded in inter-weaving history and present-day conditions very entertainingly. "Bridges of Might and Beauty" was the subject of Mrs. Sidney Sargent's paper, which was finely illustrated by many photographs and picture postals. After a social hour the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Thomas Hayden on Friday, Dec. 1st.The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club was entertained by Mrs. F. H.
Stratton of Gloucester terrace on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 18th. The quiz, a review of Romeo and Juliet, dealt with contrasts. This romantic tragedy of Shakespeare was contrasted with the work of his contemporaries, Beaumont and Fletcher, and then with some of the writer's later tragedies. Music from the opera of Romeo and Juliet gave a pleasing variety to the day's program.On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. meeting at the new home of Mrs. Philip S. Sweetser in Waban continued the study of Democracy under the direction of Mrs.
W. Scott Richards, taking up the "Democracy of the New World."Mrs. Wells Tyler of Maple terrace was hostess for the meeting of the Christian Era Study Club on Monday afternoon. Mrs. N. L. Grant presented an illuminating paper on "The Canon of the Scriptures dealing particularly with the Old Testament and showing how the different books have been brought together into their present form. The paper on "The English Cathedral" by Mrs. Richard O. Walter was of unusual interest in that Mrs. Walter herself of English birth, was christened and married in Peterboro Cathedral. A third paper on "Pilgrim Life" by Mrs. Jones closed a full and inspiring afternoon.On Monday, November 20th, the Waban Woman's Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. William H.
Oakes. After the routine business,
Mrs. Ann Matthews reported the State Federation meeting at Franklin. Mrs. Addie E. Miller that of the Social Service committee of the Newton Federation and Mrs. Florence
Guppy of the Education committee.
The president then introduced Mr.
William Claxton Bray, president of the Board of Trustees of The Newton Hospital, who explained the reason for and the need of Hospital Sunday in Newton, and gave a brief resume of the history of the hospital during its thirty-six years' existence.The speaker of the afternoon was the Rev. Samuel M. Crothers, D.D., who held the interested attention of the club through his reading of "Coward's Castles," explaining that the term, "Coward's Castles," has been applied to the ministry and to those who used the pulpit and the press, as a vantage point, from which to express themselves, in a way that they would not do under other circumstances. He spoke of the satisfaction to be gained from reading the seventeenth century literature, and that our reading should be confined to books which show us pictures of life we could not possibly get, except through the expressions of minds greater than our own.After the meeting was adjourned, tea was served. Mrs. Louise Roscoe and Mrs. Leah Robinson, poured, and Woman's Club was held on November 21st at the Methodist Parish House. At the close of the afternoon's business Miss Marion Knowlton, chairman of the Home Economics committee, took charge of the meeting. Mr. W. J. Spaulding sang with much artistic feeling a group of songs, "Love's Philosophy," "Moon and Light," and "The Yeoman's Wedding Song," with Mrs. Spaulding at the piano.Mrs. Mary Schenke Woolman, then spoke on "The Ethics of Shopping."

The speaker dwelt upon the enormous business carried on by the department stores of the country, now running far up into billions of dollars annually, $5 per cent of the purchases being made by women. Everything has been done to make shopping convenient and agreeable, but the abuse by thoughtless customers of the approval system has brought about a restless condition, and threatens an economic crisis. Goods are often returned to the stores too late for sale, or in such a condition that they can only be destroyed. In New York a movement has been started to stop all charge accounts. The Boston Chamber of Commerce after seriously considering the situation, urgently requests the shoppers of New England to use the privilege of returning goods only when necessary and fair. Certain goods are listed as nonreturnable and must be sold with that understanding. Mrs. Woolman feels that the general economic situation is bound shortly to become more stringent, and if consumers wish to keep down the price of commodities, they must co-operate with the merchants in a fair deal all around.Miss Heloise E. Hersey, who was announced to speak before the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon, was unexpectedly called away from the city so her place was filled by a young Chinese student from Harvard, Woon Young Chun, who spoke on, "New Forces in Old China." Mr. Woon, who is a high caste Chinese, was born in Shanghai.
Several of his brothers have held conspicuous positions in the civil, military and educational service of their country. He himself is a graduate of the Syracuse University in 1915, has studied two years at the New China College and is now doing post graduate work at Harvard.He is preparing a text book on Foreign for the use of Chinese schools.
In his exceedingly interesting talk he told of the home life, of the manners and customs of his country, of the educational system, of the position of Chinese women and many other points. At the close of the lecture the annual exhibit of the Needlework Guild was shown and a food sale held for the benefit of the Housing Fund.
Tea was served by the Charitable committee.The War Relief Work under the auspices of the Guild has been resumed and will be continued every Friday from 9:30 in the morning to 3:30 in the afternoon at the New Church parlors. All workers, whether or not Guild members, will be welcomed.The sale and supper of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Tuesday afternoon and evening was more than usually successful, every article offered being disposed of to willing purchasers. One hundred persons sat down to the delicious supper at seven o'clock, served under the direction of Mrs. Percival Waters. The Club table, a special feature, was in charge of the president, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle. The other tables were presided over as follows: Fancy, Mrs. Robert Gorton; candy, Mrs. Harry S. Wells; food,
Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe; china, Mrs.
Fred Jones.The second paper in the series on "Colonization" was given before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning by Mrs. John M. Woodbridge, her topic being "England and France in the New World." Mrs.
Woodbridge told in a most interesting way the story of the American colonies planted by these two powerful nations. The colonies were of four different types: Those established for agricultural pursuits; those for commerce and trade; those acquired by military force and those possible for penal or naval stations. The breaking of Spain's naval power by the destruction of the Spanish Armada marked the beginning of English and French colonization. After touching rapidly upon the early voyages and experimental settlements at various points along the coast, the writer described in detail the permanent settlements at Jamestown, Plymouth,the Massachusetts Bay Colony, while those of Pennsylvania and Maryland were also touched upon. The New England Consecration or Confederation comprising representatives from Rymouth, Massachusetts Bay, Connecticut and New Haven was mentioned as the forerunner of the Congress of the United States, of the Pan-American Congress and the possible
World Congress of the future. French Colonization, she said, is a story of adventure and a record of misguided efforts. After dealing briefly with French settlements on the mainland those of the islands of the West Indies were also mentioned. A government of the people, the separation of church and state, compulsory education and the consciousness of personal worth were cited as the marked characteristics of these American colonies.The presidents of the five small study clubs of Newton Highlands met with Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, president of the Newton Federation, yesterday and discussed the forming of a new large club in Newton Highlands.
Plans were drawn up and it was decided to call a meeting for taking the preliminary steps sometime during the first week of December. An announcement with full particulars will be given in this column next week.Mrs. Loren D. Towle opened her spacious home on Franklin street on Thursday afternoon for the annual tea of the Social Science Club. Receiving with the hostess were Mrs.
Sterling Elliott, the president, and Mrs. Alfred W. Faller, chairman of the board of directors of the club.
There was a large attendance of club members and a number of guests from the other Newton clubs. Numerous flowers gave cheer on the stormy afternoon. The dining room was in charge of the social committee,
Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt, chairman.
Those who poured were: Mrs. Louis
S. Drake, Mrs. Harrie R. Chamberlain,
Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett, Mrs. John
H. Chase, Mrs. Cornelius H. Patton,
Mrs. H. H. Powers, Mrs. Vernon D.
Sweet and Mrs. Henry I. Harriman.The Newtonville Woman's Guild has the distinction of being the first organization in Newton to bring a president of the United States to the city.
The Hon. William Howard Taft arrived in Newtonville in time to take luncheon at the Fessenden School, where he afterwards addressed the boys. Later in the day in spite of the rain he enjoyed a game of golf at the Barn Burn Club in company with Hon.
Samuel L. Powers and Mr. E. K. Hall.
As the guest of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Tall, he dined at the club together with a few personal friends and later addressed an audience made up of representative people of this city and the surrounding towns, which filled the Central Congregational Church. In introducing the distinguished guest Mr. Powers, who presided over the occasion, touched upon the beauties and advantages of this city as a place of residence and pointed out to him the mayor, if he would come here to live.Mr. Taft before beginning the formal part of his address acknowledged the honor, intimating that he already knew something of the intricacies of the city and characterized it as "the most multifarious town" he had ever known. The subject of the address was "Our World Relations," in which he outlined briefly the changes which have taken place in this country in the 100 years since Washington's day and the change it ought to effect in our future policy. The speaker was in his happiest mood and held his audience in his characteristic way throughout the setting forth of what might otherwise have been a recital of dry facts.
In alluding to the criticism which Secretary Seward received on account of the purchase of Alaska, he said, Mr. Seward has been vindicated, and then added facetiously, "I am interested in the vindication of dead statesmen." Our present policy in the Philippines he refrained from commenting upon, saying, "I couldn't do it in a church. Mexico was called an international nuisance" and "a liability in our foreign relations." The address was concluded with a recital of the platform of the League to Enforce Peace and an appeal to his audience to help on its establishment by arousing public opinion in its favor.

THE WOODLAND PARK

The Thursday evening Dinner Dance at the Woodland Park was as usual a very festive affair and was marked by a concert during the dinner and for the dancing which followed.The dances are proving a great attraction and all join in saying the orchestra is the best they have heard at any of the popular places.
Mrs. Charles C. Bragdon, wife of Professor Bragdon, a former principal of Lasell Seminary, and their daughter, Mrs. Barlow, of Pasadena, California, are guests at the hotel.Mr. Donald Ingraham has returned from his summer home at Rindge, N.
H., and has joined his brother, Mr.
Paul Ingraham at the Woodland Park.
Mrs. G. S. Hall, wife of Professor Hall of Clark University is registered at the Woodland Park for the winter season.

PROBATE COURT.

To all persons who are interested in the real estate hereinafter mentioned:

WHEREAS Loren D. Towle of Newton in the County of Middlesex, having an interest in certain real estate situated in Newton in the County of Middlesex, and described in said petition, has presented to said Court his petition setting forth that said real estate is subject to a vested remainder of reversion created under the will of Mary Shannon late of Newton in the County of Middlesex, deceased, and praying for the appointment of the International Trust Company of Boston in the County of Suffolk, or some other suitable person, as trustee to sell and convey at private sale or public auction said real estate, for reasons therein set forth.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fifth day of December A. D. 1916, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic a newspaper published in Newton the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixteen.

—The Ladies Aid Society of the Newton Methodist Church is completing arrangements for its annual Christmas Sale which will be held on Wednesday, December 6th, in the church parlors. An all day sewing meeting in the interest of the fair was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Elliston H. Bell, on Nonantum street.

—Mr. Sayford gave the first in a series of lectures Monday evening at Eliot Church. The new hymns were used in a prayer service at the opening, which will precede the address at 7.30 as a continuation of the neighborhood meetings of recent weeks. The second lecture will be given next Monday evening. All are cordially invited.

—Eliot Church will be closed for the morning service next Sunday in order that all who wish may attend the service at the Sunday Tabernacle in Boston. The co-operating churches in the Newton District have this day reserved for them. Tickets to one half the total membership of the church are ready for distribution any time this week.

—The Channing Unity Club held a large and enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mrs. John T. Alden on Fairmont avenue on Tuesday afternoon. Sewing was done for the Children's Mission and Miss Mildred Clark told of her experiences while working in one of Boston's large department stores. A definite line of work for the season is being planned and every thing promises a successful year.

—At a slimly attended meeting of the Newton Improvement Association last evening in the lecture room of the Newton Free Library, President Jameson was in the chair and there was an interesting discussion of the best way to relieve the dangerous situation at the corner of Centre Place and the driveway to the railroad station. The matter was placed in the hands of Chief of Police Mitchell who will locate traffic regulation posts at the intersection of the streets in that vicinity.

—A fair and entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent Society will be held at the North Congregational Church, Chapel street, on Wednesday afternoon, December 6th, from 2.30 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 until 10 o'clock in the evening. —Mr. Winthrop Bancroft and family are occupying their new house on the corner of Chestnut and Plainfield streets.

—Mr. L. A. Linscott and family have moved here from Brighton and are occupying their recently completed house on Neholden road.

—Next Sunday morning at the Union Church there will be a service of Thanksgiving, with sermon by the minister on National Prosperity. The annual Hospital Sunday offering will be made.

—As a result of the last meeting of Waban ladies in the Union Church Vestry to sew for the Allies' Relief Work, the following articles were sent:—1010 Surgical Sponges, 100 Knitted Sponges, 40 Pillows and 25 Bed Pads.

—Mr. Charles H. Porter of this village was before the Massachusetts Public Service Commission Wednesday on the matter of discrimination by the Telephone Company in its rates for measured residence and measured business service.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. J. Augustus Remington celebrated the fourteenth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening at their residence on Otis Park, Newtonville.

They gave a dinner party for their nieces and nephews in honor of the happy event and the occasion was most enjoyable.

The table was beautifully decorated in a scheme of white and yellow and a large vase filled with yellow chrysanthemums formed an attractive centerpiece.

After the dinner the guests grouped around the open fireplace and toasted marshmallows. A program of vocal and instrumental music was given by some of the talented guests present, and the evening passed pleasantly in the enjoyment of games and dancing.

There were twenty guests present from Wakefield, Malden, Brookline, Boston and the Newtons.

ELKS' MEMORIAL SERVICE

Newton Lodge of Elks will hold its annual Memorial Service this year in the Newton Opera House on Sunday afternoon, December 3, and the committee in charge has arranged a program of exceptional merit.

NEWTON SOUTH ALLIES RELIEF ASSOCIATION

The Newton South Allies Relief Association has been in existence about a year; it was organized by Mrs. Guilford, M. Stuart, Mrs. H. J. Ide, Mrs. G. H. Mellen, Mrs. James Liddell, Mrs. G. A. Pierce and Mrs. Henry E. Williams.

Its membership has increased from six to two hundred and ten and every Friday morning even during the hot summer months it has held its meetings in the Trinity Church Parish House, Newton Centre.

When it began its work it had no money at its disposal, but by membership fees, donations, bridge parties, garden parties and teas it has raised and spent about $2300, and has been able to pay for all materials used. All of the surgical dressings have been sent to France thru the American Fund for French Wounded, but the knitted goods and other articles have been sent to special designated places. In November, 1915, to the Derbyshire Yeomanry in the Dardanelles; in December to the Lancashire Territorials in Serbia; in January to Mr. Leonard Hawkesley in Italy; in February to Miss Julia Colby for the Johnson-Reckett Hospital, near Paris; in March, to Pension Guillier Hospital at Limoges; in May to Miss Thompson's Hospital in Paris.

During the summer everything was sent thru the American Fund for French Wounded to France, but the shipment for October went to the British Red Cross Society in London, to be distributed to the British Soldiers on the continent. This consisted of 12 cases of goods containing 184 Christmas bags, 98 comfort pillows, 35 pairs of socks, 18 pairs of Hospital socks and 17 sweaters.

During the year there has been sent to the Allies, 144,712 surgical dressings, 2,093 knitted articles, 36,400 yards of bandages, 1,288 pillows, and more than 3,500 miscellaneous articles such as sheets, towels, pillow slips, handkerchiefs, book, clothing, personal property, bags, adhesive plaster, hot-water bottles, etc.

Contributions have been made thru the Association to the Artificial Leg Fund, the Orphan des Armes, Edith Cavell Memorial and the Parafine Fund. In June when President Wilson called out the troops from the different states and it seemed as if war was inevitable in our own country, the Association voted to work for the relief of the soldiers of the United States whenever it became necessary. The women have accomplished so much in the past year, that they feel assured that the people will wish them to continue in this relief work. Contributions either great or small may be sent to the Treasurer and will be thankfully received.

The officers of the Association are: President, Mrs. G. M. Stuart, 133 Lake avenue, Newton Centre; 1st vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Smith, 91 Summer street, Newton Centre; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Seward W. Jones, 490 Columbus street, Newton Highlands; Secretary, Mrs. Henry E. Williams, 7 Norman road, Newton Highlands; treasurer, Mrs. H. J. Ide, 98 Summer street, Newton Centre.

Grace Bail Williams, Secretary.

PROMINENT AT HARVARD

"The Harvard Crimson" recently published the names of the men at present in the University who have been awarded an "H" in any of the five major sports, and also the names of the schools from which they come. The fifty-four men who are entitled to wear the "H" represent twenty-six preparatory schools. Exeter and Newton lead with seven "H's" each. Newton is represented in four of the five major sports, while no other school is represented in more than three; most of them in only two.

More interesting still are the results of the Phi Beta Kappa election recently held at Harvard. Of the thirty-two men elected to this chapter, three were graduates of the Newton High School, having gone directly from this school to college; Francis T. Spaulding, James H. Townsend, and Rexford S. Tucker. It will be remembered in this connection that Harry Nash, captain of last year's baseball team was also a Phi Beta Kappa man. From these announcements it would appear that the boys from Newton High School are well prepared, both mentally and physically, to enter upon the life at Harvard.

WATCHMAN DEAD

Michael Hand, for the past five years night watchman at City Hall, and employed by the city for 25 years, died last Friday morning in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, of a complication of diseases.

The funeral was held Monday morning at his home on Edinboro street, Newtonville, followed by a requiem high mass at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. A large delegation of employees of the city were present, as well as a host of relatives and friends. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. A. S. Malone. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. A widow and six children survive.

of a Congressman in Congress depend on the personality of the man? Answer. Not as the system is today. In the 63d congress there was a man from Michigan who had as much ability and courage as any congressman of any other party. In spite of the fact that he tried for weeks and months this man could not get more than five minutes to discuss the question he wanted to bring before Congress. It was the Mullhall matter. You will all remember what a stir it caused in this country and how quickly Congress handed it over to a white-washing committee who kept it buried as long as they could and then they reported it to the house and it was handed to another committee and so on. There is one man who has the power to report these matters and to move for action and the others have no more right to say anything, any more than any one of you who are not anywhere near Congress.

Question. Do we need more publicity than we have. Don't we get plenty of publicity in the Congressional Record? Answer. No we do not get anything about what Congress is actually doing. The Congressional Record is not a true report of what Congress is doing. The papers do not tell the real story of Congress. There is no real story for anyone to tell as Congress is managed today. What we want to arouse is public opinion to force Congress to bring everything out in print. Question. If the Voters' League want publicity why don't they try to get it through Colliers? Answer. We are after all the publicity we can get. Let me say the Voters' League was started in a small way with the beginning of Wilson's administration. We did it to establish a proper foundation with which to do public work. We finished that period the first of this year, when we started a little paper called, "The Searchlight on Congress." In the last six weeks the league has had more advertising than during all the time since its organization. Just as an illustration, about six weeks ago we had a letter from a man requesting us to send him samples of our work, and in due time he wrote that he was interested in it.

Next Sunday at Bray Hall, Newton Centre; W. E. Burghardt DuBois, Ph. D. Subject, "The World Problem of the Cold War Line."

Prof. DuBois is a former professor of Economics at Atlanta University and will give a most interesting address on the Negro question.
